HARRISBURG, PA.

Wednesday Morning, February 12, 1862.

THE GORNO CONCERT SALOON has been re-fitted with a number of new faces, and now presents any amount of fun and amusement to large crowds who nightly assemble there.

Dr. Addison, who is stopping at the House, Room No. 45, is creating an excitement in our city by his examination of the practice. He comes among us recommended from the best authority, and his advertisement in another column of the paper.

THE MEMBERS OF THE 101st PENNSYLVANIA REGIMENT, were recently paid off, and returned to their friends, residing chiefly in Lancaster county, the sum of two thousand dollars and twenty-five cents. The members numbered ninety-two men, which is an average of twenty-one dollars and seventy cents per man.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE METHODIST MISSION CHURCH on the 10th inst. would be dedicated to Divine service Sunday, was premature, no arrangements to that effect having yet been made. The building, however, is nearly completed, and will be ready for service in the course of two or three weeks.

THE CHALLENGE.—We learn that a challenge was passed between two gentlemen of our city each other on the ice in friendly competition for the honor of being considered the fastest skater. The gentlemen alluded to were experienced skaters—probably the best in the city—and if the proposed contest of our citizens may expect to see a fine thing on ice.

THE APPEARANCE OF SANFORD.—Mr. Sanford's brilliant and successful engagement at the Opera House in Philadelphia has returned to this place in this city. This announcement will be sufficient to fill the house, as his face is always welcome. He comes to devote himself to the amusement of our city with a budget of fun, and new stars will be introduced in rapid succession. To-night Romeo and Juliet will be played for the last time, and tomorrow night the Opera of Somnambula will be produced as originally performed by Sanford's Opera Troupe in Philadelphia, with the usual scenic, dresses, &c.

THE IMMORTAL "J. N.", the unrivalled orator and philosopher, "held forth" to a large audience at the Capitol Monday night—the hall of the House of Representatives having been devoted to him by resolution for that purpose. The "immortal" was "numerosus" on the war question, and proved incontestible, beyond the shadow of the least possible doubt, that "truth" is always as Chinese in "dog days." The audience was highly impressed with his "oratorical" gifts, and manifested their appreciation of his "philosophy" by frequent outbursts of applause. The mortal J. N. we believe, goes hence to New York.

FASHION has to answer for a multitude of ills, but this winter she has done a great deal towards atoning for them all. She has encouraged outdoor, healthful exercises for the ladies, and she has discouraged bills and parties, with their late hours, their heated rooms, and their indigestible suppers. In past winters, the ball season was not half over by this time. The cry of "hard times" will not account for this entirely. People appear to have money enough to spend for other amusements. The Opera House, Grotto, and transient places of amusement, never did a better business than they have done this winter, so that we are not reminded very forcibly of any stringency in the money market. The fact is, that the public taste has changed—whether permanently or not it would not be safe to conjecture—and grand balls and expensive parties are voted burlesque. The skating arena has had a great deal to do with this wholesome change. It became the fashion, and ladies who at first patronized the graceful exercise for fashion's sake, speedily discovered that its benefits and fascinations, and learned to love it for its own. It would require a miraculously stupid apprehension, indeed, not to discern very speedily, the difference between one's sensations after an hour on the ice, breathing the pure, healthful, exhilarating air, and participating in an exercise which brings every muscle into play, and sends the red blood to the sallow cheek and the sparkle to the languid eye;—and one's feelings the day after being up all night at a ball or party, when one awakes with a headache and feels chilled and used up and good for nothing. The difference between the two is simply that the former brings a healthy and a good recreation. We hope that this change for the better will not be merely a temporary one, but as Miss Susan Nipper would phrase it—"a permanency."

A CARD.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 11, 1862. Mr. Editor:—Sir—A communication signed "Lovers," in your paper of yesterday, is liable to misapprehension. To prevent anything of the kind, I beg you will allow me a small space in your columns, and have made repeated application to have Camp Curtin placed in my charge, but not with its present occupants. I could not take command of Camp Curtin as I have no first, because my rank being only that of captain, I can not, without being appointed, take that duty by the War Department; and with a local rank, assume command over the Colonels and other field officers now in the city there; second, because my present duty as recruiting sergeant, and superintendent of the Little Theatre of this State, leave me no leisure to devote to the capacity of commander of the 101st Regt. Cavalry, either to myself, the troops there, or to the depot for my regiment, which I have made application for it simply to that view, and to that end.

RICHARD I. DODGE, Captain Eighth Infantry.

THE PROPOSED NATIONAL FOUNDRY.—Meeting of the Citizens.

