HARRISBURG, PA. Thursday Morning, November 21, 1861.

To ARMY OFFICERS. - Blank pay rolls and fur loughs handsomely printed according to the army regulations, on fine white and durable paper, are for sale at this office.

Our Famows.—The semi-annual session of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, I O. of O. F., commenced on Monday morning at Philadelphia. Grand Master D. Washburn, presides. Lodge No. 68 of this city is represented in the session by Mr Washington Barr.

THE HARRISBURG SOCIABLES will give a grand soirce at Exchange Hall next Friday evening. The Sociables are a clever set of good natured gentlemen, who know how to get up such matters, and we have no doubt their soirce will be one of the most recherche dansants of the season. Tickets 50 cents, to be had at the door.

HAD HIS ARM BROKEN .- A son of Mr. E S. German, of the Religious Book Depository, Second street, while being swung around on Tuesday, at arms length by a colored man, in a sportive manner, had his right arm broken at the ellow joint. He was immediately taken to the office of Dr. Roberts, who reduced the fracture, and he is now doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

OLDIER'S FUNERAL.—A volunteer company fr m Camp Curtin passed through Third street at an early hour yesterday, forming the esout to the remains of one of their compatriotin-arms, which they were taking to the depot for transportation to the relatives of the deceased. The men wore the ensignia of mourning, and their slow, measured tread to the sound of a muffled drum, formed a very solemn and impres-ive scene.

In Town .- Lieut. Wesley Miller, of the Seventh United States Infantry was in town yesterday, looking remarkably well. The Lieutenant is stationed at Fort Columbus, New York harbor, and is on a visit to his father Lieut, Colonel Stephen Miller, of the First Minnesota Regiment, who is still confined to his room at the Pennsylvania House in this city by an illness contracted in the army shortly after the battle of Bull Run, in which he gallantly particinated

LEFT HOME. -- Mr. James Miller, of Peach Bottom township, York county, Pa., left his home on Saturday morning, November 17, and has not been heard of since. He is about thirtyfive years of age, five feet nine inches high, with home a dark monkey jacket and brown pants, much worn, and was riding a bay mare, slightto spells of mental derangement, and his friends are much distressed at his absence. Any information addressed to his sister Mary A. Miller, Bald Eagle, York county, Pa, will be thankfully received.

THANKSGIVING DAY .- To-day one week is the day set apart by Governor Curtin as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for the many blessings which He has bestowed upon us during the year now rapidly drawing to an end. When we take into consideration the various passed, and contrast our position with that of our misguided brethern who are engaged in this wicked rebellion, we can but acknowledge that we have much for which we should be thankful. For though the gloom of war hangs like a dark shadow over our land, yet we are happily spared from the horrors attendant upon the presence of contending armies. The seat of our land has been blessed with abundance. Then let our hearts go out to God in praise and thanksgiving, for His mercles, and let us unite in the prayer, that peace and happiness may be speedily restored to our country by the defeat and dispersion of the rebels and traitors who are now arrayed against us. Indeed the events of the past six months conclusively show the whole tendency of the contest to be in favor of the Union and against the rebels.

CHEAP PLEASURES. - Did you ever study the cheapness of some pleasures? asks some excellent writer. Do you know how little it takes to make a multitude happy? Such trifles as a penny, a word, or a smile, do the work. There are two or three boys passing along—give them each a chesnut, and how smiling they took? they will not be cross for some time. A poor widow lives in the neighborhood, who is the mother of a half a dozen children; send them half a peck of sweet apples, and they will be happy. A child has lost his arrow—the world to him-and he mourns sadly; help him find the sunshine play upon his sober face. A boy and works away without minding it. Your aplarge, or slightly injured a piece of work.— Say, "You scoundrel," and he feels miserable; light up his own hearth with smiles of gladness. As you pass along the street, you meet a familiar face—say, "Good morning," as though you felt happy, and it will work admirably in the those who are out of work and bread. heart of your neighbor. Pleasure is cheap-

A CAMP ABOLISHED.—Camp Crossman, near Huntingdon, the head quarters of Gen. James' Mountain Brigade, has been abolished. The Huntingdon Journal says that last week an order was received from the Secretary of War, by Col. Murray, ordering him to fill out his regiment from the troops at Camp Crossman, and the balance of the troops remaining after his regiment has been completed, to be forwarded immediately to Harrisburg. The Journal adds that the troops were in high spirits over the welcome news, having become completely tired out with their protracted stay at that place.

SHOCKING AND PROBABLY FATAL CASUALTY .-Miss Grace Hubley-one of the most highly esteemed and useful ladies of Lancaster—was terribly and perhaps fatally burned by her clothes taking fire at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Jenkins, in that city, Tuesday morning. It fire to be made in a low open grate, on first floor, with a view of having the house properly warmed upon the return home of her sister, who was expected to-morrow. Miss Hubley was still alive yesterday afternoon, but no hopes were entertained of her recovery.

the advent of winter, and soon we shall have the war is far removed from our borders, and the Icy King holding supreme sway. He is a hearty old fellow, this Winter King-jolly, vigorous and decided-a blusterer, to be sure, but we forgive him that, for the sake of the host of compensatory qualities he possesses. He brings with him, sociality, mirth, festivity and merry-meetings. Open-handed Hospitality attends him, and holds court at the fireside, at the groaning board, and in the convival snuggery. He binds more firmly the links of goodfellowship, and surrounds Home with new pleasures and gives it fresh attractions. He delights us with the sleigh ride, for which he spreads his royal, snowy ermine, without spot or blemish, over which we glide, leaving our cares behind on the wind, which he dashes laughingly in our faces. He brings in old Christmas, with his thousand delights, his bounty, his charity, his affectionate remembrances, his fun and his good cheer; who brings together those who have been long estranged, and opens anew the flood-gates of feeling, and cements the bonds of friendship.

