HARRISBURG PA

Saturday Morning; July 27, 1861.

THE REINFORGEMENTS FROM PENN-SYL VANIA.

On Sunday evening last a requisition was recrived by Gov. Curtin, from the Secretary of War, to forward to Washington, as speedily as possible, all of the reserve corps that were ready for action. Immediately orders were issued, and the movement commenced. The troops in camp at West Chester, Easton and Pittsburg, immediately began to prepare for a movement to Camp Curtin, where they were fully equipped and armed, and at once forwarded to Washington. Thus, since Monday last, gathering the troops from these distant points, assembling them at Harrisburg, and furnishing them with the necessary clothing and arms, nearly Eleven Thousand Men, in the very best order and discipline, have been forwarded to Washington city, and are now in active service. Beside these ten regiments thus forwarded this week, there were five other regiments that had gone forward before these had started on the march, so that Pennsylvania has now some sixteen thousand fresh fighting men in the field.

In addition to these the War Department has made another requisition on the Governor, for ten other new regiments, to which we may add two more that are organizing independently of any requisition. These are filling up very fast, from the returned men, the very best of whom are re-enlisting. When these are full, and we predict their organization in less than a month, Ponnsylvania will again have at least THIRTY THOUSAND FIGHTING MEN in the field.

THE PAYMENT OF THE TROOPS.

It is due to the Paymaster General to state that the delay in the payment of the troops is in no degree to be attributed to his Department but to those in the different companies who are charged with preparing the company muster rolls. Major B. Cameron, Paymaster in the U. 8. A., accompanied by a number of assistants. is now here, prepared to pay the troops as fast as the muster rolls are presented. He brought has forwarded drafts to New York for other amounts, which will be forwarded as soon as the sub-Treasurer at that point is able to count and ship the money. In this connection, we may also state in justice to the government, that the disbursement of paper currency by ene of the paymasters in this city, was entirely unwarranted by law, and was immediately protested against and stopped by Mr. J. D. Cameron to who is alding the paymeaters here in facilitafing the shipment of gold and silver from New York to pay the troops.

CONNISSARY GENERAL IRWIN.

General McCall, who is now in command or a force in the regular army, has telegraphed to Commissary General Irwin, offering him the coming from an officer of the experience and discipline such as distinguish Gen. McCall, and the compliment is no less deserved, as Gen. frwin has proven himself every way worthy o such a recognition by the faithfulness with which he has discharged his duty in connection with the volunteer forces of Pennsylvania.

We believe that the offer has been declined. it being the intention of Gen. Irwin to rulfil the great trust reposed in him by Gov. Curtin and remain at the head of the Commissary Depertment of Pennsylvania until the end of the struggle.

ARTILLERY ORDERS.

Orders have been received from Washington Ser the immediate transfer of the artillery force now organized in this state to the line of opesation on the Potomac. Preparations are now hilling made to carry out this order, and we learn that Capt. Campbell is now actively engaged in men, and that as soon as horses can be procured, Charley Campbell has the reputation of of Lieutenants were also wounded and missing, corps at Cantreville, has been placed under ardisputable claim to such a reputation.

LIEUT. JAMES S. BRISBIN.

This gallant young Pennsylvanian, who was among the earliest appointments of the Secretary of War, distinguished bimself during the late severe contest at Bull Run in a manner that reflects credit alike upon himself and the service. In the account of the battle published in the Baltimore Sun, he is thus alluded to:

This officer had three men shot while endeavoring to stop the retreat, and he himself performed gallant service in this way after havperformed gamma service in this way ared in the ing received the following wounds: A pistol of their own dissipations. This is a very high compliment from the splinter of a shell, received in the field; a sabre cut on the shoulder, received while endeavoring to stop the retreat.

A correspondent of the New York World corroborates the above with the following additional statement of fact and compliment:

The sight of Miles' reserve drawn up on the hills at Centreville, supporting a full battery of field pieces, and the efforts of the few officers to a point near the late site of Germantown, where Lieutenant Brisbin had formed a line of Hunt's artillerists across the road, and repulsed all who attempted to break through. I particularly request attention to the services thus rendered by this loyal young officer. Lieut. Brisbin is now at Herr's Hotel, still in a critical condition, but receiving every attention and kindness that his friends and the host

> There is no doubt that the retreat has given immense satisfaction to the rebels, as it has to their sympathizers in the loyal states. It was unfortunate at the time that it occurred, but under all the circumstances, taking the confusion of the civilians and the panic of the teamsters, the people can justly reserve part of the censure they were so prone to heap upon the troops, for some of their own derilictions in the hour of danger and embarrasment.

And we venture the assertion, too, that Altogether, we have reason to be proud of the scarcely a single man of all those who are soon welcomed by his friends without remarks on his Improved condition and appearance. This is the noblest vindication that old Pennsylvania could need or ask. Those of her soldiers who have taken ordinary care of themseves, with the care and attention given to them by the authorities, look well, act well, and we are convinced, feel well. But those who were and are dissipated, not only disgraced themselves, but the service, while all the attention and care that a hundred authorities could bestow upon them could not counteract the evil influences