Agreeably to a published call, a large number of the citizens of Harrisburg and vicinity, met at Brant's City Hall on Monday evening last, for the purpose of adopting measures to secure the establishment of the proposed National Foundry at or in the vicinity of Harrisburg.

The meeting was called to order by Fredrick K. Boss, Esq., upon whose motion, the following gentlemen were chosen officers:

- President, JOHN H. BRIGGS. Vice Presidents, Hon. James Cameron, John Haldeman, Simon W. Weil, William M. Kerr, Daniel W. Gross, George Berger, Mercer Brown, Lyman Gilbert, Joseph Ross, Wells Covarty, Jacob B. Eby, John Jones, John Staley, John Brady, Allen Sturgeon, Jacob Shell, Jacob D. Boss, William Mitchell, John L. Speer, Alex. W. Watson, John L. Speer, John Ringland, John D. Hoffman, Samuel Matiguet, Hon. John J. Pearson, Daniel Hooker, Hon. J. M. Simons, Hon. Thomas G. Fox, David Harris, Ex-Gov. D. B. Porter, Hon. David Mumma, John Fleming, Geo. F. Wiestling, John C. Barni, Samuel Holman, W. K. Verbeke, Theo. Fenn, Andrew K. Black, G. A. Hummel, Hon. William Dock, Hon. Wm. F. Murray, Hon. Wm. H. Kepper, Hon. A. O. Hiestor, Hon. Samuel Landis, Hon. Moses R. Young, Hon. Felix Nissley, Gen. A. L. Rounfort, Gen. Christian Seltzer, Jas. M. Cormick, Jr., John H. Brant, Hon. A. A. Hancock, Dr. Andrew Patterson, Philip Dougherty, Henry Omit, O. Barrett, Charles Carson, Michael Burke, Henry Shellenberger, H. C. Alleman, Joshua M. Wiestling, John W. Brown, John A. Small, John F. Etter, Robert L. Muench, Theodore Adams, Hother Hage.

Mr. Briggs on taking the chair, thanked the audience for the honor they had conferred on him, and proceeded to state the objects of the meeting, dwelling at some length upon the superior advantages presented by Harrisburg, as the site for the proposed national foundry.

THE RESOLUTIONS.

After Mr. Briggs had concluded, Mr. Alleman submitted the following preamble and resolutions, following them up with a speech showing the importance of the movement to the citizens of Harrisburg, the advantages possessed by the city as a great manufacturing and business mart, and concluded by paying an eloquent tribute to the State of Pennsylvania for the noble part she is taking in defence of the perpetuity of our glorious Union. He was frequently interrupted by the applause of the audience.

The preamble and resolutions offered by Mr. Alleman, reads as follows:

WHEREAS, The United States government has determined to establish a National Foundry; and whereas, Pennsylvania is rich in all the materials necessary for such Foundry, and could produce her manufactured articles at a cheaper rate than any other State in the Union; and being connected by iron-roads with all the principal business points of the country, and within her own borders, she can furnish transportation with both economy and rapidity such as cannot be equaled by any of her sister States; and whereas, The city of Harrisburg presents greater facilities for the establishment of a National Foundry than any other city, borough or town within the Union. Situated on the Susquehanna river, and traversed by the "Pennsylvania Canal," the "Pennsylvania Railroad," the "Northern Central Railroad," the "Delaware and Erie Railroad," the "Philadelphia and Reading Railroad," the "Cumberland Valley Railroad," and "Schuylkill and Susquehanna Railroad," she is indubitably commensurate with all the great frontiers of the country; and the advantages of obtaining coal, iron, limestone, lumber and all the necessary ingredients to a National Foundry, being where found superior, and cannot be so well furnished as economically. Ordnance manufactured by said Foundry could be transported with greater facility, rapidly and economy than from any other place in the Union. Shipments could be made to Philadelphia in four hours, to Baltimore in four hours, to New York and Washington in six hours, to Pittsburgh in nine hours, to Cincinnati in thirteen hours, and Chicago and St. Louis in twenty-four hours. Therefore,

Resolved, That we, the citizens of Dauphin county recommend to our Senators and Representatives in Congress, to use all fair and honorable means to secure the establishment of a National Foundry in Harrisburg.

Resolved, That a committee be appointed to draft a memorial setting forth the facilities of Harrisburg, and the advantages she presents to the United States government for the establishment of a National Foundry in her midst; and that said committee proceed to Washington and lay said memorial before the Congress, and request the selection of Harrisburg as a site for said National Foundry.

Resolved, That the citizens of Dauphin county will donate to the United States government sufficient land, favorably located, upon which to erect, and for all the purposes of a National Foundry.

