

Daily Telegraph

HARRISBURG, PA.

Friday Afternoon, January 31, 1892.

APPOINTMENT BY THE GOVERNOR.—Wm. A. C. Smith, of this city, has been appointed a notary public vice Geo. A. C. Sellen, deceased.

ANOTHER DEERTER ARRESTED.—Hiram Wynn, a deserter from Colonel Wynkoop's 7th Pennsylvania Cavalry, now in Kentucky, was arrested in this city yesterday by Officer Kline, and after a hearing before the mayor, committed to prison to await the requisition of the military authorities.

POLICE.—A well-dressed and intelligent looking Irishwoman, who said her name was Sallie Wilson, and that she hailed from Middletown, this county, was arrested by the mayor's police last night, for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. She was committed to the Lock-up, and this morning had a hearing before the mayor, who moved by her tears, and promises to forego the future use of the "critter," permitted her to depart.

THE MYSTERY STILL A MYSTERY.—We last week stated, on the authority of an exchange paper, that a criminal in Juniata county had, in his confession, stated that he had murdered Miss Bavor, who was a year or two since, murdered in Berks county. The Juniata Register says that the criminal alluded to makes no such admission; so that the mystery still hangs around the death of Miss Bavor, and her murder may still be at large.

FUNERAL OF JOHN C. GRAZ.—The funeral of John C. Graz, a private in the Lykenstown company of volunteers, attached to Colonel Calk's regiment, whose death at Camp "Northumberland," near Washington, was recently noticed in the TELEGRAPH, took place at half past nine o'clock, this morning, from the residence of his grandfather, Charles C. Carson, Esq., in North Second street. The remains of the deceased were buried in the cemetery with military honors, Captain G. W. P. Davis' company performing the escort duty on the occasion.

A MISTAKE.—In noticing the lot recently purchased by A. B. Hamilton, Esq., from Theo. Fenn, Esq., in last evening's edition of the TELEGRAPH we inadvertently located it at the corner of "South street and Dewberry alley." To any person having a knowledge of our city, the mistake is palpable, for South street is several squares distant from Dewberry alley. The lot alluded to is situated at the corner of Walnut street and Dewberry alley, and is 30 feet wide by 130 feet deep. We believe it is Mr. Hamilton's intention to erect a handsome private residence on the lot next spring.

THE FIRST FREIGHT TRAIN passed over the new Pennsylvania railroad bridge, across the Schuylkill, near Gray's Ferry, Philadelphia, on Monday morning, and passed down to Washington street wharf. In a short time the new grain elevator and the other improvements of the Company will be completed, and then that route will be used for all the principal freight trains, and the market street or city road for local freight and conveying passengers to and from their station in West Philadelphia. The roads on Second and Third streets will shortly be abandoned, leaving those streets for the unobstructed use of the passenger railroads.

ANOTHER RESERVE CORPS CONTEMPLATED.—It is stated that an informal intimation has been received from the War Department that it would be gratified to see another body of reserve troops raised in Pennsylvania, to the number say of ten thousand. These, if raised now, could be used to reinforce any column that might need assistance; or, in case their services are not required in this way, they might take the place of the seasoned and disciplined troops used to garrison Annapolis, Frederick and Baltimore, and thus permit the latter to join the grand army when it advances. Governor Sprague has already acted on the idea, and Governor Andrews, of Massachusetts, is about to follow.

ANOTHER OLD CITIZEN GONE.—Mr. regret to announce the demise of Mr. Ford, one of our oldest and most respectable citizens, which occurred about nine o'clock this morning, at the residence of his son-in-law, in Locust street near Front. Mr. Ford, for many years, carried on the business of gun making, at the corner of Locust and Front streets, in which capacity he obtained considerable celebrity for the peculiar excellence of the guns manufactured at his establishment. He retired from active business life several years ago, at an advanced age, and was quietly enjoying the evening of his life amid the repose of a domestic circle, rich in the emulation of his own virtues, and made doubly beautiful to him by the tender care and affection with which it watched his declining days, and gently guarded him to the portals of the grave.

