CAMP CURTIN.—The only volunteers in Camp Cartin now are five companies of cavalry, intended for the first Pennsylvania regiment of cavalry reserves. Other companies sufficient to fill the regiment will arrive here this week.

RAIN .- After another term of intense heat rain was most welcome to farmers and gardeners, the growing crops suffering for want of it. ____

Drowned. -- A young man named J. Hoover, while bathing in the canal about a mile below Highspire yesterday, got beyond his depth, and being unable to swim, was drowned before assistance could be rendered. The body was recovered, and a jury of inquest summoned by a verdict in ascordance with the above facts.

ROBBERY AT THE CATHOLIC CHURCH.-The among other things a subcrium—a large vessel of solid silver, used in the tabernacle for religious ceremonies. It is a very valuable article, and submits the Church to a serious loss. The thicf will doubtless make an attempt to dispose of it to some of our jewelers or pawnbrokers, and they should be on their guard.

COL. BLACK, S REGIMENT.-Col. Black's regiment, encamped near this city, was visited recently by the Secretary of War. Gen Cameron expressed himself highly gratified by the healthy appearance and soldierly bearing of the men, telling them that he had known their Colonel from boyhood, and that when they all knew him as he did, they would love him as he did, and continue, by their close observance of strict discipline and good conduct, to make the Colonel as proud of his regiment as he, Gen. C., was sure he was now.

BLISTFRED FEET .- An intelligent gentleman writes to the Pittsburg Chronicle as follows :- I had for several years two sons at school at Geneva, Switzerland. In their vacations they, in company with their tator, made excussions through Switzerland, Italy, Germany, &c., on foot; bearing their knapsacks containing their of flavor. And so with fruits. Nothing is necessary wants for a month. They were provided with a small bar of common brown soap, and before putting on their stockings turned them inside out and rubbed the soap well into the threads of them, consequently they never became foot sore, or had blistered feet. Let our volunteers try it, and my word for it, they won't complain of sore or blistered feet.

A Proposition .- The Chester County Times proposes that every officer of the court in that county be invited to renew the oath of allegiance to the United States, on the opening of the next term. We presume every loyal member of the bar will cheerfully and readily accept the invitation. They should not be deprived for the ripening of the country products, and of an opportunity to participate in such a pleasant and impressive ceremony. A good idea, and one that ought to be followed up there and everywhere, and the ceremony made public. every one was subjected to the test, but if there are any traitors among us, it is right and important that they should be known and marked.

Volunteers discharged within three months after entering the service, for a disability which existed at the time of their enlistment, according to a late army order from the Adjutant General's office, Washington, will receive neither pay nor allowance, except subsistence and transportation to their homes. The certistate whether the disability existed prior to the date of muster, or was contracted after it. Minors also who may be discharged either by the civil authority or upon the personal application of parents or friends, will be discharged without pay or allowance. Cases of resignation by volunteer officers have become so numerous that it calls for increased vigilence on Senatorial district in the State, who must pass the part of regimental, brigade and department commanders, through whom the resignation must pass for final action at Department Head-quarters, who will see before approving it that a clear statement of the causes which led to the resignation is given. If accepted, and the individual be discharged, the resignation will be forwarded to the Adjutant's office.

EDUCATION AND PATRIOTISM.—The State Teachers' Association, which met at Lewisburg, Union county, last week, was very largely attember 15th to June 15th, and in camp from tended, and the proceedings were unusually interesting. Dauphin county had four representeresting. Dauphin county had four representatives present, all from this city—Samuel D. Ingram, Jane Maury, Eliza A. Bishop and L. Boyer. Samuel D. Ingram, Esq., was elected one of the Vice Presidents for the ensuing year. As an evidence of the patriotic spirit which pervaded the members of the Association, we append the following resolutions, which were ununimously adopted:

THE NEW POSTAGE ENVELOPE. - We invite attention to the notice of the Postmaster of this different Post Offices of the country. The stamp is a very neat one. The prominent feature of it is a bust af Washington, done in pink; surrounding the head are the words United States, and below the words Three Cents, with figure three on both sides. The price of the envelope is the same as heretofore. Persons desiring an Bridge lighted. exchange had better attend to it without delay.

GENERAL NEGLEY'S REGIMENT. - General Negley was in this city this morning busily engaged with the formation of the new regiment already this section of country was visited to-day with accepted by the Secretary of War. We are creda most refreshing rain, cooling the atmosphere | itably informed that nine tenths of the men so as to afford some degree of comfort. TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.—At a special meeting of the Washington Library Association held at Esquire Walburn of Middletown, who eturned their hall on Thursday, the 8th inst., the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

