Bigins, and all Skin Diseases.

Oakland, Ind., 6th Juue, 1859.

J. C. Athe & Co., Gents: I feel it my duty to acknowledge what your Sarsaparlia has done for me. Having inherited a Scrofelius infection, I have suffered from it in various ways for years. Sometimes it burst out in ward and distressed me at the stomach. Two years ago it broke out on my head and covered my scalp and ears with one sore, which was painful and loathsome beyond description. I tried many medicines and several physicians, but without much relief from any thing. In fact, the disorder grew worse. At length I was rejoiced to read in the Gospel Messenger that you had prepared an alternative (carsaparilla,) for I knew from your reputation that any thing you made must be good. I senso to Choinnati and got it, and used it till it cured me. I took it, as yon advise, in small doses of a teaspoorful over a month, and used aimost three bottles. New and healthy skn seen began to form under the scab, which after a while fell off my skin is now clear, and I know by my feelings that the disease has gone from my system. You can well believe that I feel what I am saying when I tell you, that I hold you to be one of the a-cetter of the age, and remain ever gratefully.

I have cured many inveserate cases of Lencorrhosa by it, and some where the complaint was caused by ulceration of the uterus. The ulceration itself was soon cured. Nothing within my anowledge equals it fur these female derangements."

Edward S. Marrow, of Newbury, Ala., writes, "A dangerous ourrant tumor on one of the females in my family, which had defied all the remedies we could employ, has at length been completely cured by your extract of Sursaparitia. Our physician thought nothing but extipation could afford relief, but he advised the trial of your sarsaparitia as the last resort bufore couling, and it proved effectual. After taking your remedy eight weeks no symptom of the disease remains."

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the Relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced Stages of the Disease

This is a remedy so universally known to surpage any other for the cure of throat and lung complaints, that it is useless here to publish the evidence of its virtues. Its univailed excellence for coughs and colds, and its truly wonderful cures of pulmonary disease, have made it known throughout the civilized nations of the earth.—few are the communities, or 'ven familied, among them who have not some personal experience of its effects.—some living trophy in their miast of its victory over the anotic and dangerous disorders of the throat and lungs. some living troppy in their miles of its victory over the subtle and dangerous disorders of the threat and lungs. As all know the dreadful fatality of these disorders, and as they know, too, the effects of this remedy, we need not do more than to assure them that it has now all the virtues that it did have when making the cures which have won so strongly upon the confidence of mankind.

PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL. [PROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS ]

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER!

May 23, 1850.—I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I prescribed Propyismine, and was then laboring under an attack of acute rheumatism. She has steadily taken it in doses of three grains every two hours (intermitting it at night.) The day after you saw her, I tound her much more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a week or snore, judging from her other attack. (the patient now walked into the room.) The improvement has steadily progressed, and you cannot sail to notice a marked thange in the appearance of her joints, which are now nearly all of their natural size.—Inus far our experiment would have seemed very successful; but, gentlemen, we must wait a little white before we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be the result.

Here is another patient who was placed on the use of the same medicine on Sunday last; she has long been suffering from a bronic rheumatism, and I found her at that time with an acute attack supervening upon her chronic affection. The wrists and knuckles were much swollen and teuse. She took the chloride of Propylamue is three grain doses every two hours, and you will perceive that the swelling of the joints has much diminished.

MAY 26, 1880.—This is the case of acute rheumatism treases with propylamine, the first of those to which I called your attention at our last childs. Sinc is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains thrice sailty. In this case it has seemed to be followed by very, satisfactory results. The second case to which your attention was called at our last lecture, has also continued to do well. I will now bring before you a very characteristic case of acute rhematism, and if the result be satfactory, I think, as good jurymen, we shall justly rander our verdict in favor of prypylamine.

He is a seaman, sat 28, who was admitted a few days ago. Has had occasional rheumatic pama, but not so as to keep his bed, until clight days ago. The pains? Degan in his right knee, subsequently affected the left knee, and tater, the joints of the upper extremities. These joints are all swollen, tense and tender. His tongué is furred; his stin, at present dry, though there has been much sweating. His puties is full and strong, and about 90.—He has now used propylamine for twenty-four hours.

This gentleman is what may be called a strictly typical case of acute rheumatism. There was exposure to odd and wet, and this exposure is followed by a feeling of coldness, severe articular pain, beginning, as it usually also in the lower joints. There is fever and the profuse awasting, 80 generally active on all the points connected with rheumatism, but to again give a trial to the new remedy we are testing, and to exhibit to you, this typical case, as I have called it, than which there on uld not be find the resulting the medicine in question. We are, therefore, avoiding the use of all other medicines, even and by the setting the medicine in question. We are, therefore, avoiding the use of all other medicines, even and the best before you with the order of all other medicines, even and the set of leafler.

A FAVORABLE VERDICT.

JUNE 9, 1860.—The next of our convalencems is the case of acute rheum stam before you at our clinic of May 26th, which I then called a typical case, and which it was remarked was a fair opportunity for testing the worth of our new remedy. It was therefore steadily given in three grain doese every two hours for four days: the patient has got along very neely, and is now, able to walk about, as you see. I do not hesitate to say that I have fleves seen as severe a case of acute rheumatism so soou restored to health as this man has been, and without being prepared to decide positive by as to the value of the remedy we have used, I feel, bound to state that in the cases in which we have tried the Chlorido of Propyiamine, the patients hey regained their health Propylamice, the patients in we regained their health much earlier than under the treatment ordinarily pur-sued. I wish gentlemen, you would yourselves try it, and report the results.

For a full report of which the above is a condensed extract, see the Philadelphia Medical and Surgical Reorter. It is the report after a fair trial by the best medical authority in this country, and makes it unuccessary to give numerous certificates from astonished dosto and rejoicing patients.

MAY 19, 1860,—Ellen S., &t. 23, single, never was very strong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute pheumatical, from which she was confined to her bed for two weeks the tabseq-ent y from a relapse fer four more. She has been well since then till Last Saturday, while engaged in house cleaning, she took cold, had pain in her back, felt cold, but had no decided chill. Two days later her ankles began so swell, which was followed by swelling of the ance joints and of the hands. She has now dulippin in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, ed and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is most so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumatism, or, as it is new fashionably called, rheumatic lever. It is a well remarked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from time to time call your attention to the various by mptoms which present themselves. My chief object as bringing her before you now, is to call attention to a camedy which has recently been recommended in the treatment of rheumatism. Im an propylamica. Dr. awenarius, of St. Petersburg, recommends it in the highest terms, having derived great occoin from its use n 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and I propose therefore to give it a nother trial. I must confess I am always incredulous as to the worth of new remedies, which are vanued as specifie; out this comes to us recommended so highly, that we are bound to give it a trial.