DAVIS' PANORAMA AND EX-PRESIDENT BUCHANAN.—Davis' panorama of America and the great Rebellion, was recently exhibited at Lancaster, and while there his agent, Mr. Kinard, resolved to visit "Wheatland," the home of James Buchanan, and "do the agreeable" to the ex-President, in the most approved style. He therefore called on Mr. Buchanan, who expressed great interest in the success of the young artist, and regretted that the state of his health would hardly warrant his coming into Lancaster at night to see the panorama. The agent replied with affability, and without the most remote intention of touching the "O. P. F." on a tender point: "O, sir, that difficulty can be obviated, I think. To-morrow afternoon we give an exhibition for children. Permit me to offer you a complimentary ticket." Mr. B. turned on his heel on the instant, while the agent, covered with confusion at the apparently mal apropos suggestion, "fled for safety and for succor" to Lancaster. Poor Buck! It was cruel.

All should read Prof. Wood's advertisement in another column.

THE GROTTO.—A stirring programme is out for tonight's performances at this popular place of amusement, and of course, a full house may be expected.

MORE AMUSEMENTS COMING.—The Bordwell's will shortly appear at Sanford's Opera House in their Parlor Entertainments. The Eastern press speak in the highest terms of these artists.

GERMAN BALL.—The ball given by our German friends at Brant's Hall last night, is represented as having been a very pleasant affair. A large number of the "beauty and gallantry" of our city were present, who vied with each other in promoting the "gay and happy" spirit that prevailed on the occasion.

DON'T FORGET UNCLE FRANK BROWER'S BENEFIT, rather happy Frank Tom, as the bills style him, this evening. A night to be remembered, when Frank wishes to see all his friends and the entire community gather around him as a great wagger is to be decided on the capacity of Sanford's Opera House. Frank says it will hold a thousand if you can get them in.

THE ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT ceremonies at the Harrisburg Female Seminary, at 7 o'clock this evening, in the Seminary building, Locust street, promises to be of a very interesting character, and we have no doubt will attract a large and brilliant audience of the relatives and friends of the young lady scholars who are to participate in the exercises. The Seminary, under the control of the amiable and accomplished Principal, Mrs. S. E. Dixon, has acquired a reputation which places it at the very head of this useful class of educational institutions; and we are glad to know that its merits are properly appreciated by the public.

PROMOTED.—We are pleased to learn that Corporal William J. Irvin, of the "Roberts' Guard," Capt. I. S. Waterbury's company, now at Hilltop, S. C., has been promoted to a responsible position in the army Signal corps, and is attached to the staff of Gen. Viole. The Signal service is one of the most important and responsible in the army, and since its establishment, the fatal error of fringing into our own troops is entirely avoided. In the hands of Corporal Irvin, or whatever title the new position gives him, we feel confident that the service has gained a valuable and faithful auxiliary. He combines all the qualifications essential to an accomplished soldier, and will perform the duties incident to this new position in such a manner as to reflect credit upon his appointment.

BENEFIT OF ADVERTISING.—Arrest of a Deserter.—The recent Michael Boothop advertised in last evening's TELEGRAPH, as having run off from Camp Greble, near this city, with one of the government horses, has been arrested by officer Fleck and Carochner, of the consolidated police, and safely lodged in prison, to await the action of the authorities. The first intimation the officers had of the deserter and robbery was by the advertisement in the TELEGRAPH, and from the accurate description there given of the man and horse, they proceeded to "work" up the case, until they finally succeeded in making the arrest several miles above this city. The officers of course will claim the reward of forty dollars offered by the military authorities for the arrest of the deserter.

