HARRISBURG, PA.

Thursday Afternoon, October 10, 1861.

THE WATER in the Susquehanna river is again at a pretty high stage, caused by the recent heavy rains in the upper section of the State,

THE WILLIAMSPORT Cornet Band passed through here yesterday to go into military services as the regimental band of Col. Morehead's regiment, now located in the vicinity of Washington.

AT THE LATE ELECTION in this county, in one of the wards of this city, John W. Forney received several votes for County Treasurer. These were polled by Breckinridge-Democrats, who intended to show their resentment to John L. Speel, the Democratic candidate for Treasury, atmosphere and carry it along, as the earth the Susquehanna Hotel, in Baltimore, to await between whom and Col. Forney there has always existed a warm feeling of friendship.

KILLED ON THE RAILEOAD.—The mangled body of a man was discovered on the railroad a short distance west of Carlisle, last Tuesday morning. Coroner Smith held an inquest, but failed to obtain any evidence which would identify him. He was no doubt attached to Col. Stumbaugh's regiment which passed over the road the previous evening, and it is supposed, fell from the cars and was run over by the train. The remains were conveyed to the Poor House and

In Town.—Col. Joseph F. Knipe, of the 46th Penna. Regiment, was in town this morning, looking remarkably well. We have before contradicted the report, started in Baltimore, that a murderous attempt had been made upon his life. The Colonel's regiment is stationed on the Potomac, and he represents matters and locality of her reticule. He told her his name, things there as in the best possible condition. He adds that the "boys" from this neighbor hood are in good health and fine spirits, anxiously awaiting an opportunity to blaze away at the rebels. Col. Knipe brought with him the official vote polled last Tuesday by the Dauphin county soldiers of his regiment.

THE FOUNTAIN HAIR BRUSH .- In the opinion of all who have seen this invention, it is the most convenient toilet article ever introduced either in this country or abroad, and must inevitably supersede all other hair-brushes, whenever an opportunity for comparison is afforded All scientific men who have examined it pronounce it a complete success. It is simple in principle, perfect in operation, cannot by any possibility get out of order, is compact, elegant, durable, and will save twice its own price within three months, by economising preparations for the hair. ARREST OF A HORSE THIEF .- A negro, whose name we could not learn, was arrested this quantities even at advanced rates. The Cincinmorning by officers Cole and Wickert, charged | nati Gazette draws this encouraging prospect for with stealing a horse from Mr. John Wertz, a farmer residing in Manor township, Lancaster county. The negro, it seems, last Saturday offered to dispose of the horse to a farmer residing near the State Lunatic Hospital, at a price far below its real value, which excited the suspicion of the farmer that it was stolen proporty and in order to be suspicion of the farmer that it was stolen proporty and in order to be suspicion of the farmer that it was stolen proporty and in order to be support or the farmer than the stoled to the farmer that it was stolen proporty and in order to be support or the farmer than the stoled that the stoled the stoled that t erty, and in order to be assured of the fact, and nesshas largely increased; and if managers have at the same time aid the ends of justice—for put prices up fifty per cent while canals and lakes are navigable, without being able to move of all villians—he told the negro that he was expected when the water lines shall be closed? pleased with the looks of the animal, and would It is probable that freight on flour to New York | ger to that officer; she was in the battle of Maperhaps buy him, if he could first try him for a short time. The negro readily jumped at this

Of January, and on other articles in proportion.

Freights are lower now than they will be three bait, dismounted from the animal, and left him months hence, unless navigation of the Miss in charge of the farmer, promising to call sippi should be opened in the meantime by some again some time this week. In the meantime unexpected event." again some time this week. In the meantime the farmer came to the city, and relating the Mayor's office, he was shown a hand-bill des- Cincinnati to Philadelphia, being an advance of cribing the horse stolen from Mr. Wertz, which he immediately declared corresponded precisely advanced from 47 to 55c. This might affect the accordingly made the necessary arrangements and this morning when the negro called upon ble to increase their present freight business, the farmer for the money or the horse, he was taken in custody, and brought to this city, where he was lodged in prison, and at noon today left for Lancaster in charge of officer Cole.

A COMMENDABLE MOVEMENT.—An organization has been started in one of the towns in Bucks county for the purpose of providing each soldier that enters the service of the United States from that county with a water-proof blanket, a supply of home-made socks, and other small articles that may be found desirable or necessary for their comfort while absent from home. Local enterprise of the same character are in progress in several other towns, the intention in each case being to provide for the volunteers from these particular neighborhoods. This is well so far as it goes, but if each community is depended upon to provide for its own members who have enlisted, it is very probable that a have already been arrested and placed in conconsiderable number of the men, from one cause or another, will not be provided with blankets at all. To guard against this result, it seems desirable that some general plan, like the one suggested should be extended throughout the entire county. It would be easy to establish a central committee in every county with agents in every township and borough, to receive contributions from the loyal and liberal inhabitants, and to see that each article or sum of money is applied to its proper use. Waterproof blankets for a whole regiment may be procured for about one thousand dollars; a supply of woolen socks for all the men can be furnished at much less cost in money, but a trifle more work. Let the men who stay at home give the money to buy the blankets and the yarn, and we will guarantee that the socks will our peaceable and quietly disposed citizens can be forthcoming from the hands of our patriotic retire at night without being disturbed in their women. We hope that the example of our slumbers by midnight marauders, who make Bucks county friends may be followed in this night hideous by their unearthly yells and county. It is due to the honor of old Dauphin county that her sons shall appear in the conflict all pandemonium had broke loose, and were for liberty and law lacking in no comfort that having one great grand jubilee, over their esour money and labor can bestow. Let us all work together, and this end can quickly be ac-

