THE GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION.

For several months past the authorities of the purpose of recruiting regiments and brigades fide in the course of the traitor Breckinridge, to be mustered into the service of the United and showed his attachment for those who are States. These practices had a tendency to at the head of this rebellion by refusing to dampen the ardor of our citizens and demoralize the troops that were being mustered by the state authorities, until the matter assumed the shape and importance of a gross outrage, alike and again solicits your vote that he may again upon our rights as a sovereign state and our reputation as an independent people.

In the proclamation which we publish to-day, of these interferences, to which document we only have time now briefly to refer and direct the careful attention of the readers of the Tele-GRAPH. The proclamation covers the entire ground, and settles the issue involved by adducing the law and proclaiming the determination of the authorities on the subject.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

The following opinion, delivered by the Attorney General of the state, at the request of the temerity to forage for a luxury in the shape the Governor, is not only very important to of flesh, fish or fowl, J. Allison Eyster, a citizen those entitled to vote, but it fixes the disfranchisement of those who voluntarily left the state, giving up their interest in its reputation and honor, to serve in the ranks of regiments enjoying the hospitality of his kinsman, he was raised by other states, at the expense of their rights and citizenship in Pennsylvania. The opinion is brief and just, and cannot fail to be fully comprehended by all who are interested in brated "Tobacco Warehouse." While in Richthe premises.

We transfer the opinion from the advertising editorial columns this afternoon, in order to give it the prominence its importance demands: ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE, }

HARRISBURG, Sept. 27, 1861. My opinion is requested by the Governor on the following questions, viz:

1. What volunteers will be entitled to vote

amps: II. Whether the volunteers so entitled to vote, can vote for County officers?

I. I am clearly of the opinion that no volunteers will be entitled to vote in their camps, conformity with law, viz: Such as are in service under the authority of the Governor on the requisition of the President of the United cers will be a fair test of the right of the regiment to vote.

II. The Act of Assembly provides that the volunteers may exercise the right of suffrage; of course they have as much right to vote for County officers as for any other.

W. M. MEREDITH,

Attorney General.

Since the above opinion was presented to the Governor, another question arose, which the Attorney General has disposed of as follows: Attorney General has disposed of as ionows.

"Since writing the above an additional question has been propounded to me, viz: Where men from several counties are in the same company, what course should be pursued? I am of opinion that in such cases there should be separate ballot-boxes, tally lists &c., for each county, and the votes should be returned, to such county."

W. M. MEREDITH, Attorney General.

This now fixes the terms, the qualifications and the proceedings necessary to legalise the election in the various encampments of Pennthe commonwealth

Right.—Governor Curtin, of Pennsylvania, forbids all enlistments in that state for regiments being raised in other States, until the General Government shall refuse to receive the said from the control of the said from the sai further aid from Pennsylvania. This is right. Each state should have credit for its own soldiers .- Albany Evening Journal.

Our New York cotemporary will observe that Governor Curtin has issued a proclamation on this subject which puts the whole matter right. Pennsylvania asks for nothing but what is fair in this fight, and will submit to nothing that is the latter, she will succeed and deserves to suc wrong, PATIENCE, FRIENDS! Experience is teaching us some hard lesson; but they will do us good.— Bull Run and Springfield and Lexington are but switches in the hands of the school master to put our troops in fighting trim. A few more blows will make able-bodied men ashamed to stay at home. The grey-beards, even, may be induced to march, if it shall appear that enough of our young men have neither the pluck nor the patriotism for the emergency.

While the hot shot and bombs were falling thick and fast around the gallant band who were defending their country's honor in Fort Sumter, Gov. RETURN OF A RICHMOND PRISONER.

When Gen. Robert Patterson was operating in the neighborhood of Winchester, Va., occasionally paying court to the secessionists near his camp, and whiling away the dull hours of his inactivity by reprimanding soldiers who had of Chambersburg, visited Winchester, Va., from which place he was taken by a friend to visit a relative in that neighborhood. While he was arrested by a party of secessionists, at once hurried off to Richmon I, where he was confined with the other federal prisoners in the celemond, he was closely confined, sharing the common treatment of all the captured, and department of the Morning Telegraph to our experiencing then but little of the boasted hospitality, chivalry or generosity of the sons of the south. Within a few days Mr. Eyster was released on his parole of honor, and of course is mute so far as communicating the least information in regard to the strength, position and condition of the enemy are concerned. He gives NATIONAL MILITARY AND NAVAL at the approaching general election in their intelligence, however, of the manner in which Mr. Henry Magraw is treated, which can neither be very pleasant for Magraw to endure or his friends in Pennsylvania to hear. He is closely confined and watched by or er of the Davis' except such as are in actual military service in Cabinet. The judge who decides as to the release of prisoners on their parole of honor, had the requisition of the resident of the climents states. All the field officers of such regiments will be commissioned by the Governor, and the holding of such commissions by the field officers of such commissions by the field officers closely confined and more narrowly watched closely confined and more narrowly watched than before. Notwithstanding this rigorous treatment, the health of Mr. Magraw is said to be robust, while his spirits are represented to be bouyant and cheerful.