Gen. A. L. Rounfort, rose to suggest a mere verbal amendment to the preamble, and then proceeded to dwell at some length upon the extraordinary advantages possessed by Harrisburg over all other localities, as the site of the proposed foundry. He alluded to the geographical position of the city; its railroad and water connections with all sections of the country; the different species and superior qualities of the inexhaustible beds of iron-ores and coals in the immediate vicinity; and concluded by expressing the opinion, that if the selection of the site of the proposed foundry was left to competent ordnance officers, they could not fail to be struck with the superior improvements presented by Harrisburg; for the successful operation of such an establishment.

The verbal amendment suggested by Gen. Rounfort, was then agreed to, and the preamble and resolutions, as published above, were adopted.

THE COMMITTEE TO PROCEED TO WASHINGTON. Mr. Alleman moved that the chair appoint a committee of nine in pursuance of the resolution; and that Hon. J. J. Pearson be selected as chairman of said committee.

The motion was agreed to; and the President appointed the following committee: Hon. Jno. J. Pearson, H. C. Alleman, Esq., Hon. Wm. H. Kepper, David Mumma, Esq., Wm. Collier, Thos. H. Wilson, A. O. Hiestor, Wm. M. Kerr, D. W. Gross.

On motion of Mr. Berger, the President of the meeting, Mr. Briggs, was added to the committee. The meeting then adjourned.

FOR THE TELEGRAPH.

Mr. Editor.—To save an innocent citizen from the terrible wrath of the Clerk to the County Commissioners, as well as from the criticism of his learned friend, who writes his cards for him; I feel myself compelled to reply over my name; and to save his critical friend as much trouble as possible, I will try to write plain, and beg of you to let me see the proof, or be a little careful in setting the type. But there is worse English in my communication when you make me say "from the treasury," when it ought to read "from the treasury;" but strange as it may seem, when on the subject of drawing from the treasury, the Clerk and his critical friend are willing to take it in good or bad English, without complaint; but when I come to speak of the act being "unjust," they become at once indignant, because of the bad English. A mere accident in setting the type. But I shall not allow myself to be drawn into a controversy with "Joseph Miller, clerk of Dauphin county," or "his learned friend," and his critical friend, who in the latter part of the Clerk's card, introduces by way of a friend, the Devil, and who, by the way, has made a happy hit in the character of the "Devil and the Devil." But by way of satisfaction to the Clerk of County Commissioners, I will state here now, in reply to his challenge, that in reference to the four hundred dollars extra pay, so eagerly voted him by the Commissioners, "without any suggestion on his part," I am informed by Capt. John P. Rumsford, one of the County Auditors, that two of these four hundred dollars were intended to reimburse him, (the Clerk) for his extraordinary and "meritorious" conduct in making two of the Commissioners, each a present of one hundred dollars, for their kindness in giving him his appointment. Is this true? Mr. Rumsford is not in the habit of stating any thing he can not substantiate, and never speaks out from anything he says, "unjustly unjust!" I will take it in good or bad English, as the clerk and his critical friend take the "draw or drawn from the treasury" take it any way. If it be true, may I not appeal to the honest tax-payers and the whole community, and ask of them this not enough to "frighten women and children, and make fearful men, turn pale?" I have no malice against any of the commissioners; but on the contrary I am on terms of intimate friendship with them; but as a citizen and tax-payer, as well as at the instance of many other citizens, I will, as I have a right to do, resist to the utmost of my power the bill now before the members of the House of Representatives, as well as any other attempt to deal candidly with the public tax. And as to this clerk, Joseph Miller, I will only say that there are plenty of better men, and as good clerks, who will serve in the same capacity for half the pay he has been getting from time to time, to wit: for six hundred dollars per annum, provided they are not required to make the commissioners any presents for the appointment. It is due to Mr. Meyer, the new commissioner, to state that he has had no hand in these matters, they having all been fixed up before he came into office. DAVID MUMMA.

HONESTY IN BUSINESS MATTERS.—The adventure of the "Fable of Aesop," and the proto change with the magic wand, of cotton into linen, go far to say that there are some men that believe that honesty in every-day business matters is incompatible with success. They seem to think in order to get along they must practice a certain degree of trickery and deception. We firmly believe that the man who possesses the requisite business qualifications can succeed better by pursuing an honest, straight-forward course. Let every honest merchant then be encouraged by these reflections, and his legitimate competition is an incentive to success; by keeping good goods at the lowest cash prices, which can always be found at the cheap dry-goods store of Ulrich & Bowman.
