How to Give "Parole."

A correspondent of the Missouri Dem

lates the following good one:

Some weeks ago Col. Lawson, now of the Missouri State Guard, was taken prisoner by a company of some hundred rebels of southeast Missouri. They first thought that they would kill the Colonel, as he had been rather a prominent Union man, but firstly concluded to rekill the Colonel, as he had been rather a prominent Union man, but finally concluded to release him on "parole"—that most fashionable way of disposing of "belligerents" now-a-days. But they had no blank paroles, and of course one had to be written. But, on examination, not a man of the whole company could write! Here was a "phix" for the scions of Southern civilisation and chivalry. A happy thought struck them, however, and they agreed that the Colonel should write his own parole, which he did, and swore himself to support the Constitution of the United States, and not to take up arma against the Union. 'The parole thus written, "subscribed, and sworn to," the Colonel ten, "subscribed, and sworn to," the Colonel was turned loose, the sole possessor of the brilliant practical joke he had perpetrated upon his intelligent (?) captors.

"Julius," an intelligent "contraband," on hearing the above story told, exclaimed:—
"What! am de Government guine to turn dis literate rebel white trash loose mong us? Dat am de question for the Colonization Society. In de name of de colored population, I protest colonize by demselt."

"Julius" has evidently presented the knotty part of "'tother side" now before the country, and I commend his argument to the considera-tion of the powers that be. Fact, REBET ZANTIPPES.—If you want to make an angel, select a good woman for the material; and if you want to make a real devil, just pick out a bad one, especially if a secessionist. We notice that the other day a fine cake was sent to Mrs. Greenhow, a rebel lady confined in Washington. Lieut. Sheldon stuck a penknife into it in several places, and striking a hard into it in several places, and striking a hard substance, opened it, and found Treasury notes, fives and tens, to a considerable amount; also a letter, stating that arrangements had been made to effect her escape and conveyance to Richmond, and naming the day and hour of deliverance. When the lady found out the discovery obtained from her cake, her anger was uncontrollable. The Lieutenant bought her a nice new cake and ment it to her, but she threw it down stairs.

A Baltimore widow, Mrs. Baxley, was brought in to share the prison of Mrs. Greenhow and Mrs. Poole. She was three days from Richmond with a valuable "cargo." She had among many little documents of value about parts of her clothes and person, thin papers hid in her hair. One of the papers was a commission by the second of the papers was a commission by the second of the papers was a commission by the second of the papers was a commission by the second of the papers was a commission by the second of the papers was a commission by the second of sleep under them or go without.

FEMALE. Blackwood says: "There is perhaps no American newspaper idiom more offensive to English taste than the constant use of this word 'female' to denote a woman. The late lamented Sir Morgan O'Dougherty laid it down as one of his maxims, that it never was used in this sense 'by any man above the rank of a chimney sweep.' Mr. Bartlett notes the constant recurrence of the term in the popular press with very just reprobation; it sounds unpleasantly, as he observes, as if referring to an ani-factory to learn that the House of Delegates in Maryland, in the year 1889, in the discussion of a bill to protect the reputation of unmarried females,' (though one is sorry to hear that such a bill was necessary,) struck out the offensive word and inserted women.

A. FATHER'S REVENCE.-The Temps publishes the following extraordinary statement "Much has been said for the last two days of a drama of which an aristocratic religious boarding-school in the Fabourg St. Germain was the theatre. Two young ladies were playing during the hours of recreation, when one struck the other in the face and knocked out one of her eyes. Her family were immediately approsed of the accident. The father came to the school, and, after seeing his daughter, he asked to see the young lady who had struck her. She came, when he drew a pistol from under his closk and fired into her face. The unfortunate girl is so dreadfully wounded, GLEANING IN FRANCE.—An affecting and beautiful law of kindness to the poor has just been decided by the Court of highest jurisdiction in France. It is this. In the entire country no farmer has a right to drive his sheep or cattle into any fields that he has reaped—or vineyard that he has cleaned—until at least two days after the crops have been taken off; and during this time the poor are to be allowed to go in and gather up the leavings. In order, too, that they may have a full chance of obtaining good in this way, he is never allowed to let out the privilege of gleaning from his fields for payment, but is to leave them open for all.

MASON AND SLIDELL.—The Boston Traveler, of Monday, states that there was no communica-tion with Fort Warren on Saturday, in conse-quence of the gale, and the prisoners taken from the Trent were ignorant of the decision of the National Government in favor of their release. On Sunday newspapers were carried down, containing the official correspondence; and Mr. Mason was noticed at the window of his room perusing the intelligence with a smile of satisfaction upon his countenance. Mr. Slidell kept in the background.

