

LATER FROM MISSOURI.

The Reasons for Price's Retrograde Movement.

(Correspondence of the St. Louis Republican.) LEXINGTON, MO., Oct. 10.

The plan of Gen. Price, after he captured Lexington was to remain for a time and operate on the north side of the river, and for this purpose on Saturday, the 28th of September, he crossed the river at Lexington with four thousand mounted men, and this force took up their line of march for the railroad, with the view of its total destruction, and then said he would be made among all the Government forces in Northwest Missouri.

Not late in the evening a rebel named Alfred Jones, who had been released as prisoner at the arsenal, where he had taken the oath of allegiance to the United States government, returned from St. Louis to Lexington and reported that the whole country below was alive with troops; that Fremont was after Price, and that Price might prepare for a big fight in a few days. This seemed to raise the courage of Price's men, and they said let Fremont come, they were ready for him.

When Jones announced that General Fremont had 30,000 men, and his only fear was that Price would not make a stand, the latter re-entrusted his order for sending troops to the railroad, and a messenger was immediately despatched after those who had already started across the river. On that night Price made his preparations for a movement southward, and General Rains, it is said, went twenty miles that night on his southern route. It is also believed that Governor Johnson avoided himself of this command as an escort to get himself out of danger.

Price and all his forces left on Monday, the 30th ult.; but his train of baggage wagons, about 1,200 in number, did not get off before Wednesday.

If Price had desired a fight with Fremont he would have taken the Georgetown road, or possibly the Warrenburg road; but instead of this, he has gone on the road leading down the western boundary of this state and the southwest.

I have given a plain narrative of facts as they have transpired here, and if Price does make a stand and give battle, all who are cognizant of his movements will be disappointed. His most intimate friends, however, course a complete back down while the more prudent are soiled with the idea that he has gone to meet McCulloch, who from the most reliable information, is somewhere in Arkansas.

The forces of Price were very large at Lexington, but many of the men were only for the occasion and have gone home. His force was 15,000 to 18,000 when he left Lexington, and as the fact becomes certain that his destination is Arkansas, it will still further decrease.

CAPT. GIBBARD, Oct. 8.—The military authorities, by order of Col. Flummer, of the Eleventh Missouri regiment, commanding this post, have taken possession of the post office at this place, and placed Major Bennett, of the First Iowa regiment, in charge.

St. Louis, Oct. 10.—The State Convention met at the Mercantile Library Hall this morning, and adjourned for want of a quorum. They met again at three o'clock this afternoon, and still being without a quorum, adjourned until to-morrow.

John A. Brownlee, a prominent merchant, and recently President of the board of police commissioners, died to-day.

WHY DON'T THEY ENLIST?—An old song used to ask the question, "why don't the men enlist?" The question now is asked, "why don't the young men enlist?" This question many are asking, forgetting that four-fifths of all the soldiers in our army are young men. However, there are more around us, and in this city several companies could be raised from the ranks of young men, many of whom are out of employment, and to whom time hangs heavily on their hands. Still patriotism hangs fire in their bosoms, or else, like too many, they are anxiously waiting for an officer, forgetting that to be a private in the ranks of an American army is far nobler than to be an officer. Cannot the young men be induced to look at the duty which is theirs, the duty to themselves, to their country and their God, and rally in support of that Union which must and shall be preserved. Street corners are filled with posters calling for volunteers. Able and kind officers have been selected, and now is the accepted time for our young men to win a name that will be lauded in after generations. Up! up! young braves! "your country calls and 'tis your duty to obey."

FIRST EMPLOYMENT OF COAL AS FUEL.—As an evidence of the vast amount of difficulty experienced by introducers of new articles, we may mention a fact in relation to the employment of useful material of coal as fuel. When coal was first introduced into England as fuel, the prejudice against it was so strong that the Commons petitioned the Crown to prohibit the "noxious fuel." A royal proclamation having failed to abate the nuisance, a commission was issued to ascertain who burned coal within the city of London and its neighborhood, and to punish them by fine for the first offence, and by demolition of their furnaces if they persisted in transgressing. A law was finally passed making it a capital offence to burn coal in the city, and only permitting it to be used in the forges in the vicinity. It is stated that among the records in the town of London a document was once found purporting that in the time of Edward I. a man had been tried, convicted, and executed, for the crime of burning coal in London. It took three centuries to entirely efface this prejudice.

NOTICE TO MILITARY OFFICERS.—Several packages of election returns have been thrown in this office without the postage being paid on the same. The Postmaster cannot forward them without the payment of such postage as may be due thereon. The persons who have deposited them will therefore please call at once and pay postage on the same, otherwise they will be sent to the dead letter office at Washington, and the returns may defeat their intended object. GEO. BERGMER, P. M.