CAMP CURTIN.—There are now about seventy companies, and parts of companies, at Camp

THE TONE OF BULLETS. - A soldier writing from one of the camps on the Potomac thus alludes to the peculiar music made by bullets passing through the air:

It is a very good place to exercise the mind, with the enemy's pickets rattling close at hand. A musical ear can study the different tones of the bullets as they skim through the air. caught the pitch of a large sized minie yester-day—it was a swell from E flat to F, and as it passed into the distance and lost its velocity, eceded to D—a very pretty change the most startling sounds is that produced by the Hotchkiss' shell. It comes like the shrick of a demon, and the bravest old soldiers feel like ducking when they hear it. It is no more destructive than some other missiles, but there is a great deal in mere sound to work upon men's fears. The tremendous scream is caused by a ragged edge of lead, which is left on the shell. In favorable positions of light, the phenomena can sometimes be seen, as you stand directly behind a gun, of the clinging of the air atmosphere and carry it along, as the earth carries its atmosphere through space. Men are frequently killed by the wind of a cannon shot. There is a law which causes the atmosphere to cling to the earth, or which presses upon it with a force, at the surface, of fifteen pounds to the square inch; does the same law, or a modification, pertain to cannon balls in flight? I do not remember of meeting with a discussion of not remember of meeting with a discussion of the subject in any published work. It is certainly an interesting philosophic question.

A FEMALE STRANGER with some claims to personal attractions, went to the Capital park yesterday afternoon to have a walk, and enjoy the cool fresh air. She didn't have any brother or cousin to take with her, and felt lonely. A good looking young man, sympathizing with her lonely condition, addressed her, and soon began to make himself very agreeable to the susceptible lady. He pointed out to her as they sat on one of the benches the most notable localities of the Capital city, and at the same time, by a sly glance, satisfied himself of the gave a short history of his life, and the lady felt much interested in the young stranger; in fact she began to wonder if there was anything as love at first sight." In the mean time the 'nice young man's" tongue rattled on like a first class cotton mill, and thrilled her young heart with patriotic enthusiasm by his recitals of the glories of war, and then with a glowing eloquence he pictured the defeat of the rebels by the invincible valor of our army, and to make the matter more clear to the lady, he started down one of the walks of the Park towards State street at a 2.40 pace, saying "thus will the rebels run." He didn't come back, however, and the lady discovered that somehow or other her reticule had gone with him. Fortunately, it contained nothing but a cambricedged handkerthief, and the lady concluded that altogether her loss was well worth the experience she had gained.

FREIGHT ON THE PENNA. RAILROAD.—The pressure of freight to the seabord is so enormous at present that the Pennsylvania. Erie and Central companies are compelled to refuse large the railroads the coming winter:

"The Mississippi river being closed, the produce of the entire west is driven from that channel to the eastern railroads. In addition to this the Baltimore and Ohio railroad is closed, will advance to two dollars per bbl. by the first

'The Pennsylvania Railroad Company now circumstances to some of our police at the charges $1 10 freight on a barrel of flour from 10c. On wheat, the charge per 100 ibs has been with the animal in his possession. The police trade of Philadelphia as well as the business of the company, only that rival railways are unaand the Pennsylvania railroad has more eastward bound freight than it has capacity to accommodate at any rate or charge.

CAMP CROSSMAN .- A Suggestion to the Military Authorities here.—The regiment of Col. Wm. G. Murray, formerly of this city, is stationed with James' Brigade, at Camp Crossman, near Huntingdon, and the command of the camp itself is under Col. Murray, who has established rules and regulations for its government, which would be well for the military authorities to adopt here. One of his first acts, says the Globe, was to establish a day and night patrol guard or police in the borough, numbering thirty strong, which is a decided benefit to both citizens and soldiers. Ten are detailed for duty at a timethree hours on and six hours off. Three or four unruly, noisy, drunken fellows (not all soldiers) finement, by the guard. They have pitched their tents on Smith street, between Hill and Washington, which, taken altogether, makes the town considerably warlike. The guard is under command of Lieut. Kocherberger, a gentleman and a soldier, who knows his duty, and with nerve to enforce his authority; and the men under him are peaceable and gentlemanly in their conduct.

