"OYSTERS BY STEAM" are the last luxury. an enterprising genius has hit upon a plan by which they are cooked by steam, in the shell, retaining all their juices, and puffing up like doughnuts in the operation. How they cut, afterwards, may be imagined, but cannot be described. A cotemporary says that they go down the throat like oysters first fattened jand then piritualized, and the taste lingers on the palate like the memory of the first kiss given us by a pretty little girl with brown curls, when we were seventeen. The sublime of luxury in oysters, and really worthy of a patent of nobility the cost of the same oysters prepared in any opinion. other manner. TOOK POSSESSION.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company took possession yesterday of the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad. H. J. Lombaert. Esq., succeeds Edward F. Gray, Esq., as General Superintendent of the Western Division. No changes will be made in local officers.

SOLDIER VISITS .- We have had the pleasure recently of taking several of our soldiers by the hand who are in the Virginia service. They look hearty, and the best of all is they are fond of the life of a soldier under Uncle Sam, as they all agree he provides their wants with everything necessary for their comfort.

> LIEBNESS OF COL. KANE.—The Philadelphia Inquirer of to-day presents to its readers a wood cut, representing it to be a likeness of Col. Kane. The Colonel is a brave soldier, and was severely wounded in the late battle at Dranesville, but it is a libel upon his fair fame to be represented by an old wood cut which may have been used for some criminal. The picture does not bear the least resemblance to the gallant > Singular Marriage.—A few days ago a young clergyman named Willard, of Lorain county, Ohio, wrote to a gentleman in Cleveland, confiding to him the plan of his contemplated marriage. The bride elect desired that the nuptial tie should be joined by her pastor. the Rev. George Gordon, and, as the latter is now in jail at Cleveland, serving out a sentence for aiding and abetting the escape of a fugitive slave, it was found necessary that the bridal party should see him there for the purpose of having the ceremony performed. They accordingly started for Cleveland on Christmas Day, and, on arriving at the jail, were soon made man and wife. The ceremony is said to have been very affecting, and deep interest was manifested in the bride, who, moved by holy sympathy and regard for principle, left her home and the circle of family connections for a strange city, and sought the frowning jail, because it contained her beloved pastor, and in that grated receptacle of vicious men and vile women began her course as a wife.

BULLET FOR JEFF. DAVIS .-- On Christmas eve, savs the Lebanon Courier, an individual who has great faith in supernatural agencies, undertook to cast a bullet that should kill Jeff. Davis, at a cross road, in the neighborhood of Jonestown. He made all his preparations, fixed his furnace, drew the magic circle, and was moving along "all right," when an explosion took place in his furnace as if powder had been concealed there; frightful creatures with horns and ghastly adornments gathered around his circle, spouting fire at him, and the whole scene seemed as if Pandemonium was on an earthly jubilee.— The knees of our patriotic friend began to quake, his blood chilled, and not being able to withstand the terrors longer, he broke and run for town, pursued for some distance by the fiery demons he'seemed to have evoked. He arrived in Jonestown speechless and almost helpless, no doubt willing that Jeff should live rather than than that he should undergo such another ordeal to get a bullet to kill him. Whether his to the discoverer, as a new glory to the palate, hoofs and horns, or some mischievous chaps in tormenters were agents of the old fellow with they are at the same time supplied at about half the neighborhood, there may be a difference of

A Good Song.—We commend the following ong, set to a popular tune, for its good rymth and sound Union sentiments. The author is a volunteer at Camp Curtin, and the piece is dedicated by permission to Col. S. A. Meredith:

Union --- Right or Wrong.

Respectfully Inscribed to Col. S A. Meredith, 58th Regiment, P. V

BY D. J. DICKSON. AIR-Gay and Happy.

We're the boys that's true and loyal To the banner of the Free:

We may sail through seas of trial,
But we'll reach Port Victory.
Chorus—Then let your voices join in the song We're for the Union, right or wrong-For the Union, for the Union-We're for the Union, right or wrong

Well we mind the olden story; Freedom's planet is not set;
And we will, in all its glory,
Keep the old Flag flying yet.

If the Union's wrong we'll right it,
If it's right we will defend; And if Treason rise we'll fight it To the bitter, bloody end.

Still our flag shall wave in glory,
As on many a famous field;
We'll die fighting, grim and gory,
Or we'll make the traitors yield. CHORUS.

Freedom's tree hath lived and flourished. Fair and stately, eighty years; In its youth 'twas fed and nourished With a nation's blood and tears.

Shall that patriot blood be wasted? Shall the star of Freedom set? No-by all the wrongs we've tasted, We'll preserve our country yet.
