Monday Afternoon, January 20, 1862,

THE LEGISTATURE. -Both Houses of the Legislature reassembled at 11 o'clock this morning, having adjourned over last Friday. A synopsis of to day's proceedings will be found in another column All the officers have been appointed, and the standing committees announced, so that we may now expect to see earnest.

THE "SEVEN SISTERS."-This popular, thrilling and patriotic drama is to be presented at Sanford's Opera House this evening, with all the original dresses, scenery and other appointments which rendered the piece so highly attractive in Philadelphia. The play abounds in patriotic allusions, fine tableaux, and local incidents, and is bound to create a sensation in our play-going circles. We anticipate a "full house'' at Sanford's to night.

ANOTHER DULL DAY .- The present winter seems to run in the direction of wet and muck rather than in the way of ice and snow. The cold "snaps" are generally of short duration, and they are succeeded by wretched, foggy and misty weather; the snow storms have thus far proved failures, and they generally end in sleet or rain. Last evening the clouds seemed to portend a snow storm, but to-day we had rain. mist and muck in its stead.

last week in place of Judge Butler, in order to jury. try cases in which the latter was interested. The West Chester Times noticing the fact says that Judge Pearson was handsomely entertained at the residence of Judge Butler on Thursday evening last, a large number of professional gentlemen were present. It was an occasion of wit. edification and social enjoyment-festive in more than one sense.

Icy SIDEWALKS .--- We continue to hear of accidents on the icy sidewalks. A stranger proceeding to the depot this morning experienced a severe fail in Fourth street, spraining his ankle to such an extent that he was compelled to forego his contemplated departure in the cars, and returned to his hotel, where he is now receiving medical attention. We alluded briefly, some time ago, to the criminal negligence of householders in not removing the ice remaining on the sidewalks, and even failing to take the cheap and ordinary precaution of sprinkling ashes on the slippery surface. Perhaps a smart remander from the police, in accordance with the ordinance on the subject, would do something towards effecting a reform in this matter.

MADAME ANNA BISHOP'S CONCEET.-Our readers should bear the fact in mind that Madame Anna Bishon's concert at Brant's Hall comes off on Wednesday evening. We need not say anything in praise of the lady's abilities. No one ever heard her exquisite voice without receiving a new ecstatic sensation, and the echoes of her pure notes vibrate on the recollection, haunting us like pleasant dreams with their sunny influences. Her method is a model of excellence, and her voice is as sweet in its cadence as a lute or a harp. We bespeak for her a crowded house and a warm welcome. To the pleasure of Madame Bishop is that of the debut in our city of Mr. Edward Seguin, the son of a celebrated and most popular vocalist. He is said be cold too, if they should happen to break to have inherited the fine voice of his father, have the '' blues'' to drop in at the ''Grotto,'' and, if the performances fail to bring immethe case hopeless.

enants last night-four "drunks" and two quality. colored "vags''-all of whom upon a hearing before his honor, the Mayor, this morning, were properly disposed of. The consolidated police made no arrests on Saturday or Sunday.

GROTTO MUSIC HALL.- We advise all who

THE "BUCKTAIL" BRASS BAND. --- Since the recent battle at Drainesville, the "Bucktails" the business of the session commenced in have taken an unusual interest in Capt. Easton's battery. It is reported that two men from each company are daily taking lessons in the artillery drill, so that, should it ever bebecome necessary, they may render Capt. E. more efficient service. They have dubbed the battery "The Bucktail Brass Band," and say that there is no mistake in its music, and that they will stick to it to the last.

COURT.-The regular term of the court of quarter sessions commenced in our city at ten o'clock this morning. There was but a slim attendance of countrymen, owing, we presume. to the bad condition of the roads. A number of the constables of the several wards and townships submitted their reports, and some business of an unimportant nature transacted, when in consequence of the absence of the as ociate judges, and a large number of grand reports of those constables who were not in A PROFESSIONAL PARTY. -Judge Pearson of attendance at the morning session, and the de this city presided at the Chester county court livery of the Judge's charge to the grand

HE COME ON HORSE BACK. --- The susceptibility of the American people, to run wild in their homage to human nature in the shape of things called Princes, Lords, Actresses and Eoglish Poets, who have visited these United States, called forth the gratitude in pamphlet form a few years since, of Dickens and Fanny Kemble, but all that folly can be safely passed, compared with a fifty cent ride some of our citizens had with the Fakir of Ava at Brant's Hall, a few nights since. Our suble friend, Gen. Fleming Mitchell says it glorifies him so, he has had to laugh at your ignorance, the gentleman, who failed to get a ticket, can invest his little 25 or 50 cents to advantage at the cheap store, corner of Front and Market Sts. URICH & Bow-MAN and his musical education has been completed with great care at the imperial conservator at Paris. Tickets for the concert are now for sale at Knoche's music store, 93 Market street, where seats may also be procured.

TAKING COLD .- A "cold" is not necessarily says the Scientific American, the result of law or high temperature. A person may go directly from a hot bath into a cold one, or into snow. even, and not take cold as he would by pouring a couple of table spoonsfull of water upon some part of his dress, or by standing in a door, or by opening another, where one part of the body. is colder than another. Let it be kept in mind that uniformity of temperature over the whole body is the first thing to be looked after. It is the uniform circulation of some part. If you must keep a partially wet garment on, it would be well, perhaps, to wet the whole of it uniformily. The feet are a great source of colds. on account of the variable temperature they are subjected to. Keep them always dry and warm, and avoid drafts of air, hot or cold, wet spots on the garments and other direct causes of unequal temperature, and keep the system braced up by plenty of sleep, and the eschewing of debilitating food and drinks, and you will be proof against a cold and its results.

------A BAD PRACTICE.-We observe that it is smaller dwellings of our city, to shut the wina view of economizing fuel, partly in imitation of many of the aristocracy. A cotemporary remarks that it is for the latter to hermstically seal their lower story thus when the rooms are extremely large, or when the walls are furnished with venti ators, but even when these remedies are present, the furnace heat and the consumption of oxygen by a large number of gas burners, make the parlors rather smothery tightly closed, while yet the sound of a piano proclaims that it is still tenanted by human beings. So long as the shutters are open, we can hope that the warping of the unseasoned wood so commonly used in our houses, and the imperfection of the carpenter work will permit of the ingress of some fresh air. But the double barrier is nearly impervious to this invigorating cordial. What shall we say then of those of the poorer classes who, though they have a house of half a dozen rooms, usually keep up but one fire-so that in the "snuggest" room of the house; and after the whole family has spent the day in that room, seal it up as above at night ?

ABOUT DINNERS .- What is a bad dinner? Is it a plain one? That, in a country like ours, where the viands are, or ought to be, in their primitive condition, first rate, is the best you can sit down to. The French and Germansare through the ice.

much more scientific in their cookery than we are, but that arises from the fact that they have worse raw material to deal with. Their art has ts origin in poverty. Their meat is stringy and lean-their fish poor and tasteless ; but these they can dress up with sauce of rare poignancy and merit, and from their ovens miserable veal and flaccid carp emerge as positive dainties. All honor to them for their ingenuity! They are attempting, through culiary and almost chemical science, to make palatable and digestible food out of substances which rank low in the natural scale; and that they do succeed, what traveled gastronome can deny? But here, where the beef and and mutton, the flesh and game, poultry and vegetables can be had, not only in exceeding variety of kind, but of the primest quality-why should people make a desperate but really unavailing effort to introduce foreign appliances which only serve to spoil that which, reasonably treated, would furnish forth the finest banquet that the bread universe can display.