THE PREACHERS' REGIMENT.—The St. Helena (Ark.) Shield says: "A regiment of troops from the southern part of the State passed up last Sunday, en route for the seat of war, that should properly be called the Preachers' Regiment.—The Colonel, Bradley, from Pine Bluff, is a Methodist minister, and besides him there are no less than eight preachers—one of whom is over seventy years of age." To which the Pocahontas (Ark.) Herald responds: "Oh, no, Mr. Shield, Col. Bradley's regiment is not entitled to the name of the 'Preachers' Regiment.'" Col. McCarter's regiment, now organizing at this place, has forty-two preachers in it now, and will have over fifty when organized. Hence we claim the title for Col. McCarter."

THE OFFICIAL RETURNS.—The return judges of the several wards and townships of the county convened at the Court House in this city, at ten o'clock this morning. Daniel Snyder of this city was appointed President, and Chas. A. Snyder, of this city, and David Hoffman, of Millersburg, officiated as clerks. The result of the meeting is given in another part of this evening's TELEGRAPH, including the votes polled by the volunteers, which latter, however, were not counted, as the law requires this to be done on "the second Tuesday of November next after the election," to which time the judges adjourned. For all practical purposes, however, the result as given in the table, is complete, and may be taken as the official vote of the county—the vote polled by the volunteers having been compiled from the official records in the Prothonotaries' office.

OVER.—The election is over, and our citizen will once more attend to their usual occupations, which had been temporarily laid aside to attend to political matters. So far as we are concerned we are glad that it is past—we always feel a relief when we have got rid of the trouble of hunting up returns. Some good people have thought that we should have no politics in these troublous times,—but others have thought differently, and the latter having apparently the majority, we think that disposes of the matter. They have shown that they can vote and fight without neglecting either duty. While, however, we congratulate ourselves that the election is over, we trust that there will be no slackening off in the endeavors to bring our civil war to a speedy conclusion. Let every one who can do so—every healthy able-bodied man—go into the army. Now that the weather is so favorable, and we have no doubt but we shall soon have the glorious satisfaction to state that the war is over! A consummation so devoutly to be wished for, would soon set us to rights again, and among the rest, hard times would soon be over too.

POLICE.—Mayor's Court.—J. W. Dolan, a deplaited looking individual, was arraigned for being drunk and disorderly. Having no "spoons" to sock he was reprimanded and discharged. Dan. Fitzpatrick—troubled with the same complaint—was discharged. Herman Dysart—same indisposition—sent on his winding way, with an injunction to sin no more.

William alias Buck Anderson—black as the ace of spades—was up on complaint of imbibing tanglefoot to such a degree as left his running gear in rather a limber condition. This being the second offence lately committed by Buck, he was mulct in a fine. Jim Phillips—another knotty headed smoke—was up for being drunk and fighting, in which he came out second best, as his upper lip looked very much like a huge bull liver. He was let off by paying costs.

Fred Axer and Mike Duffield—two worshippers at the shrine of Bacchus—were arraigned for drunkenness, and plead guilty. They promised to join the army and were discharged. Hen. Myers and Jerry Johnson—two more of the "called population"—were up for kicking up a shin dig and letting things rip miscellaneously. They were each fined.

Sarah Hall—a colored female—took it into her head to interfere with the police in the discharge of their duty, for which she was arrested. Dismissed with a reprimand.

Catherine Bradley—one of the frail sisterhood from the "Emerald Isle"—was up on account of taking too many drapes of the crater, thereby becoming oblivious to all surrounding objects. Let off by promising to mend her ways.

Sam. Overton and Charley Duff were charged with disorderly conduct. Both were remanded to the Lock-Up for further hearing.

Mrs. Chester was fined for violating the ordinance in reference to buying before market hours. Jake Jones, Bill Watkins and several other of the darkeys were up on a charge of engaging in a pugilistic encounter within the city limits. Properly attended to.

Before Alderman Kline.—Tom. Bennet was charged with committing an assault and battery on the child of one Mary Kane. Warrant out for his arrest.

James Deidy, John Whiskey and Jno. M. Carrol, were arraigned for drunkenness and sent to prison.

Nelson Wilson was charged with threatening Caroline Christy. Bound over to answer.

Barbara Shimley and Josephine Ferick, were arraigned for riotous conduct. Sent to prison.

John Bayer was charged with assault and battery on Mary Snyder. Bound over to answer.

ELUTION RETURNS.—The struggle for place and political power has now been decided. The successful candidates have reason to feel pleased. For the disappointed ones we have a kind regard, and to both we respectfully say, the very best thing you can do is to call at Ulrich & Bowman's, and poll your votes for a handsome suit of winter clothes. South east corner of Front and Market streets.

THE FIRST CITY ZOUAVES.—The last number of the Lebanon Courier in alluding to the recent visit of the First City Zouaves to that ancient borough, says that "they are a soldierly body of young men, and were admitted for their fine appearance and perfection in drill."

