We print the following speech, delivered on stitution, pure and unadulterated as it came friday last by Gov. Curtin, on the occasion of from the hands of the framers, to offer its blestings and its benefits to all the loyal citizens of the presentation of flags to various regiments in the presentation of flags to various regiments in the presentation of flags to various regiments in the rebellious States, and to the disloyal the samp in the vicinity of Philadelphia, at the sword and the scaffold. You go to aid in rerequest of many of our readers. The speech establishing the Government upon its original basis in all the States of the Confederacy, and of Gov. Curtin, and will be read with pleasure by those who are actively engaged in the suppression of the rebellion, as well as by those who anticipate in its conclusion the conclusion also of all the vexed question which still agitate the public mind. We leave our readers to peruse this speech and express their own commendations as they acquiesce in its sentiments:

GOVERNOR CURTIN'S ADDRESS.

I appear before you in obedience to law, to present to you, before your departure in the ser-vice of your country, the regimental standards provided by the State. The duty is not new to me, nor have I grown weary from its frequent performance. It is always impressive to con-template the separation of our friends and fellow-citizens from their homes; but all the feelings which such occasions excite are intensified when those about to leave are under arms and prepared to encounter the vicissitudes and trials of actual war. We are, in Pennsylvania, truly a peaceful people. Our genial climate, our geo graphical position, and our vast material resour-ces, have led us to cultivate those arts and oc-cupations, and those relations of social life which are not in harmony with military discipline and pursuits, or with antagonisms and hostilities Having scarcely a military organization in the State, and our citizens having had no expectation of any attempt being made to disturb the nation, and as we were at peace with all the world, this rebellion found us in a measure without military preparation. Rut we have what is indefinitely better than mere military training—a loyal people, devoted to the Gov ernment, and ready at any moment to take up arms in its defence. This is no time to trace events in the history of this country, which led to the most causaless and wicked rebellion of ancient or modern times When the vast conspiracy which had beer formed by leading men of the South, and cov ered by reating men of the South, and covered by pretext without foundation of truth, developed itself, they expected with a united South and a divided North, to crown their folly would be divided. It is not improper that I should refer here to the fact that, in Pennsylvacia and in Philadelphia, the great idea that man was capable of self-government was, through the Declaration of Independence, first promulgated to the world; that it was here that the Continental Congress held its sessions dur ing the Revolution, except when driven out by over, nere the Convention of Delegates was neld, which framed our matchless Constitution and gwat to this and gave to this great people the most benin-cent form of Governm at ever conceived by the mind of man; and as memories of the past crowd upon us, when within the precincts of this classic locality, we may not forget that the National Flag, with its stars and stripes, now known and honored throughout the world as the camblant of liberty restaurable, and some discounting the combination by a stripe of liberty restaurable, and some large with the camblant of liberty restaurable, and some large with the camblant of liberty restaurable, and some large with the camblant of liberty restaurable, and some large with the camblant of liberty restaurable, and some large with the camblant of liberty restaurable, and some large with the camblant of liberty restaurable, and some large with the camblant of liberty restaurable with the liberty restaurable with th the emblem of liberty, nationality, and power, was first unfolded here. WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. The district United States Marshal, Mr. La-mon, has made a report to the Senate, stating that the recent arrests of slaves, whose confine ment in the Washington jail has been complained of, were made in strict conformity with law.

Mr. Ellet, the civil engineer, has issued a pamphlet reflecting upon Gen. McClellan, and has sent copies of it to the Senators and Representatives. The Committee to urge an exchange of prisorers, sent from New York, have had an interview, this marning, with Secretary Seward. The Secretary, in the course of the interview, favored a general exchange. Since my last report Thomas H. White, of the Eighth Pennsylvania died. Senator Wilmot leaves for home to-day, his continued and severe indisposition preventing him from active attendance upon his Senatoria duties. Gen. Fitz John Porter's Division was review ed this afternoon, by Gen. McClellan. The review was one of the most brilliant of the many military pageants we have witnessed during the campaign. The weather is very pleasant and the day is the loveliest of the season. We have interesting news from the lower Potomac to day. The federal gun-boats belonging to the Potomac flotilla yesterday shelled several rebel batteries, destroying dwellings and a large amount of rebel stores. To day our gun-boats are again shelling the Virginia shore batteries from Quantico Creek to Boyd's Hole.

HOUSE OF REFRESENTATIVES.

Mr. Bingham, (Ohio,) replied that all his colleague had just said or could say, had been fully and satisfactorily answered by the argument of the Attorney General heretofore submitted. Notwithstanding the ability of his colleague, he, Mr. Pendleton, had not been able to disguise the fact that the time had come which was contemplated by the words of the was contemplated by the words was contemplated by the words of the Constitution for the suspending of the writ of habeas corpus. It was important that some power should do so. If this be conceeded some power should do so. If this be conceeded then his colleague's argument destroyed itself. It implied a censure on the house in not discharging the duty long ago as required by the carbon their homes by Secession mauraders, are still in the city, and similar arrivals are looked for daily. No person can look at their condition—suffering not only exile, but want, aggravated head over a large portion of this republic, and essayed to shake down the pillars of the Constitution, and had deluged the land in fraternal brood, it was no time to be splitting hairs as to whether Congress or the President should first exercise the power.

Did his colleague contemplate a general jail Our citizens have not the power to drive out the bands which infest a considerable portion of the State, or to give these unfortunate people any protection in their possessions; but one icharged.

Assuming his colleague's position to be right. then his colleague was direlict in his duty in not moving a suspension of the writ in accordance with the oath he had taken to maintain, protect and defend the Constitution.

The laws are to be executed and not only exeouted by force but by the sword against the powers of rebellion. It did not lie in the mouths of the memorialists to claim the benefit of the constitution, every provision of which
