SANDFORD'S OPERA HOUSE -The sad hearts grow weary, and even bereaved people forget their grief, in the atmosphere with which Sanford's Artists surround thems-lves in his beautiful temple of mirth and melody. A succession of novelties, in rapid production, evince that mauag r Sanford is making a bold and success ful effort for public favor. The production of the amusing extravaganza entitled the "Bal Masque'' last night, was a decided "hit," and fully appreciated by the large audience. It will be re-produced to-night, and we advise everybody fund of enjoying a good laugh to be promptly on hand.

READER, do not allow yourself to feel relieved all of obligation to attend to the poor by the fact that we have an organized Society in our for the Hiawatha. midst, whose declared object in part, is to supply the wants of the destitute. Perform the work of the "good Samaritan" -visit the children of poverty-their lowly places minister to their necessities—for by these little actions you will not only prevent much suffering that would otherwise occur, but will carry out the golden rule, "do unto others as ye would they should do unto you." You will also be made happy by the consciousness of having furthered the ends of charity and bettered the condition of some of your fellow-beings.

THE DROWNED SOLDIER.-We have received inches high, with short, red whiskers. Nothing was found upon his person indicating his name except a pass which runs thus:

"CAPTAIN WILSON, the bearer, is a member of Col. Williams' Cavalry; was home on fur-lough when the regiment left. He was probas I did not give it, I cannot say, positively.

The performances are excellent in their way, affording a rich fund of amusement to the large audiences that nightly assemble in that cosy little temple of fun.

The victims of this foul and atrocious deed were John Berger, (an industrious unoffending PATRIOTISM AND PORTRY.—A private, serving old German, who lives near the South Mountain, about a mile from what was formerly Ege's Forge,) and William Grist, a colored boy, about Forge,) and William Grist, a colored boy, about fourteen or lifteen years of age, who lived with him. The deed was proven and the colored by style is a little uncouth, and his rhyme in him. The deed was perpetrated sometime on Tuesday evening, and the first indication of foul play was the discovery between 9 and 10 o'clock, by a neighbor, that the house (a small log one) occupied by this German, was on fire THE SONG OF THE ONE HUNDRED AND The alarm was given and several persons ar rived, when the old man was discovered lying on his back, at the door of a small cave, a short distance from the house, in which he had kept Goods Ordered in the his provisions, clothing and other articles. He was quite dead-having been shot through the head. The ball entered behind, and lodged just above the eye. His brains were scattered over his clothes. His gun, an old U. S. rifle, was standing close by, having been lately discharged. Among the ruins of the house, (which was entirely consumed,) was found the burnt and blackened corpse of the colored boy, so much disfigured as to render any attempt at investigation impossible. The only possible incentive to this murder must have been robbery. The old man frequently attended our market, and was supposed to have some money. Those acquainted with him say that he has some $1200 or 1500 deposited in Baltimore.
