THE UNION—THE CONSTITUTION—AND THE ENFORCEMENT OF THE LAW.

HARRISBURG, PA.

Tuesday Afternoon, July 9, 1861.

THE BLOOD OF THE CHIVALRY.

The noisy chivalry of the south, who have heretofore monopolized public attention by their eternal boasting of superior courage and powers in war, are beginning to prove by their own conduct, that they are among the most arrant knaves and cowards in Christendom.

But such is generally the ignoble end of the braggar's career. True courage is never loud-mouthed and ostentatious. It is modest, gentle and silent.

A BOLD THREAT.

Mr. William Brent, of Richmond, was re-arrested in Washington, on a charge of being a spy. At his examination on Saturday, a number of letters, which were found upon his person, were produced, tending to implicate him in the rebellion.

MR. CRITTENDEN'S POSITION.

Mr. Crittenden, of Kentucky, writes a letter in defence of John J. Crittenden, declaring that distinguished gentleman, so far from opposing the administration in its suppression of the rebellion, stands ready to vote men and money to any amount that may be necessary to defend the government against all enemies, foreign or domestic.

MR. DAVIS ADDS.

It is not true that Mr. Crittenden intends to propose any ultimatum in Congress to adjust the existing national difficulties. He thinks the war ought never to have been begun, and ought to be brought to a speedy close, upon just and proper terms, which would restore the Union and peace.

THE CAPTURE OF A COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA TROOPS.

The capture of a company of Pennsylvania troops, by the rebels in Virginia, has caused a deep feeling of regret wherever the fact has become known. The affair occurred near Martinsburg, and was the result of a surprise by a party of rebel cavalry, who were mistaken for regulars of the troops captured.

SENATOR WILSON HAS ADDED A SECTION TO HIS BILL FOR THE ORGANIZATION OF THE VOLUNTEER FORCE.

He authorizes the Colonel, Lieutenant Colonel, Major Adjutant and Quarter Master of each regiment to frank letters for the troops under their command. The numbers of the regiment and the company, together with the name of the writer, must be superscribed upon each letter.

JOSEPH D. POTTS HAS BEEN APPOINTED, BY THE GOVERNMENT, TO SUPERINTEND THE TRANSPORTATION AND TELEGRAPHING CONNECTED WITH THE MILITARY MOVEMENTS OF THE STATE.

PENNSYLVANIA.

"Good wine needs no bush," nor does our good old state need any praise for her faithfulness to the principles of her founders, and her loyalty to our national compact, as exhibited in her prompt and liberal contribution of men and means in support of the constitution and the laws.

In the first place—let it be noted now, and remembered for all time to come, that with nothing but the mere skeleton of a military organization, she was the first amongst the states to place her volunteer soldiery at the seat of the general government, at a moment when danger encompassed it, and the personal safety of the President and his cabinet was seriously threatened.

Then, let it not be forgotten, that in the same spirit, her citizens, as with one heart, stirred themselves to the work of rendering her soldiery as effective as possible, by provisions for its armament, equipment and forage; and that, although in the haste of preparation, some things have been done that required to be amended, yet her Executive, the legislature and the people of the state have made it most manifest that they were impelled alone by motives of the highest patriotism and have gone into and through the work with a devotion of purpose, and self-forgetfulness in action, fully up to and worthy of the great occasion.

Independent of the reserve corps of fifteen regiments, a large portion of which are well uniformed and equipped, Pennsylvania has now in the field some twenty-five regiments, comprising a body of men that will compare favorably, in all respects, with soldiers from any other state.

The means for the accomplishment of the complete organization our State forces have now obtained, were forthcoming at the instant they were called for; and although in times like these, there could doubtless have been found much more profitable investments, yet it is a fact that three millions of bonds, bearing six per cent. interest, have been at once subscribed for at par; and notwithstanding the fact that they were authorized to be sold to the highest and best bidder, and of course below par; that offers for more than the whole amount were sent in, without the suggestion of any depreciation from the face of the bonds.

Other states have, in this trying period of our country's history, most nobly done their part; and whilst having to a greater or less extent like obstacles to surmount, they have met with mischances similar to our own, we take pride in acknowledging their deserts, and their hearty co-operation for the maintenance of the long cherished institutions of our country.

HON. JOSEPH CASEY, ONE OF THE JUDGES OF THE UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS, HAVING RECOVERED FROM A SEVERE ILLNESS, WILL LEAVE FOR WASHINGTON TO-MORROW MORNING, FOR THE PURPOSE OF TAKING HIS PLACE ON THE BENCH OF THAT COURT.

Judge Casey has recovered his health sufficient to warrant his departure, and while his recovery will gratify his many friends in this city, his departure from our midst as a citizen and a professional man will create a void which will not be filled very soon. He will take with him the regrets and the respects of every man in the State capital.

COL. PERKINS, OF THE FOURTH ARTILLERY, WHOSE gallant work at Williamsport has been made the theme of a special message to the War Department, is a New Yorker. He graduated at West Point, in the usual manner, and was made a second lieutenant in the Second fourteen years ago. He was promoted a grade in 1854, and to a captaincy since the President's proclamation. The West Point officers are showing pretty plainly that they were not trunants at school.

THE BALTIMORE PATRIOT SAYS THAT HON. HENRY MAY, THE REPRESENTATIVE IN CONGRESS FROM THE fourth district in Maryland, has gone on a visit to Richmond, on invitation of Jeff. Davis, and that he is accompanied by two prominent Pennsylvanians, both friends of the government. The object of his visit is not stated, but is supposed to have some connection with the present condition of affairs.