The Globe adds that "a sentry can be seen stationed at almost every corner, and his steady tramp can be heard at the midnight hour, where nought else breaks the stillness of the night. And what a change it has brought about. Our town seems like it was of old. Rowdyism and drunkenness on our streets since the advent of this new era, has considerably decreased, and screams, which would lead one to think that

THE OFFICIAL RETURNS. —The return judges of the several wards and townships of Dauphin county will meet at the Court House in this city at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning, at which time the official vote of the county will be declared.

TALL Shooting.—Talk about the Burden sharp shooter's practice at Hoboken. Yesterday affernoon Dr. Robert Harrisof this city—a "crack" shot at all times, by the way—hit a target the size of a man's hat, six hundred yards distant, three times in succession! This feat was performed in the presence of about twenty reliable gentlemen, all of whom are ready to vouch for its correctness. The rifle used on the occasion is a new invention, considerably smaller than Sharpes, and as witnessed by the above performance, of undoubted accuracy.

A Bit of Romance—A Female enlists as a Volunteer at Camp Curtin.—Last Saturday evening an apparently youthful soldier stopped at the Susquehanna Hotel, in Baltimore, to await the departure of the Northern Central train from that place to this city. He was not there long, however, before it was whispered among some of the knowing ones that the soldier was a female, which fact was revealed by a fellow—IMPORTANT TO FEMALES.

some of the knowing ones that the soldier was a female, which fact was revealed by a fellowpassenger from Washington. Finding that he was suspected, and fearing that he might be subjected to great inconvenience from it, he had just concluded to make known to the Marshal of Police that he was a female, when a policeman appeared, and taking him into custody, conducted him to the Middle District Station House, where the charge of being a woman was preferred against him. This he indignantly repelled, and played the character of a young man to such perfection that nearly every one present at the examination went away satisfied that the charge was unfounded. He was about subjected to great inconvenience from it, he present at the examination went away satisfied that the charge was unfounded. He was about to be committed to jail to await a further examination, when Mr. Vorshell, proprietor of the Susquehanna hotel, appeared and offered to keep him at his house all night. This was agreed to, and an officer was sent to guard the room in which he slept.

When he arose yesterday morning he donned his uniform, but had, on the previous evening; utmost confidence in Dr. Checseman's Pills doing all that they represent to do.

ackowledged to Mr. V., that he was a female. A guard was kept over her until about noon esterday, when Mr. McPhail, Deputy Marshal, allowed her to go about the house without a guard, an officer merely remaining near at hand, to be called whenever his services were needed. At noon she dressed herself in female attire. which was kindly furnished her by the lady and daughter of Mr. Vorshell, and in a short time she was moving about the house with as nuch ease and grace as if she had known nothing of such a "rough" thing as a soldier's life. About seven o'clock last night Mr. McPhail appeared at the hotel and removed her guard, and thus the mattter rested last evening.

The subject of this investigation, is rather good-looking young lady, about nineteen years of age, near five feet in height, of good form, with dark eyes and auburn hair. When first suspected and arrested, she told several different stories but finding it useless to conceal anything further, the following true statement of her case is given :-In April last, her husband enlisted as a private in a three months' Pennsylvania regiment. of which she gives the number, now attached to Gen. Banks' column, without the knowledge or consent of his wife: finding his whereabouts, she also enlisted at Harrisburg and was passed by the examining surgeon in that place. She was attached to the same regiment in which her husband was, and as the Colonel of the rogiment was aware of her sex, she was engaged in the capacity of messennassas, and is considerable deafened in conse quence. After the three months' service, she was mustered out and re-enlisted for three years, with her husband.

Her first enlistment wes on the 3d of May, and consequently she has been in service five months, three weeks of which were spent in Camp Curtin near this city. Her sex was known to the following persons in the regiment:—the Colonel, Lieutenant Colonel, Surgeon and Assistant Surgeon, and her husband. The day following her arrest she was taken down to Fort McHenry and confronted with Gen. Dix. She stated that her name was Hattie Martin, but she enlisted under the name of Robinson, which was her maiden name. At the recruiting office in Harrisburg she made known her sex to the examining surgeon, and at her earnest solicitaton he accepted her as a recruit. She is but nineteen years old, and had been married but a short time when she enlisted. Since her sojourn on the Potomac she alleges that her husband grew unkind towards her, which determined her to return to Pennsylvania. After her interview with Gen. Dix she was returned to the Susque hanna House, the ladies of which have been very kind to her, and the deputy provost marshal liberated her from custody. The only difficulty she had while playing the soldier overtook her in Baltimore, she having carefully concealed her sex, except to a few of the regimental officers, who, she states, treated her with marked respect and kindness.

ELECTION RETURNS.—The struggle for place and political power has now been decided. The successful candidates have reason to feel pleased. For the disappointed ones we have a kind regard, and to both we respectfully say, the very best thing you can do is to call at Urich & Bowman's, and poll your votes for a handsome suit of winter clothes.
