HARRISBURG, PA.

Monday Afternoon, November 25, 1861,

To ARMY OFFICERS - Blank pay rolls and fur loughs handsomely printed according to the army regulations, on fine white and durable paper, are for sale at this office.

THANKSGIVIG DAY will be duly observed in this city next Thursday by the closing of places of public business, and the opening of churches for divine service.

. STATE EDUCATIONAL CONVENTION .- This hody will meet in the Senate Chamber, in this city, at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning. A large number of delegates have already arrived, and there is every promise that the Convention will be largely attended.

NAME CHANGED .- The name of the "Shamokin Bank" has been altered, by the County Court, to that of "Bank of Northumberland County," but remains at Shamokin. To avoid mistakes, people will do well to remember to not confound this with the old "Bank of of one of the beautiful stand of colors, author-Northumberland," at Northumberland.

Pennsylvania Cavalry Regiment, Colonel Wynkoop, now stationed at Camp Cameron, near this city, has been ordered to Kentucky, and in a speech replete with patriotic allusions, will leave for their destination in a few days .-The regiment is full and completely equipped, and will be armed with the improved carbine

THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE appointed by the House of Representatives of the last Congress, to investigate alleged army frauds, which has been in session at the Jones' House in this city, since last Friday, terminated its labors this morning. A number of witnesses were examined, and a large mass of testimony gathered, which, however, will not be made public until reported to Congress.

Spring is lovely, with its flowers, its balmy air, its singing birds, its verdure and its promise. Summer is enchanting in its passionate embrace, its full glow of glory and its luscious gifts. Autumn is gorgeous with its multi-colored dies, and generous in its teeming plenty. But winter is the Sabbath of the earth, when it rests from its labors, and recuperates its strength and affords us the opportunity for the enjoyment of all the gifts the former seasons have prepared for us. Talk of the "soft Summer night,"-give us the pleasant Winter night, before a crackling, blazing fire, with the apples hissing and sputtering on the hearth; the foaming, steaming flp, unctious, sweet-flavored nut, and friends to sit with us, and eat and laugh, and drink and jest, and join in the mirth that cavalry companies in the country. Major Jordan laughs to scorn the howling, baffled winds out-

SANFORD'S OPERA TROUPE.—Sanford certainly deserves the thanks of our amusement-loving public for the untiring efforts he has made, and is making, for their enjoyment. It is seldom that an Ethiopian Troupe risks more than two days stay in our community; but the gay and imcomparable Sanford has dashed into a success with an energy that astonishes old managers. A thorough going business man, he under stands perfectly how a concert of this kind should be conducted, and he appears to have a perfect comprehension of what sort of entertainment the public desires. He has never disappointed expectations formed of him. He is, moreover, a gentleman as well as an accomplished vocalist. We, therefore, say to those who appreciate merit, and who would enjoy merit, to visit Brant's Hall to-night.

CONTEMPTIBLE. -- If there is one thing meaner than another—or a person who is lower and viler than another--it is the anonymous abuse of a neighbor, and the person who indulges in this despicable propensity. Straight forward, outspoken abuse looks as though it was honorably intended, and it can be met with silent contempt and some degree of allowance; but the serpent like slanderer, who spits venom in the dark is worse than the depraved spirits who congregate in the realms of the devil and rejoice over the downfall of christianity. Such people are undeserving a place in society or in the of the Koran, or of Joe Smith's Bible; there are confidence of the lowest humanity, and thus thousands, indeed, who pass from boyhood to they are looked upon by all thinking people who hear their tales and by all those who are made the victims of their malice. We never governed; who have shouted for, and quadreniknew one of these people who was not so wicked at heart that he or she would not hesitate to stoop lower, dive deeper into the pool of infamy and come up dirtier than the veriest skunk and petty thief among humanity.

----EXPRATION OF THE STAY LAW.—On the 21st of May, 1861, says the Pittsburg Dispatch, the Legislature of Pennsylvania passed an act relating to judgments and executions, in which it was provided that upon all judgments then remaining unsatisfied, or which might be obtained within six month from the passage of the act, or upon which a sale of real estate had not been confirmed, there should be a stay of execution for one year from the date of the passage of the act, as regarded judgments then existing, and from their date as regarded judgments obtained within the ensuing six months, providing the estate, and gave bail for payment of the judgment.

The passage of this act has had a very de pressing influence upon the civil business of Aldermen and Justices in the Commonwealth, and its expiration on Thursday was greeted with no little satisfaction by the entire body. A brisker business will probably be transacted in the col- difference between the constitution of our own lection of debts, since the special provision of a and the different States. Such reading as that lies dormant in the masses cultivated and year's stay of execution has expired by limitation. Under this act the sale of collaterals was also prohibited, within the year, and the party in this form it cannot fail to leave a permanent selling them became responsible for double the impression—to "become as familiar as houseamount of the collaterals to the party owing hold worlds" It needs no argument to demonthem. There were some exceptions to the general application of the act, as to the minimum | we trust the matter will be brought forward | ing is strongly enlisted in favor of such a move amount of the judgment on which stay could and urged before the Convention in such a ment. be taken, those belonging to widows and or- manner as to secure the attention of publishers phans, etc., etc.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.—Gov. Randall, of Wisconsin, is now in our city, the guest of his excellency Gov. Curtin.

MILITARY FUNERALS.—There were two or three military funerals from Camp Curtin yesterday, but we could not learn the names of the deceased. The bodies were intered in the cemetery with appropriate military honors.

The Governor presented the colors which were enthusiastically cheered by the assembled multitude. In response, Major Jordan assured his excellency that he fully appreciated his flattering remarks in reference to the regiment, and pledged his Colonel and men that the flag presented to them by their native State should never be disgraced by desertion or cowardice in the hour of battle.

> The Governor then introduced his guest, Gov. THE AMERICAN CONSTITUTION.—If there is as set forth in the Constitution of the United for the pursuit of any branch of civil business, States, and of the several States of the Union. A friend who has given this matter many years no attention whatever, though upon it we rely attention states that there are few subjects of for that very security which has made the purgeneral principles to which they are expected to should be the introduction of military training conform. The constitutions are seldom published in a form to place them in the hands of pupils, and there are thousands and tens of thousands of youths, between the ages of ten and twenty years, who have no more knowledge of the American Constitutions than they have the grave without having once read through al members of such organizations. The real the compendium of the laws by which they are ally voted to save, the "Palladium of our Liberties" without the slightest knowledge of its