A PRINTER HUNG.—The James McGaff, of Greencastle, Pennsylvania, reported to have been hung at Harper's Ferry, was James Gaff, a compositor in the Congressional Globe office, and a member of the Columbia Typographical Society. Mr. Gaff was employed in the Globe office the two last sessions of Congress, and had many friends among the printers of Washington. He leaves a wife and one child, who are at present living in Greencastle.

THE NATIONAL LOAN.

Mr. Chase, in his admirable Treasury report, proposes to raise at least one hundred millions of dollars by a great national loan. The New York Evening Post says he is evidently of opinion that more than this can easily be obtained in the manner he has specified; and he has good reason for this belief. He proposes to issue Treasury notes or Exchequer bills for sums of $50, $100, $500, $1,000, and $5,000, to bear interest at the rate of 7-10 per cent. per annum, and to be redeemable at the will of the government after three years. Seven and three-tenths per cent. per annum is just one cent per day on every fifty dollars. Thus the calculation of interest is within the ability of any man who can count on his fingers; and while the holder of a Treasury note can tell in a moment how much his money has earned him, the government saves a considerable sum in clerk hire, by doing away with fractions. When we bear in mind, further, that the security is the best that can be got; and that the interest will be provided for, not by loans, but by revenue, as the Secretary wisely suggests, we shall see that he has reason for the belief that the sum which can be raised in this way may greatly exceed one hundred millions.

The success of the popular loan raised by Napoleon III. during the Crimean war astonished the world. The capitalists offered him more money at rates which he did not choose to submit to. He appealed to the people; and he received more than double the amount he asked for. It has been objected that money is not laid up and hoarded by our people as among the French. The stocking and the chimney corner are not so great an extent places of deposit with us, we grant; but that the habit of saving is more common here than in France is evident from the statistics of savings banks in the northern states. The savings banks of this state alone had on deposit on January 1, 1861, $67,440,397; and the Superintendent of the Banking Department states in his report for the year, that "every thirteenth man, woman and child in this state is a depositor in our savings banks." Moreover, recent investigations show that these deposits have been but very slightly drawn upon during the present suspension of business, and touching their saved capital only in cases of extreme necessity.

There are deposited in banks of savings alone, in New York and New England, over one hundred millions. A portion of this will, doubtless, be withdrawn for investment in the national loan, where a higher rate of interest is offered, with equal security. It is safe to say that Pennsylvania, Ohio and the great West have another one hundred millions thus on deposit, from which drafts will also be made. Then there are the regular untouched deposits of business men and mercantile houses—sums which have been hitherto kept in bank, without interest, in readiness for any emergency, and which make the "deposit" column in the last weekly bank returns of this city alone figure up to more than eighty millions. A large part of this capital will naturally be turned into treasury notes, which bear a high rate of interest, and being, held at par, will be easily convertible into money in case of necessity. And lastly comes what may have been heard of—stockings and chimney corners. Many old-fashioned people do not bank, but no one will doubt the government; and the old farmers who would never risk their gold in a bank-vault, however secure, will be tempted alike by patriotism and profit to take the Union for their debtor.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM ONE OF THE VERBEKE RIFLES.

On Tuesday morning we crossed the Potomac river at Williamsport in company with about five thousand as brave a set of men as ever drew the breath of life. We had marched into Virginia but about two hours, when we received the first attack of the enemy. The first company of our regiment on the left of the "Verbeke Rifles" had one man killed, and forty-four taken prisoners, besides the second Lieutenant. Skirmishing took place during the entire day. We chased the enemy fully fifteen miles on Tuesday, and on Wednesday morning took possession of their camp which they had abandoned but a few minutes before we arrived. The enemy numbered two thousand. The loss of the Federal troops in killed and wounded amounted to thirty—this is official. The loss of the enemy cannot be definitely ascertained. We found three dead bodies of the enemy on Tuesday, quite a number on Wednesday, twenty-eight on Thursday and found fifty-seven graves yesterday. Besides this we have authentic accounts of six wagon loads of dead bodies which passed here, so that the loss of the enemy must have been fully one hundred and fifty!

ARREST OF THE PIRATES OF THE ST. NICHOLAS.

Lieutenant Carmichael, of Provost Marshal Kenly's police, went down the river in a tug and boarded the steamer Mary Washington, to arrest a man named Neill Green, who was charged with being engaged in the riot on the 19th of April, and who it was thought, would come on board at the Patuxent. On coming up the river he ascertained that Captain Thomas, of St. Mary's county, who took command of the St. Nicholas and headed the pirates on the occasion of the capture, was also on board the steamer with his confederates, their supposed object being to seize another steamer in the same manner.

PROVOST MARSHAL KENLY AFTER A SUSPICIOUS SCHOONER.

Provost Marshal Kenly, having learned that a suspicious schooner, supposed to be in the employ of a piratical party who seized the St. Nicholas, some of whom were captured yesterday, is now in the bay, probably awaiting the return of Capt. Thomas alias the French Lady, this morning took possession of the steamer Chester, just as she was about leaving on her regular trip for the eastern shore. The passengers were put off and a squad of police and soldiers took their place, and she proceeded down the bay to make the capture. Thomas and his party came from Fredericksburg in this schooner.
