WHAT I LIVE FOR

BY G. LINNÆUS BANKS.

I live for those who love me,
Whose hearts are kind and true; For the heaven that smiles above me, And awaits my spirit too; For all human ties that bind me, For the task by God assigned me, For the bright hopes left behind me, And the good that I can do.

I live to learn their story, Who suffered for my sake ; To emulate their glory, And fellow in their wake ; Bards, patriots, martyrs, sages,
The noble of all ages,
Whose deeds crown history's pages,
And Time's great volume make.

I live to hold communion With all that is divine : To feel there is a union 'Twixt Nature's heart and mine; To profit by affliction, Reap truths from fields of fiction, Grow Wiser from conviction, And fulfill each grand design.

I live to hail that season By gifted minds foretold, When man shall live by reason, And not alone by gold; When man to man united, And every wrong thing righted, The whole world shall be lighted As Eden was of old.

I live for those who love me. For those who know me true; For the heaven that smiles above me, And awaits my spirit too; For the cause that lacks assistance For the wrong that needs resistance, For the future in the distance, And the good that I can do. -Dublin University Magazine.

NUMBERS OF THE ENEMY IN VIRGINIA.

om the Washington Republic, Sept. 4.3 We referred, yesterday, to the fact that the Richmond politicians claim that Virginia has fifty-five thousand troops in the field. They are interested to represent the number as large as possible, as it is upon their great contribution of soldiers that they predicate their demands for office at the hands of the Jeff. Davis Government. As they have done nothing since 1789, (with the exception of a string of resolutions passed in 1798,) but hunt for office, enjoy the salaries of office, and snarl when out office they have acquired a dexterity in that special matter which is unsurpassed, and if they have any sort of basis for claiming office, it may be safely assumed that they make the best and most of it.

Governor Letcher, by proclamation issued a month since, notified the counties that he should insist upon volunteers to the extent of ten per cent. of their white population, or, failing to receive volunteers to that amount, should proceed to make up the deficiency by draft. When the measures thus indicated are carried out fully in every county, as it is not at all probable that they care are the statement of the statem ble that they ever can be, the sum total of the result would be about seventy thousand soldiers. which is ten per cent. of so much of the white population of Virginia, as is, in fact, under the jurisdiction of the Richmond cabal. If these measures have already progressed so far as to produce fitty-five thousand men, it is quite as much as could be expected, or as is credible. There has been nothing like it in the military paroxysms of the old French revolution, when Carnot "organized victory;" nothing like it in the levies of the Russian Alexander to resist the invasion of Banaparte; nothing like it in our own revolutionary struggle; nothing like it, in short, in any d fensive war in modern history. How vast the burden in, will be realized from Universal Confidence & Patronage considering that it is equal to levies of 50,000 men in Maine, of 110,000 in either of the States FOR STATESMEN, JUDGES, CLERGYMAN, Of Massachusetts or Indiana, or of 300,000 in

Of the seven original Confederate States, Texas is occupied with her own defence on the side of the Rio Grande and the Indians, with her offensive expedition to the Messilla Valley, and with reinforcing the army of General Mc-Collough. Florida is too insignificant to require much notice. The most she can do is to aise some two-penny squads for coast defence, and (possibly) to contribute one or two ragged battalions to the force necessary to be kept in front of Pickens.

There remain the States of South Carolina. Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana, with an aggregate white population of two failing off the top of my head and threatening io make me baid.

In this unpleasant predicament, I was induced to try wood's Hair Restorative, mainly to arrest the failing off of my hear, for I had really no expectation that gray hair could ever be restored to its original color except from dyes. I was, however, greatly surprised to find after the use of two be ties only, that not only was the failing off arrested, but the color was restored to the gray hairs and sensibility to the scalp, and dandruft ceased to form on my head very much to the gradification of my wite, at whose solicitation I was induced to try fi.

For this, among the many obligations I owe to her sea, I strongly recommend all husbands who value the direction of their ways to profit by my example, and use it if growing gray or getting beaid.

Yery respectfully, BSN. A. LAVENDER.

Georgia in the distinctive confederate army.—This is from the commencement of the war, and it is not probable that all these men who are alive, are now in the service. A portion of them is at Pensacola, and another portion on the Coast defences.

Head the theory of sending troops to Virginia diminished by the very considerable drains from bridge theore of two hich, Louisiana has sent one regiment, perhaps two, to the army of General McCulllough.

They have a long coast to guard, them is at Pensacola, and another portion on the coast defences. How many may be in Virginia is not known, but certainly not Georgia's proportion (about one-third) of 50,000 men.

Outside of the original Confederate States, it is only from North Carolina, that considerable numbers can be brought forward to defend Vir-

Arkansas is occupied with Missouri. Tennessee is prolific in soldiers, but no authentic estimate of her troops goes beyond 25, 000. Of these, 10,000 are stated to be on the Kentucky line, (including the force observing the disaffected population of East Tennessee,) and 5,000 are said to be in camp in and near Memphis. The expedition of Gen. Pillow must aborb nearly the entire balance. Beyond the two regiments sent early to Virginia, there is evidence, or probability, that Tennessee has any soldiers there.

There remains North Carolina, with a white population of 681,489, (about that of Maine), regiment was then known to be in the close vicinity. To all these resources available for the deforce of Virginia, must be added four or five thousand volunteers from Kentucky, Maryland and this District, not a great number, but des-peradoes from the nature of the case, being re-zeal and courage are concerned.

From these data, we may conjecture pretty nearly what the force of the enemy in Virginia is. It is manifestly far short of the estimates fugees, and likely to fight well, so far as mere which are popularly current.

Whatever it is, it will be available, four-fifths of it, for the struggle immediately in front of Washington. It will be promptly massed by the aid of railroads, whenever Gen. McClellan advances, just as it was massed when Gen. Scott. ordered the forward movement of July 16th.
