HARRISBURG, PA.

Tuesday Afternoon, December 17, 1861. SEE the advertisement headed "War with England" in another part of this evening's

THE ATTENTION of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Prof. J. H. McEntyre, found in another column of this evening's Tel-

ECRAPH. Nothing more appropriate for a Christmas present than a handsome Daguerreotype, Photograph or Ambrotype, and the very place to get the best and cheapest is at Parker & Shell's rooms, east corner of Market and Third streets. +

NEW METHODIST MISSION CHURCH.—Operations on this building, situated on Ridge Road, near will be Christmas. Hammon's lane are being pushed forward with alacrity, and strong efforts will be made to have the audience room ready for occupation by the first of January. The building when completed will be a very handsome affair, reflecting great credit upon the enterprise of our Methodist friends.

RAILROAD OPENED.—The new railroad from Cressen to Ebensburg, was opened last week. The people of the Weishburg are highly delighted. Thirteen miles of the Clearfield and Tyrone road have also been opened-from Tyhours. The road will be opened to Phillipsburg early in the spring, which will be its terminus until times get better.

COTILION SORIEE .-- Our friend, Mr. James Sprucebanks, will give another of his delight. ful cotillion soirees at Exchange Hall, on Thursday evening the 19th inst. Pretty faces, tasteful dresses, and happy hearts, will vie with each other to render the occasion attractive; while the excellent music will lend an additional enchantment to the gay throng pursuing turkeys in sundry coops, all of which will be the volatile nympth Terpischore through the ever varying change of the dance.

NEW COUNTERFEIT.—The following is the description of a new counterfeit, noticed several other "a merry Christmas." Shall we have any days ago, and which has been successful in deceiving quite a number of dealers. It is a two will be selfish enough to say no. dollar bill on the Farmers' Bank of Schuylkill county; dated August 1, 1861, letter A, No. 2132. Washington on right corner. Full female figure on left. Vignette, boy reclining on a basket with sickel in left hand, sheaves of wheat in centre, and house in the distance.

The storekeepers have made extensive preparations for the present holiday season, and every variety of goods, useful, ornamental, cheap or costly, can be obtained according to the means or taste of the purchaser. It is interesting to explore the streets and gaze in at the shop windows at the holiday season; but if the reader would see an index to the best establishments he can be gratified with less trouble by looking over the advertising columns of the TELE-

GRAIN WAREHOUSE AT COLUMBIA .- Wm. McConkey, Esq of Wrightsville, and one of the firm of Marshbank and McConkey, of Lancaster city, has leased the large warehouse above the Columbia Bridge, at the outlet of the Pennsylvania Canal, for the purpose of storing grain. Large quantities will probably be stor-ital on Saturday evening last, the anniversary of the during the winter: the old warehouse, of Washington's death. Many who have heard ed there during the winter; the old warehouse, the best and most substantial, will resume its of its merits from others are desirous of hearwonted business air of olden time. A flourishing business was formerly done in this establishment by C. Brenneman. Esq.

THE "LOCHIEL GREYS."-The recent warlike news from Europe has created a stir among the members of the "Lochiel Greys," who served with much credit in the three months' campaign against the Southern rebels, and we understand that the initiatory steps are about being taken to place the company again on a "war footing." The leaders of the movement are those who HENRY E. LEMAN, projected the first organization, and carried it through so successfully. There can be no doubt, therefore, that the new movement will also be last evening to witness the exhibition of this great work of art. It is a pleasing evidence of the correct taste of a community that fosters fied in recording the undoubted success in this will commence at precisely half-past seven and encourages the fine arts, and we are graticity of the above exhibition. Such displays, blending real information with rational and refined pleasure, imparting knowledge, while cultivating the taste, storing the mind with new ideas, indelibly impressing important facts upon the memory, suggesting expansive trains of thought, the same time awakening the more exalted sentiments of our nature, may be made the means of exerting a solid and beneficial influence upon society. As a work of art, the exhibition is well worth the examination of the connoisseur, at the same time, the incidents, illustrated with such life-like fidelity, are calculated to awaken a lively interest in the great American heart as presenting a mimic but faithful reflection of the leading events in our country's history from its first discovery by Columbus. The panorama will be again exhibited this evening, and we advise everybody to go

In Town.—Captain J. M. Barr, of the First Pennsylvania Artillery, was in town this morn ing looking remarkably well. The Captain's regiment is stationed about nine miles from the Chain Bridge, on the sacred soil of the Old Dominion, and is represented to be in an excelent condition.

LOOK-OUT FOR THEM .—"About these days" as ilmanac makers say, look out for nocturnal visitors to hen-coops, or in less polite language, look out for chicken thieves. We heard of two or three citizens recently whose coops have suffered from these midnight destroyers-in one instance the thief making off with no less than ten chickens and two fine fat turkies. Our citizens should be on the look out for these rascals.

CHRISTMAS.—It seems but a little while since we were enjoying (?) the long, sultry days of Summer. Since that time, however, the Autumn has come and gone, and now stern Winter is fairly upon us. In a very little while it

The rapidity with which the annual Holidays roll in upon us leads us to think that the poet was laboring under a mistake when he wrote the beautiful and pathetic lines:

"Pumpkin pie and ginger beer, Christmas comes but once a year."

but, upon investigation, we find that he was not mistaken; the Holidays do come but once a year, and the apparent frequency of their recurrence is owing to the fact that, as we grow older we take less note of passing time, and therefore the seasons seem to come and go with greater rone to Sandy Ridge, shortening the time of rapidity. This fact should impress upon our minds the importance of improving and enjoying each occasion as it occurs. Life has its cares and its bitterness for all, and it also has its enjoyments which we should by no means loose sight of. If we can, without injury and with little or no inconvenience, pluck from time to time a stray flower from among the thorns that hedge in life's pathway, we do but rob ourselves if we neglect to do so.

Well, Christmas is coming-what is on the tapis? We have no doubt there are numerous duly served up at the proper time, but then we ought also to have something of a public nature, in which we can all take part, where we can see each others smiling faces, and say to each Christmas? We say yes, and we hope no one

Fort Pickens,

Far off upon our southern border, Where wild Atlantic's currents flow. Commingling with the gentler waters,
That fill the gulf of Mexico,
There stands "Fort Pickens," bold, defiant, Uprearing high its massive form, y to meet, with quick responses.

"Fort Pickens" has not yet been taken, Much as the rebels boast and Bragg; And waving proudly far above it, Is still the same old glorious flag,

The iron hail and fiery storm.

And all the hands of guilty traitors
Can never, never tear it down,
For our commander there will teach them That what he does is done up Brown.

"Fort Pickens" has not yet been taken, And we predict it never will, For if you call at C. K. Keller's You'll find the fortress standing still; It's walls unscathed, its turrets gleaming, Its guns all loaded heavily, And from its pointed ramparts streaming

The starry banner of the free. Call at No. 91, Market street, for your holiday presents.

THE OCCUPATION OF HARRISBURG BY OUR ARMY. -Amidst the desolation and strife that has visited our once happy country, and the many heart bleeding circumstances attendant upon its progress, the citizens of Harrisburg have much ause to be thankful that the occupation of Maryland by the rebels, prevented only by the far-seeing national Executive, has not brought the war to our own doors. In the absence of the army, our business is prosperous and industry throughout its different avenues is rewarded with happiness and plenty, and notwithstanding the great advance in dry goods, Urich & Sowman continue to offer the best inducements to buyers, south-east corner front and Market streets.
