THE COLDER FENCIBLES, recruited in this city most enterprising citizens, are at present stationed at Cockeysville, on the line of the Northern Central Railroad. The members of the company were paid off a few days ago, and have sent to their families and friends in this neighborhood the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars. The company is attached to the Thos. A. Scott, or 87th Pennsylvania, organized chiefly to guard the several railroals connecting with Washington city—a duty requiring much vigilance, and not entirely exempt from danger.

To break somewhat the monotony of camp life, the "Fencibles" have recently established questions debated, and other means pursued to advance their mental improvement. The meetings are held daily by that portion of the company not in actual service, and are represented to be of a very interesting character. They solicit contributions of books, tracts &c. from our citizens, who we hope will cheerfully aid them in this laudable undertaking. Any such contributions may be forwarded to Capt. Detwiler at Cockeysville, who will superintend their prompt delivery.