At a meeting of the "First City Zouaves," held at their armory, October 6, 1861, it was unanimously agreed to return the thanks of the company to the citizens of Lebanon for the kind and cordial treatment they received during their short stay in their midst; and whilst they feel grateful to all—they cannot let the occasion pass without making special mention of Dr. Behm, Col. Johnson, Mr. Kuhle and family, Adjutant Lewis, Mr. J. A. Borer and lady and the managers of the fair grounds. On motion made and agreed to, the Secretary was requested to send a copy to the Lebanon Courier for publication. GEO. W. PARSONS, Sec'y.

THE FOUNTAIN HAIR BRUSH.—The fountain in this patent toilet implement consists of a small, circular, silver-plated reservoir, let into the back of the brush, and furnished underneath with a small perforated nozzle, through which, by pressing a spring on the top, the fluid in the reservoir, whatever it may be, is lightly sprayed into the centre of the brush, which, being made of softer hair, receives it like a sponge, without a particle of waste. The little tank or reservoir is perfectly tight, this result being secured by a contrivance as simple and as perfect as a Croton faucet. There is no difficulty in introducing the fluid into the fountain, and when once in, it cannot escape, except at the will of the user, and by pressure on the spring, which discharges it into the bristles. For sale at Keller's Drug and Fancy store, No. 91 Market street. See advertisement.

HARRISBURGERS IN BATTLE.—Information has been received here that Mr. Henry Chayne, a native of this city, has been seriously wounded in one of the recent battles against the rebels in Western Virginia. Mr. Chayne is a "typo" by profession, having learned his trade, we believe, in the office of the State Capital Gazette. When the rebellion commenced he was working at Cincinnati, and was one of the first to respond to the call of his country for volunteers. We earnestly hope that his wounds are not of such a nature as to prevent his recovery and restoration to the ranks, and that he may ultimately return among his relatives and friends with his "brows bound with victorious laurels."

Mr. James Mitchell, also a native of this city, recently passed through here en route to the Carlisle barracks. Mr. Mitchell was one of the three months' volunteers under Gen. McClellan, and participated in all the battles gained by that distinguished officer over the rebels in Western Virginia. He remained in the ranks forty days after his term of enlistment had expired, and subsequently entered the regular army as a private, in which he is now serving.

COFFEE THAT IS BEATEN IN A MORTAR.—It is not generally known that coffee which has been beaten, is better than that which has been ground. Such, however, is the fact; and in his brief article on the subject, Savarin, gives what he considers the reasons for the difference. As he remarks, a mere decoction of green coffee is a most insipid drink, but carbonization develops the aroma, and an oil, which is the peculiarity of the coffee we drink. He agrees with other writers, that the Turks excel in this. They employ no mills, but beat the berry with wooden pestles in mortars. When long used, these pestles become precious, and bring great prices. He determined by actual experiment which of the two methods was the best. He burned carefully a pound of good Mocha, and separated it into two equal portions. The one was passed through the mill, the other beaten after the Turkish fashion in a mortar. He made coffee of each. Taking equal weights of each and pouring on an equal weight of boiling boiling water, he treated them both precisely alike. He tasted the coffee himself and caused other competent judges to do so. The unanimous opinion was that coffee beaten in a mortar was far better than that ground in a mill.

INTERCOURSE AT THE TABLE.—To meet at the breakfast table father, mother, children, all well, ought to be a happiness to any heart; it should be a source of humble gratitude, and should wake up the warmest feelings of our nature. Shame upon the contemptible and low bred cur, whether parent or child, that can ever come to the breakfast table, where the family have met in health, only to frown and whine, and growl, and fret. It is prima facie evidence of a mean, and groveling, and selfish, and degraded nature, whenever the churl may have sprung. Nor is it less reprehensible to make such exhibitions at the tea-table; for before the morning comes some of the circle may be stricken with some deadly disease, to gather round that table no again forever.

Children in good health, if left to themselves at the table, become, after a few mouthfuls, garrulous and noisy, but if within at all reasonable or bearable bounds it is better to let them alone, they eat less, because they do not eat so rapidly as if compelled to keep silent, while the very exhilaration of spirits quickens the circulation of the vital fluids, and energizes digestion and assimilation. The extremes of society continuously meet in this regard. The tables of the rich and the nobles of England are models of mirth, wit and bonhomie; it takes hours to get through a repast, and they live long. If anybody will look in upon the negroes of a well-to-do family in Kentucky while at their meals, they cannot but be impressed with the perfect abundance of jabber, cachination and mirth; it seems as if they could talk all day, and they live long. It follows then, that at the family table all should meet, and do it habitually, to make a common interchange of highbred courtesies, of warm affections, of cheering mirthfulness, and that generosity of nature which lifts us above the brutes which perish, promotive as these things are of good digestion, high health and long life.
