HARRISBURG, PA. Saturday Morning, October 19, 1861.

MOVEMENTS OF THE SECRETARY OF WAR.

The Pittsburg Gazette of Thursday last says that the Secretary of War, Hon. Simon Cameron, accompanied by Adjutant General Thomas arrived in that city on Tuesday morning at 3 o'clock, on a brief tour, connected with the interests of the government. We were pleased to see that, notwithstanding the care of state, together with the extraordinary pressure of business developing upon the War Department, General Cameron is looking well. Although traveling all Tuesday night, he was up in the morning with the sun, full of vigor, and after an early breakfast at the Monongahela House, took a carriage, accompanied by his Honor, Mayor Wilson, Hon. J. M. Kirkpatrick and Thomas McConnell, Esq., and after a brief visit to the Arsenal, made a close personal examination of the Fort, Pitt Foundry, with which he appeared to be highly gratified.

After a drive through our principal streets, the General returned to the Monongahela House, where he was visited by a number of prominent citizens. The party left for Louisville and the West, and South on the 12.25 train. This trip of the Secretary of War is significant of the vigor and the activity of the government. The West will not be overlooked.

We norm it is not true, as reported, that Gov. Curtin has declared he will withhold a commission from a popular and capable Colonel of one of the Pennsylvania regiments now at Washington, because of some rash expression of that officer during the three months' service, which the Governor regarded as disrespectful to himself. We are disposed to make every allowance for the difficulties occasioned to the State is unthorities by the haste in which the three months' enlistments were required to be prepared for the enlistments were required to be prepared for the field, and the people also seem inclined to "let by-gones be by-gones." but the forgetfulness of past quarrels and mistakes cannot be all on one side. — Pittsburg Despatch.

We do not understand exactly to whom the Pittsburg Despatch alludes in the above whining paragraph, but we do know that a Colonel hailofficer, the Commander-in-Chief of Pennsylvamonths service, in a manner most disgraceful Colonel aforesaid. In justice to the dignity of such a man is not worthy of much recognition tion if the swould mot; repeat the slander he once uttered were he again as kindly sistant Adjutant General Chambe and ever prompt to vindicate it from attack from any source. It is for us to say whether mitted the case, for direction to the Supreme the vilest traducers of his personal and political Court character shall be the recipients of his official favor. We will assure the Disputch of one fact, private wrongs to embarrass the public service.

RUSSEL OF THE TOOLS.—His recent letters exhibit a marked change in his opinions. He at last begins to see that we of the north have an bonest quarrel before us, and brave arms to fight it out; that there is a reality in the exhibition of national enthusiasm; that we have people, and our future as a nation. This con computed with the original writ and produced version of Mr. Russel is, therefore, a gratifyly Staoy. sign, for when our enemies begin to acknowledge our justice and power we may easily feel our importance as a nati

THE PENNSYLVANIA CONTEMPT CASE. The Court, giving its decision in the recent case of contempt, wherein General Graham of logg Pennsylvania was respondent and the corpus delicti consisted in the detention of a minor within the camp of the Twenty-third Pennsylvania regiment after a decree of Court releasing him, referred to "the example of Chancellor size Kent in the case of Commodore Chauncey and General Lewis."

The case thus alluded to by the Court dates in the year 1813, when a commissioner of the ing from Pennsylvania spoke of his superior Supreme Court of New York directed a writ of habeas corpus to Isaac Chauncey, then commandnia's forces, while they were in the three ing our federal squadron on Lake Ontariou to Morgan Lewis, commandant at the military to the Governor, the commonwealth and the station of Sackett's Harbor, and to all their subordinate officers, requiring them to produce the Commander in Chief, the discipline of the before the said commissioner the body of Samuel army, and the respectof one soldier for another, Stacy. General Lewis made return to the writ, asserting that Stacy was not "in his custody." at the hands of Goy. Curtin, and we ques Royal Torrey, Provost Marshall, returned that he held Stacy by virtue of a warrant from Astreated as was the treatment he formerly reling him to receive Stack incustody of the Proceived at the hands of the Governor. We do vost Guard, from Commodore Chauncey, who not prespine to speak, by authority on this sub- charged him with treasen against the United ject, and wet we must do Gov. Curtin the justice States, committed within the territory of the of declaring that he is jealous of his reputation, King of Great Britain. Affidavits were filed with these returns, and the commissioner sub-desired in Louis of teams Chancellor Kent gave his opinion that the return of General Lewis was had on the face of however, that the Governor will not allow his it, being evidently evasive, and that if he meant to excuse himself, he should have said that On this, let the bullying Colonel aforesaid rest Stacy was "not in his possession or power." Furthermore, that Stacy's detention under the Adjutant General's order could be considered as nothing but the act of General Lewis. The return of the latter was therefore a contempt of Court the writ had been intentionally disregarded-and accordingly an attachment was issued against General Lewis, with the alternacommitted our honor to the issue, and that on tive of his privilege to have it converted into that issue we have staked our prosperity as a an order to show cause, if he immediately

We have visited most of the flowing wells of oil creek, and have published statements of sand four hundred barrels of control of their yield which many of our readers, we have no doubt, thought bordered on the incredible bit little diminution.