PRIVATE ADVICES FROM KENTUCKY are of hopeful tenor. The public sentiment of the state is overwhelmingly Union, so that there is no trouble whatever in arresting traitors.-Breckinridge and Burnett would have been ar rested by government agents and sent to Fort Layfayette if it had not been for their precipitate flight within the rebel lines. The wonderful change in the sentiment of the people of Kentucky can be seen from the fact that they each county, of the voters entitled to vote in would gladly see the federal officers seize their late "favorite son," John C. Breckinridge, and take him out of the state on trial for treason. So far the Union men are enthusiastically bent on driving the Confederate or rebel troops from their borders, and there is a good prospect of sylvania troops within and without the limits of ing ensues in lower and western Kentucky, the result of which may threaten Tennessee, it will create a diversion in Missouri, and that the forces under Price and McCulloch will fly to the support of Polk, for fear of having their communications cut off. In spite of the Lexington disaster it is believed that Fremont contemplates clearing Missouri of the rebel troops by a single bold stroke.

> Ir THE SOUTH, with less than half the popula tion of the North, can turn out more men than ceed, too! If we think more of our personal comfort than we do of our liberties, we are un. fit to bear the name of freemen—and the sooner we are "subdued" by a superior power the better. A few more reverses like that at Lexington, and we shall have earned the right of being despised by the meanest Power on earth.

QUESTIONS.

Are the loyal men of Dauphin county willing to lend their aid to a few interested and disappointed politicians, in order that a rebuke may be administered to the federal and state administrations? If they are, they cannot do so more effectually than by supporting what a few men choose to term a "union ticket," when of the people of this county, or demanded by any act of wrong ot the party which is in the ma jority. It was a move entirely by those who were frustrated in their aspirations, by some who had been candidates before the conventions of both parties, and by both conventions summa these men now claim all the union feeling, and set up a hypocritical whine respecting the corruption of politics and politicians.

The Republican convention nominated ticket with which no loyal man in the county can take exceptions. All the nominees on that ticket represent a great principle—the principle of loyalty and allegiance to the government, and of the maintenance of the Constitution and laws of the land. To scratch that ticket is to state these principles. To defeat a single candidate, is to proclaim your dissatisfaction with the government, to prove to the rebels that the en forcement of the law is coercion, that rebellion is a legitimate means with which to correct evils in government and that the southern peo ple in their present attitude towards this government are justified by the people of the north. Will the independent and loval men of the northern states be seduced into casting their votes in any manner that could possibly be construed as a rebuke to the federal authorities? And that rebuke would be construed by defeating a single man on the ticket which adorns the head of our editorial columns. Freemen, of Dauphin county, remember these facts on the day of the SCHOOLS. It is greatly to be regretted that the hills to increase the number of students at the Military and Naval Academies failed to pass the Senate, after they had passed the House, one of the requisites of which was, before the admission of a cadet to the Military Academy, a solemn given a favorable decision in Magraw's case, but oath, to be subscribed by the cadet, that under to that of the national. The great deficiency, at the present time, of well educated army and essary that the two senior classes of these institutions should be graduated at a very early day and the young gentlemen placed in active service, for which they are now well fitted especially those from the Military Academy, to act as drill-masters to raw recruits.-The best informed in military circles feel the necessity of a large increase of our volunteer army; and as no one knows how long the war may last, nor how great an army we may be obliged to retain after the war, it is earnestly hoped that the first act of Congress after its meeting in December, will be a large increase of cadets and midshipmen at the respective national military and naval institutions. It has been suggested, and with plausible force, that the Secretaries of War and Navy would be justifiable in ordering an increase at both institutions as a matter of military necessity. There is ample provision for double the number of students at both institutions, and the members of Congress would be glad to nominate deserving young men from their respective districts, to fill up the vacancies existing in consequence of the withdrawal of all the students from the seceding states. Will not our national authorities take the responsibility of filling these yacan-
