FIGHT BETWEEN FEMALES.—An interesting fisticuff is said to have taken place about 9 o'clock ing, at which interesting addresses were deliverlast night near the reservoir, between two of ed Revs. Parson and Fink. that class of females whom Solomon has described as having "much fair speech" and all that sort of thing. It appears that both of the Amasons love a certain young man, who, flattered at the attentions of his sweathearts, has been playing the deuce with their hearts. Yester- higher powers which are ordained of God, exday afternoon the females discovered that they were rivals and agreed to fight for the possession of their soul's idol. The cause of the dif- the churches to send them material aid, in the ficulty hearing of the affair succeeded in restoring quiet by telling the females that he loved both of them. As a matter of course, each of them fancied she was the loved one, and there the matter ended for the present. Last evening, however, the young man accepted an invitation from one of the females to have a stew of oysters at one of our restaurants of questionable repute, which coming to the ear of the other female, the quarrel was renewed and the gauntlet again thrown down. The gage was accepted, and the parties met near the reservoir, and at it they went with the following result: Round No. 1-Both parties came up to the scratch in fine style. Mary led off with her left duke and planted a stunner on the smeller of Catharine, drawing the "rosy." First blood claimed for Mary. Round No. 2-Catharine, notwithstanding the claret trickling from her beak, was prompt to the call of time, and watching a favorable opportunity, let fly a savage blow, which greatly damaged the left sky-light of Mary. The whack somewhat surprised the latter, as she retreated a few feet, wondering who had struck her. Before she recovered from her astonishment, her adversary sailed in and planted a stunner with her right bunch of fives square on Mary's ivories. This appeared to astonish Mary more than ever, as she uttered a yell of pain and went down into the gutter. Twenty to one "secesh treasury shinplaster" was now offered on Catharine, but found no takers. Round No. 3-Mary appeared on the curbstone somewhat groggy; her optic was closed, while her nose to use a common pharase, was "spread all over her face." Both parties extended their grapplers with great force, Germantown, and also many in Philadelphia. heard that the police were coming, when the Rev. M. For the Ladies.—Red kid slippers with high black heels, and garniture of black velvet or lace, are "all the go" in New York. They are intended for walking shoes, and are very striking and distingue with black dress and flame colored kid gloves. How soon shall we have hese fiery shoes on the streets of Harrisburg?

NEW COUNTERFEITS.—Our readers should be on a sharp look out for new and dangerous counterfeit silver coins which have made their Hall this evening. Tickets fifty cents, to be appearance in this city within a few days. Some quarters were passed at one of our stores yester day, which are so well executed as to deceive some of the best judges. As there is reason to blanks, handsomely printed on fine white paper, | believe that there are some "shovers" of this according to the prescribed rule, will be for spurious coin not far off, storekeepers and others should keep a sharp lookout.

The same word, and for the service, which will most likely be attached to same purpose, is used all the world over, and originated among the eastern nations, where it was used as a war cry, from the belief that every man who died in battle for his country, went to Heaven. It is derived from the Sclavonic word Hu raj, which means "To Paradise."

notice what an influence the weather has upon different people. We might suppose mankind to be a sort of cloud-children, so susceptible are they to atmospheric influences. It is a very another day; but we cannot escape from these temperaments of ours, try as we will. Here we sheets, gummed at one end, and adapted to any there is no escape, save by getting out from our are, penned up in certain conditions from which try. Let us show by these simple gifts that by being itself. Even so trifling a circumstance as the freshness or the chilliness of the air controls us like a tyrant. If the sun smiles out through the clouds upon us, we are happy; if the sky is overcast with clouds, we are particularly inclined to be miserable. Our spirits go up when the weather is fine, and down when it changes. Fine air stimulates a person to goodness. He must be a rogue, indeed, who can commit a crime in the flush of a bright June morning, and he must be a stock or stone, who is not in-

THE EXCITEMENT OF PICKET DUTY.-For gen uine excitement, in which every quality of soldierly character is kept on the qui vive there is no position like that of the picket. Placed on the outposts of our lines, and often within close rifle shot of the enemy's pickets, each watching for the other, and trying to conceal himself from view, the greatest vigilance, caution and care is called for, lest the picket unconsciously become a mark for a hidden enemy's aim. If shot is fired by an unseen hand, he must, by rapid deduction from the loudness of the report, its direction and perhaps a little smoke, almost intuitively conclude where his enemy is concealed, and in sending his compliments back. in the form of a Minie bullet, hope that his enemy, if not silenced, will at least conclude that it is better not to invite any further hostility. Then he is compelled to keep ears and eyes open for the sudden approach of any superior force, perhaps mounted, who, with a spirit of dare-devil adventure, surround him and his half-dozen companions, to carry them off as prisoners of war. How to extricate themselves from such a position, when once in it, sharpens human ingenuity and develops courage to their utmost point, and bravery, skill and strategy have to make up for want of numbers. The excitement of months in times THE APPROACH OF WINTER. - The falling of peace is compressed into a day when on picket in time of war, and an experience with DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS most men only sharpens the desire for more.

For our Sick Soldiers.—Miss Dix has sent forth word that there are many articles which would be quite acceptable in the hospitals of the army, among which are jellies, dried and preserved fruits, besides blankets and woolen socks, while she appeals in touching terms to the relief of the wounded and sick. We would suggest that those of our families whe have these dainties and necessities should spare a portion to the sick of our army. There is not a family but who could forego a day's indulgence in preserves, etc., and give the same to the gallant men who are bearing our burdens and fighting our battles. Not only could our city in the sick gelice that the desire for more.

Board Reduced to $2 per Day.

SINCE the opening of this vast and commodious Hot i, in 1844, it has been the single endeavor of the proprietors to make it the most sumptuous, convenient and comfortable bome for the citizen and stranger on this side the Atlantic.

And whatever has seemed likely to administer to the comfort of its guests they have endeavored, without regard to cost, to provide, and to combine all the elements of individual and social enjoyment which modern art has invented, and modern tasts approved; and the patronage which it has commanded during the past six years is a gratifying proof that their efforts have been appreciated.

To meet the exigencies of the times, when all are re-quired to practice the most rigid economy, the under Have Reduced the Price of Board to

Two Dollars iper Day, at the same abating none of the luxuries with which their table has hitherto been supplied. TREADWELL, WHITCOMS & CO. New York, Sept. 2, 1861.—sep9-d3m*