But, alas! winter has another aspect to the poor. To them it brings shivering and want it, or make him another, and how quickly will and gloom and dreadful anticipations. THE SECOND PENNSYLVANIA CAVALEY. - Charles F. Taggart, of Philadelphia, a native of Winchester, Va., was on Tuesday commissioned by Gov. Curtin as Major of the Second Pennsylvania Cayalry, Col. R. Butler Price commanding.

REGIMENT OF TRACHERS. - Henry C. Hickok, formerly Superintendent of Schools for Penn sylvania, proposes to raise a regiment of Pennsylvania school teachers. They should have command of the cannon purchased by the teachers.

GARRISON FOR FORT DELAWARE. - Colonel M'Carter's regiment, formerly encamped at Leb anon, but more recently at Camp Curtin, have received orders to occupy and garrison Fort Delaware, on the Delaware Bay, below Philadelphia.

ADVANCE LODGE, No. 39, I. O. of Good Tem plars will be organized in the hall of the American mechanics, fourth story of Wyeth's building, Market street and Rasberry alley, at half past seven o'clock this evening. Respectable ladies and gentlemen, not already connected with the order, are respectfully invited to attend and join the Lodge.

John Reiley-a delapidated looking Irish volunteer from Camp Curtin-was arrraigned for drunkeness and disorderly conduct. Recommitted.

Mary Daugherty-one of the frail sisterhood with very red cheeks and a very dirty dress was arraigned as a common vagrant. Recommitted.

Two Soldiers Hurr. - At a late hour on Monday night two soldiers of a Pennsylvania regiment were hadly injured at a bridge on the Northern Central Railway, near Monkton. They got on the top of one of the cars in this city, and though advised that it was dangerous, insisted on retaining the place. When they neared the bridge, a covered structure, they were both knocked off. The train was checked and the bjured men taken up and taken to Balti-

> STABBED WITH A BAYONET. - On Monday night a volunteer whose name we could not learn, belonging to one of the cavalry companies stationed at Camp Cameron, came to the city, just after the alarm was given, rushed in and and while proceeding along Market street, in threw his overcoat over the person of the un- front of the Jones House, he was met by a fortunate lady, which no doubt saved her patrol guard, who attempted to arrest and carry him to Camp Curtin. The cavalry man at once produced his furlough to show that he did not belong to their camp, and of course refused to follow them, when they suddenly closed upon him, and in his efforts to release himself he received a stab from a bayonet which penetrated about half an inch in his left side near the heart, which caused him to fall in the sideway, where he lay for several minutes in an unconscious state. He was finally taken into the drug store of Dr. Bannvart, who examined and dressed the wound, after which he was THE HEAVY FROST last night admonishes us of taken charge of by a patrol of his own men, and conveyed to Camp Cameron. Persons who witnessed the conduct of the patrol guard on this occasion speak of it in unmeasured terms of condemnation. The cavalry man was perfectly sober at the time, and his arrest under the circumstaces was not only unwarranted, but a perfect outrage.

> > LEATHER KINDLINGS .- There is something. says a cotemporary, very fascinating about the sight of shoe making. The fact that we watch a cobbler at work with so much more interest than a tailor can only be accounted for by the facts that leather "works up" so beautifully, and that shoemaking is a species of sculpture or carving. We take comparatively little interest in the scissor work of the tailor, because scissors are a complicated, unerring machine compared with that simple implement, the knife used by the shoemaker. The latter is so apt to slip and spoil the work that the novice and the visitor watch its motions with deep solicitude. Morevor, the bovine cuticle being without "grain," and permitting the passage of the knife with equal readiness in all directions, the carving of it presents a much more interesting appearance than does that of any other product of nature that is used in manufactures.

One thing especially interesting in shoe making is the marvelous smoothness and polish which the warm iron gives to the leather, after the artist has moulded it into the pedal form. Another reason why the manufacture of footgear is more interesting than that of covering for the upper works is that shoemakers have not spread themselves into big shops, slop-work and wholesaling as tailors have. You still find the best of this kind of work done in little shops. But that which suggested this notice of the followers of St. Crispin, and the co-workers of Hans Sachs, was the fact that we have one se rious charge to bring against the craft; they will put their leather scraps in the stove o' mornings. Whether they do it to get rid or them or to kindle their fires, we know not but certain it is, that they by this means make their establishments worse nuisances than those of bone boilers, distillers and other such noise the crowded mart, where men of business tongregate, in our families, and everyso that the poor fellows may know that we are tory artists are kindling their shop fires, the eye some manufacturers.