THE REBEL FORCE AT LEESBURG CONTRABANDS MAND TREFUGEES FROM VIRGINIA.

to replace att Fanderick, Md., Dec. 81. Contrabands from counties adjacent to the Potomac continue to arrive daily, and after an examination by General Banks are forwarded to General McClellan's headquarters to be dis-posed of. It is stated that at least one third of the slaves of Loudon county have made their escape, and some from Fairfax, Fauquier and Culpepper occasionally turn up in this vicinity. and about Leesburg is estimated at 6,000, in-duding the militia.

Advices from Dam No. 5, this morning, in-form us that the rebels made a demonstration there yesterday and fired several shot and shell at the Dam and our men, from their 12 pound rifled gun, without doing any damage. On Sunday they showed themselves at Falling Waters. A portion of Col. Leonard's command stationed there lay upon their arms, all night stationed there lay upon their arms all night but discovered no enemy in the morning.

While the enemy of late have only shown one gun, (the 12-pounder Parrott cannon) it is well known that they have in the vicinity of Martinsburg a full field battery, which is probably masked in some place where they anticipate we their occasional appearances near Williamsport, their occasional appearances near williamsport, are probably only reconnoitering parties. Thus, far none on our side have been hurt, but our Parrott battery at the Dam is known to have played some disastrous freaks in their ranks.

They have quite an encampment at Bunker's Hill, which they are entrenching, and are throwing up heavy fortifications at Martins.

Gen. Kelley's men have opened the railroad seven miles south of Hancock, and are steadily progressing towards Martinsburg. As far as the road has been completed it is strongly guarded against any attempt of the rebels. The Union men in this part of the State endorse the release of Mason and Slidell as a measure of wise policy in the present exigency.

LATER. FREDERICE, Jan. 1.—The political prisoners who have been captured and detained at Williamsport by Colonel Leonard, during the past three months, arrived here yesterd y under a strong guard, and proceeded this morning for Washington. Among the principal personages of this groupe are W. D. Shepard, late a captain eers, and several civil officers, who undertook

A private despatch from Williamsport, last night, states that about turee o'clock, yesterday afternoon, a rebel force (number not given) with one gun, attacked the railroad workmen, between Paxton's Cut and Cherry Run, eleven miles east of Hancock. They were repulsed and routed by the Federal protective force, with a loss of twenty killed. The assailants were protecting the rebei laborers who were engaged

Major Tyndale of the 28th Pennsylvonia is keeping close guard upon the river at that point. The people of the Ferry, nearly all of whom are women and children, are blockaded on all sides. The rebel pickets extend across the neck over Bolivar Heights to Smallwood's Woods on the north and prohibit all supplies of provisions from entering into the town, while the federal commander exercises equal vigilance at Sandy Hook.

Men who have been compelled to flee from
Harper's Ferry, complain that their families are restrained from joining them on this side, but if this statement is well founded the restriction must be based upon some misappre

A band of rebels were busily engaged in re-Shenandoah, near Harper's Ferry. Wilch's new flour mill was not destroyed by the rebels, but the old one was entirely demolished some months since.

All persons residing in Harper's Ferry and Bolivar, that are seen by the rebel look-outs to approach the river, are captured on their return to the river, and sent to Charleston. Sev eral families, who went down to the river with all their moveable effects are said to have shared this fate.

All was quiet yesterday, from Sandy Hook to the Point of Rocks.

Later intelligence from the vicinity of Lees-

Later intelligence from the vicinity of Leesburg, lead to the belief that the rebels have erected strong works, northeast of Leesburg, on the ridge which terminates nearly opposite the mouth of the Monocacy. The report is confirmed that the rebel force at Leesburg has been largely increased, but the report that the militia refuse to fight is doubted.

The Chamber of Commerce adopted a resolution to propose a memorial to Congress, asking for the speedy passage of effective laws by which equal taxation can be levied on the several States. Also a judicious system of excise to sustain the public credit and form a stable basis for the ultimate liquidition of the public debt. This morning some ten or twelve, and four or five white ratingees, were despitched by cars to Washington. The refugees represent that if our forces were to enter Loudon, the white population now there, almost to a man, would gladly renew their allegiance to the Union.

At last accounts the Confederate force at Leesburg had been considerably augmented.—

The militia, however, showed a great disinclination to fight, and were put to work on new fortifications, the precise location of which is not given, but is probably well known to our military authorities.
