OUR PLATFORM. THE UNION-THE CONSTITUTION-AND THE ENFORCEMENT OF THE LAW. HARRISBURG, PA. Tuesday Morning, July 28, 1861.

DEATH OF COL. JAMES CAMERON.

As it advances it commerce of the country. As it advances it will revive trade, re-open markets, assistindus will expire early in the subsequent events. All our military operations went on swimmingly, and country and their race.

Col. Cameron was a native of Pennsylvania, the next oldest brother of the Secretary of War. He was born, we believe, in Maytown, Lancas ter county, learned the printing business, and studied law with Ex-President Buchanan in soon be over, and trade move on with its wont-Lancaster city. In the profession of the law, he had but little taste or inclination for its dull routine of business, but was particularly brilliant and powerful as a journalist, in which capacity, had he directed the energies that he afterwards brought to bear in positions where it was not possible for him to gain distinction, no man in this country could have boasted a fairer reputation than that which James Cameron might have achieved with his pen. During Governor Porter's administration, Col. Cameron was appointed superintendent of motive power on the Philadelphia and Columbia railroad, and after serving in that position for several years, he retired to a farm in Northumberland county. There he lived and enjoyed the confidence and respect of his neighbors, both for the integrity of his purpose and the hospitality and generosity of his character. When the war of rebellion was inugurated, he left the retract of his home, to serve his country, and was chosen almost unanimously as the Colonel of the New York Seventy-ninth regiment.

The blow or the bullet which dealt death to Col. Cameron, deprived the country of one who adored its glory and was devoted to its prosperty and perpetuity. He was an American in all his impulses-while all his impulses were frank, brave and independent. Those who knew him best, will not refuse to yield to his memory this just meed of praise ; and even those who were the least acquainted with the man, will admit that in James Cameron there were mingled those qualifications of head and heart which are essential in the character of a gentleman and a soldier.

THEY WON'T SURRENDER.

Dear Sir—I have been shown the TRIEGRAPH of the afternoon of the 20th inst., and learn that many consider the closing paragraph of the editorial therein, entitled "The Returning Volunteers—their Pay and Re-enlistment," to have been intended to apply to this Department and myself. I cannot The accounts which occasionally reach us from private sources in the south, and which we glean in conversation with those who are either directly from, or sympathize with the rebels, are sometimes calculated to lead us to have been intended to apply to this Department the belief that the south will never surrender— and myself. I cannot see what connection hat the rebels who are now in arms will never een the navment of the Penn eld, but, fighting from trench to trench, and leld, but, fighting from trench to trench, and this department, and the returning volunteers, who are to be paid by the United States Govern-gle until the last man has been left to offer his ment; and I therefore presume there must be a life an unholy sacrifice to a still more unholy misunderstanding upon the part of those who consider that this department is alluded to in your remarks. If they are in error, it is right cause. This is part of the braggadocia that has distinguished the leaders of southern faction that the impression which has been made should be corrected, and in either respect justice to the State administration and myself makes it proand society, ever since they stopped to catch their breath at the Bladensburg races, and is per for me to state a few facts in connection repeated now as they recover from each of the with the department, as its operation and acts ignoble retreats they are daily making before do not seem to be generally understood. In June last his Excellengy Governor Curtin telegraphed to meat Easton that I had been apthe advancing columns of the federal forces. But suppose it is true, and admit that the reb pointed Paymaster General, and I was requested els are determined to fight unto the death, it to report myself here immediately. Although this summons was wholly unexpected and un-looked for, I promptly complied, and from Har-risburg proceeded to Washington, to the office of the Paymaster General of the United States, neither alters the merits of the contest, or invests the traitors with any peculiar merit themselves. Because they are determined is no reason that they are right. It is no evidence that son that they are right. The Confederates are active at Sewell's Point. New entrenchments can be seen. It is unfortunate that they were not driven from that posi-tion weeks ago. Died. On the 20th inst., HEN-T CRANGES, son of John and Refrom Centreville, at half past seven o'clock last night, a series of events took place in the intensest degree disastrous. Many confused statements are prevalent, but, enough is known to warrant the statement that we have suffered in a degree which has cast a gloom over the remnant of the army, and excited the deepest melancholy throughout Washington. The carnage has been tremendously heavy on both sides, and on ours is represented as frightful. We were advancing and taking the masked batteries gradually but surely, and driving the enemy towards Manassas Junction, when the enemy seemed to be reinforced by Gen. Johnston, and immediately commenced driving us back, when a panic among our troops suddenly occurred and a regular stampede took place. It is thought that Gen. McDowell undertook to make a stand at or about Centreville, but the panic was so fearful that the whole army became demoralized, and it was impossible to check them either at Centreville or Fairfax

Gen. McDowell intended to make another stand at Fairfax Court House but our forces be ing in full retreat he could not accomplish the object. Beyond Fairfax Court House the rereat was kept up until the men reached their regular encampments, a portion of whom re-turned to them but a still larger portion coming inside of the line of entrenchments.

A large number of the troops in their retreat fell on the wayside from exhaustion and scattered along the entire route all the way from Fairfax Court House. The road from Bull' Run to Centreville was strewed with knapsacks arms, &c. Some of the troops deliberately threw away their guns and appurtenances the better to facilitate their travel. Genl. McDowell was in the rear at the retreat exerting himself to rally his men, but with only partial effect. The latter part of the army it is said, made their retreat in good order. He partial effect. The latter part of the army, it is said, made their retreat in good order. He was completely exhausted, having slept but little for three nights. His orders on the field did not at all times reach those for whom they W. Y MURRAY. were intended.

It is supposed that the force sent against our troops consisted, according to a prisoner's state-ment, of about 80,000 men, including a large number of cavalry. He further says that owing to the reinforcements from Richmond, Strawsburg and other points. The enemy's effective force was 90,000 men.

According to the statement of the Fire Zouaves they have only about two hundred men left from the slaughter, while the Sixty-ninth New York regiment has suffered frightfully in killed and wounded. Sherman's, Carlisle's and the West Point batteries were taken by the enemy, and the eight seige thirty-two pound rifled cannon. The
