and contributes financially to the support of the government. Beyond Philadelphia, there are counties in the commonwealth which have forwarded entire regiments, while along our borders, as we show in figures, the enlistments for other States were immense. Taken altogether, we submit this statement with pride, because it places Pennsylvania in the position justly her due, of having, first, given birth to the Declaration of Independence, second, that the convention to form the Constitution was held within her limits, and now she sends forth from her midst, and from among her bravest and most hardy sons, a larger force to sustain the Declaration of Independence and vindicate the Constitution and laws, than has been contributed by any other commonwealth in the Union.

WHAT WILL THE WINTER PRODUCE? Many people are already croaking in anticipation of a hard winter. Many others are looking forward to the chances of speculation on "bailing" or "bearing" in the stock market, and the profits usual in "hard times," depreciating every description of stocks and national securities, destroying the value of certain stocks, and by a hundred different means impairing public credit and individual confidence. To all these threatened dangers, there is but one invulnerable shield of protection, and that is, the resources of the rich and the industry of the poor. The resources of the rich are diminished, and their opportunities for display circumscribed. In these results the country will not be injured, because the mere failure of the rich had little to do with their wants and desires gratified. Does not affect trade to any further extent than the influence the future may have on a certain branch of industry, while the labor thus diminished will be able to find employment in other and more profitable engagements. What we now desire to look in the face, is the anticipation of "a hard winter for the poor." While most of the ordinary mechanical business is depressed, and manufacturers do not intend to throw into the market or stock in their warehouses any large quantities of goods, this war has created demands and necessities which will give labor to hundreds and thousands of men. Besides the sick and wounded and thousands who are bearing arms as soldiers. In the very best of times, thousands of people are out of employment in the west, north and east, simply because they will not work. A large number of these have been induced to enlist by the enthusiasm of the hour, and their enlistment creates a want which their idleness never produced, and which can only be supplied by the industrious whose business so far has prevented them from taking up arms in defence of their country, but who are ready at any time to enter the ranks and do battle unto death for the cause of right, liberty and religion. In this manner the hard times which so many anticipate will be farther off as the winter approaches, than they were when the rebels showed their horrid fronts on the Potomac, and we will not be disappointed if the approaching winter produces more labor for those now unemployed than has ever been afforded for the "industrial classes" of the country.

THE SECRETARY OF WAR. The Eagle, the organ of the gallant Republicans of Northern Pennsylvania, in its last issue, alludes very justly to the immense responsibility and labor of the Secretary of War. Few people in the Union can properly appreciate or understand the extent of these duties. A few people can properly estimate their value, and we will only be able to comprehend the vastness of the work now being discharged by Gen. Cameron when the history of this wicked rebellion is fairly written. We extract a paragraph from the article in the Eagle as follows: "The mountain of work and responsibility for the Secretary of War in the present condition of the country is enough to terrify any man who has not the great energy and almost matchless administrative talent of Gen. Cameron. His eye must extend over and take in all the operations and wants of our huge army, spread as it is almost over a continent. He is the heart which sends the vitalizing life blood throughout the whole system of the army, from the officers in the office and the field to the smallest minutia of preparation and provision. He is the link which binds the War Department, he found it in the worst possible condition, now it is one of the most complete, grand and mighty departments of the world. Its successful administration has silenced cavillers, while it has stricken terror to the hearts of the enemies of the country."

BY TELEGRAPH. From our Evening Edition of Saturday. Latest from California. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 25. The announcement has just been made of the completion of the last link in the overland telegraph, the Pacific to the Atlantic sends greeting, and may both oceans be dry before a foot of all the land that lies between them shall be all to any other than our united country. Nothing of importance has transpired in California during the past week. The steamer Omaha sailed on the 21st inst., carrying one million dollars in treasure—$870,000 being for New York. Among the passengers are Gen. Sumner, Senator Nesmith, Col. Mercham, Captains Judd, Briggs, Stewart, Hendrickson and Koke, Lieutenants Upham, Gillis, Williston, Sinclair, Warner, Hardin, Danby and Egan, all of the U. S. Army, Capt. Green, of the U. S. Navy. Also, several engineers, ex-Senators Gwin and Calhoun, and Benjamin left somewhat quietly in the same steamer, their names having been withheld from publication in the passenger list. Four hundred and forty regular troops and 10,000 stand of arms were forwarded in the same steamer. LATER FROM MISSOURI. MORE ABOUT THE FIGHT AT FREDERICKTOWN. The Rebel Army Demoralized. Col. Plummer has returned with his command to Cape Girardeau. Col. Garlin now occupies Fredericktown with a regiment of infantry, a squadron of cavalry, and two pieces of artillery. The rebels were pursued twenty-two miles beyond Fredericktown on the Greenville road, when the chase was abandoned. They are probably at Greenville now, but they are completely demoralized and will doubtless continue their retreat. The detail sent out to bury the dead after the battle reported near two hundred of the rebels killed and left on the field. Our loss was six killed and about forty wounded. One mortally. DIRECT TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION WITH THE PACIFIC. Reply of Mayor Wood to the Mayor of San Francisco. NEW YORK, Oct. 25. Mayor Wood returned the following reply to the Mayor of San Francisco: "New York returns her greetings to San Francisco. Let the union thus happily consummated between them, ever remain unimpaired.—The Union forever, whether between the East and the West or the North and South—let it be continued and preserved."
