Chamber of Commerce. THE BRIGHT CASE. THE ERRICSON FLOATING BETTERY.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4. Some time ago the House called upon the it was unconstitutional. Every attorney. Secretary of War to inform them why certain agent, trustee, commission merchant, or any troups in this vicinity were not provided with other person acting in a financial character, troups in this vicinity were not provided with arms. A response has been transmitted, saying that a portion of the 89th New York regiment were for a time without them for the reason that there were note in the arsenal, they than Congress. Such a scheme was never were willing to receive, but that since then a thought of, even under James Buchanan and supply of Austrian rifles had been received and Monroe Edwards. Passing by all legal and the regiment armed with them.

Information has reached here that the Erric son floating battery, authorized by act of Congress, of August last, and to be commanded by Lieut. Warden, will, in the course of next week be sufficiently completed to test its efficiency. XXXVIIth Congress--First Session.

he would read two resolutions, which had been passed at a large political meeting in Indiana, n January last, which embodied his sentiments.

Tuey were as follows:

Resolved, That, in this national emergency the Democracy of Indiana banish all feeling passion or resentment, and will recollect only tueir duty to the whole country. That this war should not be waged in a spirit of conquest and subjugation, nor for the purpose of overthrowing the rights of the Southern States, but to desend and maintain the supremacy of the Constitution, and preserve the Juion with all the dignity, equality and rights of the several States unimpaired. Resolved, That as soon as these objects ar accomplished, the war ought to cease ; that we will sustain with all our energies the war for the Constitution, and the integrity of the Union, but are opposed to a war for the eman cipation of the negroes, or the subjugation of the Southern States.

Mr. Baight said that as far as these resoluti ns go they comprised his platform. If he was turned out of this body, he proposed or these resolutions to go again before the people who had so long and so often honored him. Mr. WILLEY said he must ask the Senator still further to define what he did mean by the statement that he was entirely opposed ercion when the country is in danger and the rabels were trying to overthrow the govern-

Mr. Sumner, (Mass.,) made an elaborate speech, maintaining his previous arguments in support of the resolution of expulsion and reviewing the debate. Regarding the detence of Mr. Bright, he said it afforded ample ground for regret, if not condemnation. It showed offensively the same spirit which is found in he original letter.

better than the original bill. He did not object to paper issues to a limited extent, but he to establish notes and bonds. wanted the notes to be fully equivalent to the standard of currency. This could be done by fixing the amount beyond which such issues cannot be made, with adequate taxation to maintain them. In alluding to the state of the war, he said that General McClellan must harvest the ad-Vantages within the next ninety days, otherwise he will be gazatted as a gentleman, but not a general.

Mr. Roscoz Conkling, (N. J.,) spoke against a great banking scheme about to be introduced the design of which seemed to be to prevent the local canks from resuming specie payment.

It seemed to be the design in high quarters to preach a crusade against the banks, thereby raising a prejudice against them. He proceeded to give his reasons why he should vote against any attempt by legislation to make aught but gold and silver a legal tender. The proposition was a new one. No pre-cedent for it could be found, and, besides, whoever received hard money, will relieve him the regiment armed with them.

The remonstrance of the Chamber of Commerce of New York against the passage of an act creating the office of the Solicitor of Customs at the port of New York, was presented to the House to-day, by Representative F. A. Conking.
