WANTED-An active young man, who can late a good and rapid hand. None others need Jy Address CLERK, Harrisburg, Pa.

Who is SHE?--The Baltimore Sun says that the tanale volume r recently arrested in that and anbsequently discharged by promising to resume her proper habiliaments, was a resicent of this city.

A Boy IN SEARCH OF HIS MOTHER .--- A bright about how about nine or ten years of age was othere on Fri ay by the police of Lancaster orving represented that his mother was living a one of the taverns of this city. The lad is new at the residence of one of the porters of the the ingardner House, anxiously awaiting the appenance of his mother.

THE FOUNTAIN HAIR BRUSH .- The Fountain liair brush is guaranteed to effect a saving of one half in the use of all hair washes, oils, &c., as compared with any and every other means of applying them. As some of these articles a matter of ne small moment. For sale at street Scendvertisement.

SHOCKING RAILBOAD ACCIDENT. --- A man named John Weitzell, employed as a watchman on the Tennsylvania Railroad at the small bridge crossing the mouth of Paxton creek, below this city, was discovered at an early hour Saturdaymorning iver, on the track near that place, his body cut Becally in half. A lantern was found near the and it is supposed that in attending to his that of signaling either the fast line east i - 'clock Saturday morning, or the express , west at 2.35 A. M., that "all was right," wes struck by a train approaching from an site direction. The deceased leaves a wife children, who reside in Moyerstown, at the al of the city Alderman Kline, being d is d of the circumstance, summoned a jury inquest, who rendered a verdict in accordance with the facts.

THE CAMP POST-OFFICES .- A visit to the postes at Camps Cameron and Curtin, shortly the arrival of the mail bags from the city . is very interesting. When it is announced the "mail has arrived." crowds assemble and the offices to receive news from the loved nes at home; and it is truly painful to observe to survictly depicted on various faces. A gleam of happiness flashes over the countenance of the lacky recipient of the wished for letter, while the d suppointed one betrays in corresponding depression. If wives, fathers, mothers, brothers, and sisters, knew what a consolation it is to the poor volunteer, deprived of the sacred associations of home, to hear from them, how prompt would be their answers? How dearly is everything prized coming from home ? The d -energeotype of a loved one is shown around infinite satisfaction. A little keep-sake, suble because of its associations, is exhibited in the soldier to his mess-matcs. The smoothwed boy can be seen writing to an aged pany, the Greider Cavalry, now in Camp Cameron. Young men desirous of entering this and efficient officer.

THE MARKET HOURS -The Mayor has signed the ordinance of council fixing the market hours between the hours of 44 and 8 o'clock A. M. during the months of April, May, June, July, August and September, and between 5 and 9 o'clock A. M. during the residue of the year. The ordinance, therefore, is now operative, and will go into effect next Wednesday morning

SLEEP AFTER DINNER. -- The Cornhill Magazine asks and answers the question—Is sleep after dinner a good thing? On the part of some persons of weak digestion it seems to be so. The habit should not be acquired without an attempt to ward off the necessity by a reduction of the amount of food. If this have unfavorable effects, an ample compensation for the time given to a short post prandial sleep may be obtained by carlier wakefulness in the morning. On the other hand, Dr. Beaumont found, in the case of St. Martin, that digestion was promoted by moderate exercise, such as walking, imme, diately following the meal. In all cases experience must decide.

A HEAVY BUSINESS -The extensive transportation facilities of the Pennsylvania Railroad are now taxed to their utmost capacity. Some cost from one to two dollars per bottle, this is 214 engines, 70 passenger cars and over 3,000 freight cars are constantly employed in carrying adder's Pug and Fancy Store, No. 91 Market passengers and freight. The shipment of stock over this line is greater than that of any other in the country. It appears almost impossible to prevent accidents to all the trains, when there are so many on the road, yet this thoroughfare has been singularly free from accidents endangering the lives of travelers, on passenger trains, and but few of any account on freight trains. This will account, partly, for the increased business of the road. Travelers and shippers always choose the safest and most speedy route. The receipts of the road for the year ending on the first inst., was over $7,-000.000.