JEFFERSON, THE ACTOR.—It is not generally known to our readers, that the remains of Joseph Jefferson, Sr., the celebrated actor, repose in the grave yard of St. Stephen's Episcopal church, in this city. We find the following brief sketch of his life in the Dramatic Portrait Gallery, written by Col. S. Alston Brown:

"Born in Plymouth, Devonshire, England, in 1778. Was invited to this country by C. Powell, for the Boston company, he (Mr. J.) agreeing to pay Mr. Jefferson's passage, and a salary of $17 per week. His first appearance on the American stage was at the old Federal street Theatre, Boston, in 1795; first appeared in New York, February 10th, 1796, at the John street Theatre as Squire Richard in "The Provoked Husband." Appeared in Philadelphia in 1800, at the Chestnut street Theatre, where he remained until 1830. His last benefit in Philadelphia, took place December 23d, 1829, when he appeared as Bobby Buttercup, in "A School for Scoundrels." His last appearance in Philadelphia, was in the character of Sir Bushful Crabtree, in "The Way to Keep Him." He died in Harrisburg, August, 1832.

"By the death of this distinguished actor, the American stage was bereft of its brightest ornament. During the many years that he was before the public, he was not only unrivalled in his peculiar department, but we may safely assert that of his competitors there was not one who could endure the comparison.—From the commencement of his career, until a few weeks previous to his death, he continued with "untired spirit," to hold the highest station in the mimic scene, and while his own heart was lacerated by an accumulation of family misfortunes, he was the delight and admiration of the public. In the enduring relations of private life, Mr. Jefferson was no less esteemed.

"Surrounded by smiling thousands and a family rising in the profession of their father, adding fame to the worldly gear, the prospects of Mr. Jefferson looked bright and fair. He was considered rich, looked upon as such, and on every occasion of his benefit, the public—the smiling thousands turned out en masse. But soon a change came over his dream of life; his friend William Warren, became involved in difficulties, suit after suit hurried him down the tide of misfortune; old Jeff held out his arm to the rescue, it saved his friend for the moment, but ruined himself; their united fortunes were now a wreck, and in their old days, with a large family around them, they were compelled to quit the scene of their success, as well as misfortunes. Warren went to Baltimore, and Jefferson made an appeal to his patrons under circumstances of a peculiar nature, for a benefit. He claims upon the public—his losses—were set forth in language none could mistake; the night came, the house was deserted. The friends who smiled upon him in the days of prosperity would not do so in his night of sorrow and gloom—the expected benefit was a failure. "Forlorn and broken hearted," the old man quitted his home; his registered oath that he would never play more in Philadelphia was kept. With one of his sons he started for Harrisburg, where under the accumulation of domestic woes and the cold neglect of the public, he died."

The "gallery" also contains a brief biography of one of Mr. Jefferson's grand-children, named John, whose "naive humor on the stage, and affability and laudible conduct of it, rendered him at once an esteemed and respectable actor." He fell in a fit and died in Harrisburg, on the 4th of September, 1831.

A CONTINUAL DROPPING.—A French editor has given the following amusing description of the effect of an advertisement. The first time a man sees an advertisement he takes no notice of it, the second time he looks at the name, the third time he looks at the price, the fourth time he reads it, the fifth time he speaks of it to his wife, the sixth time all those who look carefully to their own interests call the cheap dry good mart of Ulrich & Bowman and buy.

TWO HUNDRED PICES of beautiful new spring calicos; a large lot of bleached and unbleached muslin of the best make; blue checks, at 12 1/2 cents per yard; white stockings, at 12 1/2 cents; another lot of those good white ribbed stockings; ladies' pocket handkerchiefs, at 12 1/2 cents; children's pocket handkerchiefs, with border, 5 cents; shirt breasts 12 1/2 and up to 37 1/2 cents; 25 pieces new pant stuff, and woolen socks, at all prices; 40 dozen woolen stockings for children, 12 1/2 cents; 1 1/2 yard bleached muslin 12 1/2 and 7 1/2 cents. Having bought the balance of the stock of a city wholesale house of plain and figured Swiss muslins, brillante, white cambrics, Nausauk and Victoria laws, suitable for dresses, as those goods will be very scarce and dear next summer now is the time to buy. "Read the following certificate" from one of the first ladies in Utica, N. Y., who called upon my agents in that city (Mr. Wm.