D. BEUSINGER, Sec'y pro tem. THE LAST MONTH OF SUMMER .- August is a hot month—and it is right that it should be a hot month—and it is right that it should be a surprise on learning that he intended to tender hot month. We can afford to be hot and his resignation to the Government; yet, in our sweaty for the sake of the good done by the judgment, his reasons for so doing were suffi heat of August. It does all the ripening. Veof flavor. And so with fruits. Nothing is worth much that ripens before August—not furnished to the publisher of the Telegraph. Juneatings nor cherries. The last month of summer is the crowning month—the best of all. It flings its warm and yellow atmosphere on the earth, and the fructifying juices ebb and flow in the veins of the pasture and swell into 🐃 rich products of field and garden orchard. Hot as it is, we like the month of August, with its red and misty mornings and its golden evenings. We can utter a blessing on its genial influences, even when the sun stands at noon in gust, when there are beads of perspiration on the forehead, we feel that the weather is needed we are content with our sweaty brows and palms, when we see that out of this heat and moisture comes the abundance of the autumnal of the guard who arrested Merryman the bridge harvest. Prince Napoleon left this city yesterday for New York. His visit to Manassas has provoked a great deal of comment. The French Minister and Secretary of Legation went with him under the pass of Secretary Seward. They were gone forty-eight hours, during which time they ex-amined the battle field of Bull Run, and spent night within the rebellines at Manassas. They had an interview with Gen. Beauregard, who treated them with great attention. Although every member of Prince Napoleon's suite was forbidden to speak of the incidents of his visit to Manassas, the Prince himself had an interview after he got back, with General M'Clellan, but with no other. The colored coach man made public what is known of the princely visit at Alexandria Col. Franklin furnished him with four United States horses. He dined that day with the Rebel Col. Stewart, at Fairfax, who gave him for a change of horses four captured at Bull Run. Reaching Manassas late that night he was received by Gen. Johnston, who sent to Manassas for Gen. Beauragard, who arrived early in the morning.

The Prince was very much fawned upon. The conversation between him and Beauregard was in French, the latter interpreting remarks made by other officers. One reason to induce the Prince to go on to Richmond was, that " our Congress is now in session, and we wish you to compare our Legislators with those at Wash ington." At Fairfax, on his return, Col. Stewart said to him: "I hope your country will not interfere in this contest. With no outside interference we are able to take care of our-

Decision of the Government.

INSTRUCTIONS TO GENERAL BUTLER REGARDING CONTRABANDS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11. The following letter has just been despatched to General Butler by the Secretary of War:—

Washington, August 8, 1861. GENERAL:—The important question of the proper disposition to be made of fugitives from service in States in insurrection against the Federal Government, to which you have again directed my attention in your letter of July 30th, has received my most attentive considera

It is the desire of the President that all ex isting rights in all the States be fully respected and maintained. The war now prosecuted on the part of the Federal Government is a war for the Union, and for the preservation of all the Constitutional rights of States and the citizens of the States in the Union. Hence no question can arise as to fugitives from service within the States and Territories in which the authority of the Union is fully acknowledged.

The ordinary forms of judicial proceedings which must be respected by military and civil authorities alike, will suffice for the enforcement of legal claims. But in States wholly or partially under insurrectionary control, where the laws of the United States are so far opposed and resisted that they cannot be effectually enforced, it is obvious that the rights dependent on the execution of those laws must temporarily fail, and it is equally obvious that the rights dependent on the laws of the States within which military operations are conducted, must be necessarily subordinate to the military exi-gencies created by the insurrection, if not wholy forfeited by the treasonable conduct of the parties owning them. To this general rule, the rights to services can form no exception. The act of Congress approved August 6th, 1861, declares that if persons held to service shall be employed in nostility to the United States, the rights to their services shall be forfeited, and such persons shall be discharged therefrom. It follows of necessity that no claim can be recognized by the military authorities of the Union to the services of such persons when fugitives.

A more difficult question is presented in respect to persons escaping from the service of loyal masters. It is quite apparent that the laws of the State under which only the services of such fugitives can be claimed, must needs be wholly, or almost wholly, suspended as to remedies by the insurrection and the military measures necessitated by it, and it is equally apparent that the substitution of military for judicial measures, for the enforcement of such labing a part he had a part of the substitution o claims, nust be attended by great inconveniences, embarrassments and injuries.

Under these circumstances, it seems quite clear that the substantial rights of loyal masters will be best protected by receiving such fu-gitives, as well as fugitives from disloyal masters, into the s rvice of the United States, and employing them under such organizations and in such occupations as circumstances may suggest or require. Of course a record should be kept, showing the name and description of the fugitives, the name and the character (as loval or disloyal) of the master and such facts as may be necessary to a correct understanding of the circumstances of each case. After tranquility shall have been restored upon the return of peace, Congress will doubtless properly provide for all the persons thus recieved into the service of the Union, and for a just compensation to the loyal masters. In this way only, it would seem, can the duty and safety of the Government, and the just rights of all, be fully reconciled and harmonized.

You will, therefore, consider yourself instructed to govern your future action in respect to fugitives from service, by the principles herein stated, and will report from time to time, and at least twice in each month, your action in the premises to this department.

You will, however, neither authorize nor permit any interference by the troops under your command with the servants of citizens in the house or field; nor will you in any way encourage such servents to leave the lawful service of their masters; nor will you, except in cases where the public safety may seem to require it, prevent the voluntary return of any fugitive to the service which he may have escaped.