THE MATHODISTS AND THE WAR .-- Right Rev. Bishop Ames, of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Indiana, lately advised his son, a young man of eighteen years, to enlist for the war, and has expressed a determination to spend the winter in camp himself. The Conferences will soon be over, when he will have a few months release from official duties, which he proposes thus to devote to the moral and religious interests of the soldiers. He is one of the most able and popular men of the West, and his spirit is large. ly shared by the ministers with whom he is associated. At the late session of the Illinois Conference, which embraces but a small portion of the State, not less than ten clergymen received appointments as chaplains to the army, they have already been chosen to fill that position by the proper authorities. The other Western Conferences are giving some of their

THE STUMBLING BLOCKS .--- We are waiting anxiously for the "declaration of war" promised some time ago by our Chief of Police against the projecting "pavement washers" in various parts of our city. Day and night the unwary pedestrians are constantly tumbling over them. Dignified gents, who walk with when their toes come in contact with these obnether. In fact there are many ways devised trusive and iron-hearted nuisance. Pretty lato commune, as it were, with home-to bring dies stub their little gaiters and emit shrill the me as near as possible to the camp. These screams as their corns cry out with agony. Fat rough and plainly insane, children such as some feelings are not contined to the sensitive or the serving maids spill their baskets of potatoes and we have met would have their poor embryo plates of butter over them. Children trip when they pass them, and make involuntary acrobats of themselves, with specimens of ground and individuals shock our feelings by giving vent to audible curses when they come in contact, with them at all hours of the day and night. In human natur' will be human natur' all the world over, and if some folks 'pears to be better than some other folks, or if some places gets a better name than some other places, it's only because their evil doin's aint found out," and the old lady subsided in her cup of tea, happy in her great joy from being saved the reputation of our wicked city by so weighty a remark.

ARRIVAL OF NEW GOODS, LARCE ASSORTMENT We have now on hand one of the best select AN ELOPEMENT .- The depravity of the human race," said Mrs. Gababout the other evening, as, at the tea-table, with elbows on the board before her and tea cup raised half way to her service cannot enlist under a more competent skinny lips, she listened with breathless attention to the following narrative of facts, "is melancholy to think on. I often sigh as I contemplate it, but howsomever, as I tell our minister.

In one of our principal thoroughfares resides gentleman who had a wife-a young and pretty one; but she has run away. She was represented as being a bewitching lady, whose glossy ringlets swept in profusion over as lovely a nick and pair of shoulders as ever were allowed to peep above a piece of calico; with eyes that shone like bright stars set in darkest night, twinkling gaily, and one perhaps with a slight leer towards a nose the most perfect ever chisselled from Parian marble; with cheeks whose bloom rivalled the blushing peach; with toeth which shone like an increase of lagity where heath will be used in the blushing beach and the shone like an increase of lagity where heath will be the blushing beach at th rows of pearls as the cherry lips, wreathed in weetest smiles, parted to emit her silvery voice. This was the heroine. The hero-that is the tellow who ran away with her-is a mechanic, who leaves his wife and two small children to mourn his untimely end. It was a clear case of "love at first sight"-the guilty parties saw each other, and both might have exclaimed with the Roman General ''veni vidi vici '' In due course of time our hero became a frequent visitor at the house of his "second love" — was introduced to her too confiding husband-drank ten, played checkers, smoked "bryer-root," and was considered altogether about as clever a "human" as one would meet with in a month of Sundays. But tempus fugit ; our hero had business to transact in some western city. The day of his departure arrives; and his last visit of course must be to the house of his dear friends that occupied by the aforementioned " confiding husband." This latter personage apologized for the temporary absence of his wife, who, he said, had "just gone to the store and would certainly be back in a few moments." Our hero, however, replied that it would be impossible for him to wait longer, as he might be left by the train. They then shook hands heartily, wished each other all kinds of good luck and parted. The confiding husband waited anxiously for the return of his wife from the store ; but she came not. How he ascertained where she was, we will not relate, nor how he threatened vengeance upon his quondam friend, and vowed he would marry again the very first woman who would have him, but will leave the matter here, recorded for the benefit of those who are inclined to follow in the steps of the derilict wife and her illustrious friend, the good looking mechanic.

