DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE.—When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it toe often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or droud of discovery deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this borrid disease make their appearance, affecting the head, throat, nose, skin, &c., progressing on with frightful rapidity, till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings by sending him to "that bourne from whence so traveler returns." It is a melanchely fact that thousands fall victims to this terrible disease, owing to the unskillniess of ignorant pretenders, who, by the use of that deadly poison, mercury, ruin the constitution and make the residue of life miserable.

THE SICK SOLDIERS.

There is a great deal of sickness north of Washington. Measles have been very prevaent, and mumps have made their appearance diseases which are not ranked among fatal or even dangerous ones, but which yet require a good deal of care and favorable circumstances to ensure complete recovery. Erysipelas and pneumonia linger in their wake, and inflamed eyes with general debility seldom fail as sequels. A good many men from the East-from Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont—are among the sufferers, forming so large a proportion of the sick, indeed, that it is natural to conclude that the mildness of the season has had an unfavorable effect upon people accustomed to the severer skies and more bracing atmosphere of those Borean regions. Some think, indeed, that our mountain boys are no exception to th received idea, which ascribes a peculiar liabilit to home-sickness to the change from hardy mountain life to lowland smoothness and relax ation of the bodily and mental fibre. This may be a mere fancy, but the fact is, that illness prevails more extensively, if not more fatally, among those accustomed to the tension and the industrial excitements of New England life.

CARE OF THE SICK.

As to the resources provided by private kindness for the use of the sick, there has been so much said in some quarters of the superfluity of such provision, that your correspondent has seems to be that, while many are aided and is provided by the government, there is so large has reached and probably never can reach the point of full supply. For it must be consi-dered that the necessity is every day renewed. The sick man who had cocoa and arrow-root jelly and lemon-juice yesterday, is not the same with him who requires these alleviators to-day; or perhaps he who enjoyed them last week is as much the object of sympathy now as then. A convalescent receives a pair of warm stockings and a pocket handkerchief, perhaps a good muffler for his sensitive throat. When he leaves the hospital tent and returns to the ranks he takes these articles with him and wears them out, and his successor needs another supply. And cases of this kind are not unfrequent : A soldier is found in bed, yet seeming nearly well.

Mr. Blair, (Mo.,) moved that the whole subject be laid on the table. Not agreed to—yeas Mr. RICHARDSON offered an amendment to Mr. Conkling's resolution, that the Secretary of War also report to the House if not incompatible with the public interests, who is responsible for the defeat at Wilson's Creek, near Springfield, and at Lexington; disagreed to—yeas 49, nays Mr. Conkling's resolution was then adoptedyeas 79, nays 64. Mr. Wickliff offered a resolution which was adopted instructing the Committee on the Ju-diciary to inquire into the expediency of pro-viding by law for making final the decision of the board of commissioners now engaged in deciding upon contracts growing out of operations in the western military department.

Mr. STEVENS asked and obtained leave to report a joint resolution explanatory of the recent act imposing duties on tea, coffee and sugar. He said this was necessary owing to the construction given to the act by the Secretary of the Treasury. It relieves goods, warehoused and in bond, before the passage of the act from the additional tax. The bill was passed and the House then adiourned.
