GENERAL ORDER NO. 1.

Headquarters Pennsylvania Militia, Harrisburg, August 1st, 1861. HE GOVERNOR has learned with deep mor tification that one Lieutenant and a num let of the privates and non-commissioned offiters of the Second Regiment of Infantry, Prinsylvania Reserve Corps, on being called on, in accordance with their oaths, to enter the serm accordance with States, have refused to do

He therefore hereby dismisses them from the service of the State, and directs their names to be published, that Pennsylvania may know he derelict sons, and may not again be defrauded by those who, after partaking her bounty, in the moment of peril desert her. All mustering officers are directed to prevent their re-enlistment in any of the gallant and loyal regiments now forming for the defense of our country. We do not need their services, our country. We do not need their services, nor will we risk our cause in their hands. By order of Andrew G. Curtin, Governor, and

ARREST OF SECESSIONISTS.

Attempt to Induce Officers to Join the Rebels.

We learn from the Philadelphia Bulletin of ast evening that a man named August Douglass, who had been stopping at the St. Louis Hotel for two or three days past was arrested at a late hour on Tuesday night.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS AT THE CAMPS Douglass represents himself as coming from Baltimore. The affidavit upon which he was arrested, was made yest rday afternoon before Alderman Beitler by Augustus Hain, Adjutant of the Washington Legion, Cot. Harvey. The Enthusiastic Reception of the Presi-Adjutant testified that he had a conversation Newspaper Strictures on Members with Douglass at the hotel yesterday afternoon he had frequently seen Douglass before, and had been in his room at the hotel.

THE BURNING OF HAMPTON.

The news of the last crowning act of barbarity seems to be confirmed. The quiet, unof-fending old village, which even the British spared in the late war, has been converted into a heap of ashes by the Black Republican invaders. A more wanton, unprovoked and infernal piece of pure diabolism was never committed. We copy the above from the Richmond (Va. .) Dispatch, of August 9th, and considering the fact that the rascals knew and now admit that this "crowning act of barbarity" was done by order of their own general, Magruder, it is icy cool! Lying and perjury must be learned as a profession or business, in Secessia! That our readers may see what a precious set of scoundrels the secessionists are we copy the following boasting account of the burning of Hampton from the correspondent of the Petersburg (Va.,) Express—a most bitter secession paper. The letter is dated August 9th, from Camp Bartlett

We generally think of tornadoes and water-spouts in connection with the torrid zone, but better experience has taught the possibility of the former in our own country, and the Man-chester Mirror gives a description of one of the "On Wednesday evening it was decided by Gen. Magruder to be expedient and proper to burn Hampton. In furtherance of this subject, just after dark, the troops were removed from in sight of Hampton to another road which aplatter in New Hampshire, on Massabesic pond: July 12, 1861.—Yesterday about five P. The spout was funnel-shaped, tapering very gradually from the water surface, until Col. Hooges, were detailed for the hazardous pur pose of firing the town. The cavalry companies marched in front, and the infantry behind.

Some one sang out, "Lie down on your faces," and it was well we did so, for as the whirl passed, the trees were actually bent down to the ground, touching the backs of the prostrate persons. The spout coming in contact with some woods near the shore, got "aired," and broke with the noise of distant cannon, and then far and near