CAMP CAMERON .--- Comparatively few of our citizens have any idea what a busy, bustling, noisy, little community is congregated within the limits of Camp Cameron, a mile or two east of our city. Fifteen hundred volunteers, exhibiting nearly as many different inclinations -some religious, others irreverant-some educated, others un accreci-all forming one of Uncle Sam's "happy tatailies," conforming to the same discipline, and engaged in the same just and holy cause. All phases of society are and education denote the gentleman, to the individual whose amoution soars no higher than a full stomach and e od pair of shoes. Pass along the streets - (the passages between the rows of tents are so termed)-and you will hear the soul-inspiring strains of sacred music issuing from one tent, and a few feet in advance, the coarse and vulgar jest, or the light and lascivious song.

will find many counterparts in Camp Cameron. The phrenologist will find here an extensive field for his explorations; the physiognomist, too, will point with triumph to the prisoners in the guard house, as proof positive of the infallibility of his science. The repulsive countenance, indicating insubordination and ferocity painful to contemplate--the angry expressions interningled with oaths sufficiently blasphemons, if used ir operation, "to start a spirit," explain the care in their incarceration. Notwithstanding all these varied association sof character, however the fact is clearly demonstrated a Camp Cancerne, that a man can be religious, and do right on h. re, and though the general frivioity or profanity, still there are many upright, religious men in the ranks, ready to comb.t both the Evil One and the enemies of our country. MORE ABOUT THE "FEMALE SOLDIER" WHO REPORTED THE MURDEROUS ATTRACT ON COLONEL KNITE.—The female soldier whose arrest in Baltimore last Saturday was noticed in Thursday's TELEGRAPH, must not be confounded with the one arrested in that city some days previous. who originated the report of the attempted assassination of Col. Knipe, also published in the represented-from the one whose deportment TELEGRAPH. They are entirely different personages.

> In regard to this latter lady, and her romantic adventure among the troops on the Potomac. we have been able to obtain the following version of the affair, furnished by a captain of one of the companies of the 46th Penna. regiment. It will be observed that it differs somewhat from our previous account:

At Camp Kaloramo, Washington city, a hos-pital nurse was wanted. A choice was soon made from this company, furnishing recruits from Georgetown—one of the enlisted was the lucky one for the position. The choice was made with much regard for the mild, youthful and amiable disposition and the winning manners of the one appointed. The nurse, from kind and pleasing manners, soon made hosts of friends, and had a large acquaintance in the regiment; was known by the name of Charlie; but was always addressed Doctor. He was very active, very communicative, knew how to extract teeth, prescribe, &c. In fact with all pertaining to the department of nurse, and even surgery, he was perfectly conversant. Charlie was graceful, good address, and rather under the medium height, and made a neat and tidy looking soldier, chewed and smoked the best tobac-

tion to a "smile" of first rate liquor. Charlie got on a high, however, a few days ago, as good looking and amiable young men from our young friend R. F., several other articles from others until a complete outfit of citand do right or here, and though the general tenor of our remarks indicate a prevalence of findate on the second distribution of the colonel of the 46th regiment, izen's clothes had been donned ; went to a farm who had been abot by a private in the regiment, who had been abot by a private in the regiment —the buil also taking effect in his own hand, (already slung in a bandage,) desired to go to Rockville, and after borrowing a wagon and a horse, proceeded on his journey where a rewater as PATENO Malola guilant o FOUNTAIN HAIR-BRUSH. It dresses the hair without solling the fingers. It effects a saving of one-half in the use of hair prepartions. It does away with greasy hair oil bottles, It is handsomer article than the common hair brush. It is perfectly stear, and cannot spill over in the truck r on the toilet.

It carries enough of any preparation to last for a voyage or a long journey. Its price is moderate, and it saves its own cost in three months. For sale at Keller's Drug and Fancy Store, 91 Market street two doors east of Fourth street, south side. ort10
