Mr. Wilson thought that the Senator from Maine had done well in taking notice of the remarks of the Senator from Virginia. We We had been talked to here by Mason, and he feared the Senator from Virginia was treading in the footsteps of his predecessor. But he neither feared rebukes nor wanted them, and he would add his word of condemation to the insulting conduct of Marshall Lamon. Colored neople have never been so oppressed in ten years. A Colonel came to him to-day with an order from a Brigadier to send back fugitive slaves. Thank God that his name has not yet passed the Senate. Another Firm. An alarm of fire occurred in our city about six o'clock last evening, caused by the conflagration of a quantity of oil, waste cotton and other combustable materials in the cellar of one of the buildings connected with the Round House of the Pennsylvania railroad in the Sixth ward. The several fire companies were promptly on the ground, but their services were not needed, as the fire had been previously extinguished by the hose belonging to the Round House, in conjunction with the apparatus of the Good Will Fire company, stationed in the immediate vicinity. The building escaped with trifling injury. It is not known how the fire originated. Lost.—One of the cranks used to reel hose on the Citizen hose carriage, was lost in going to the fire at the Round House last evening. The finder will please leave it at this office.
