HARRISBURG, PA. Saturday Morning, February 22, 1862.

PROCLAMATION BY THE PRESIDENT.

A PROCLAMATION. It is recommended to the people of the United States that they assemble in their customary places of meeting, for public solemnities on the 22d day of February instant, and celebrate the anniversary of the birth of the Father of his Country, by causing to be read to them his immortal Farewell Address.

Given under my hand and the seal of the United States, at Washington, the nineteenth day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, and of the independence of the United States of America the eighty-sixth. [SEAL.]
By the President.

WILLIAM H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

SEVERAL BILLS for the government of the disloyal states are now before the committees of both houses of Congress. Mr. Hutchins' bill. finds favor, as it is understood. In reference to the qustion of slavery in the District of Columbia, Mr. Hutchins takes the position that slavery has no legal existence in the District. for the reason, first, that Congress has no constitutional power to adopt or enact a law establishing slavery; second, that the laws of Marvland in force on the 27th of February, 1801 which Congress on that day adopted for the District, did not provide for perpetual slavery, but confined it to the natural lives of the children then born, or thereafter to be born of slaves then imported or thereafter to be imported.-This law point was made in the Senate some weeks since by Senator Pomeroy of Kansas.-These measures touching the institution of slavery in the disloyal states, as well as in the District of Columbia, will receive a careful consideration in Congress after the financial SECRETARY STANTON, in reply to a resolution of the Senate, furnishes that body with a list of aids-de-camp appointed under the act of August 5, 1861. The whole number is fiftytwo-seventeen colonels, at a salary (including pay, clothing and subsistence) of $2,457, and an allowance of $591 for servants; twelve lieutenant-colonels, with an income of $2,071 50. and $691 for servants; nine majors, on the pay of $1.782. servants $591; and fourteen captains, pay $1,566, servant $2,95 50. BURNSIDE is one of the Generals "that do not issue proclamations." He is a man of actionnot of words. This was shown by his speech on the reception of the flag presented to him at Washington, at an early period of the war. After the spokesman of the donors had delivered a flattering speech and had presented the flag, Burnside received it with an expression of satisfaction on his countenance, made a courteous bow and said: "Very much obliged to you! very much obliged to you! Move on, men." That is it. 'No words to spare. "Move on men."

THERE HAS been a meeting of Philadelphia merchants, for the purpose of raising funds for a most laudable object. Several gentlemen have subscribed one thousand dollars each. The intention is to raise two hundred thousand dollars for the maintenance and education of the children of Philadelphia soldiers, who fall in battle, defending the Union. All honor to the noble men who have projected so excellent an enterprise. Such men are really patriots, and entitled to the warmest gratitude of all Union lovers.

WHAT has become of Wigfall, the immense occasion he promised to have a good time in guarded. Washington over the ruination of the glorious washington over the ruination of the glorious old Union. He was going to fight and bleed right off for the southern confed. But Unionists among us, but a reign of terror makes now we hear no more of him. Where is he? Is he skulking, or what is he about? Perhaps he has bursted and gone up, as we always auspected he would.

Ars not the newspapers making too much of Gen. Floyd, by the regrets and epithets of abuse they bestow upon him because of his retreat from Fort Donelson? He is of no consequence as a military leader, so far as we can judge from his campaign in Virginia, and had he been taken as a prisoner of war, he would, of course, have been treated as such. His escape from the fort was, probably, the best proof of his generalship which he has yet given the world.

THE HAPPIEST demonstration of patriotism during the war, was the prompt shipment of relief for the wounded at Fort Donelson. No sconer were the facts known than immense medical supplies, and sick room comforts, accompanied by volunteer surgeons and nurses, were started from Chicago, St. Louis, Indianapolis, our own good city, and other points.

THE PRESIDENT'S SON, William, ten years of age, was relieved of his painful illness after a delir um of 90 hours by death, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mr. Lincoln feels his loss very deeply; and the grief of the family is in- at Fort Donelson was heard two hundred miles. creased by the fact that other of its young Singular as it may appear, the stock was felt at members are lying dangerously ill with the a much greater distance. WITHIN OR WITHOUT THE UNION.

The Washington Republic boldly asserts the doctrine that nothing is more plain than that States may take themselves out of the Union, and abdicate all their rights as States, by their own voluntary act. They cannot, however, without the assent of the nation, withdraw either their territory, or their citizens, from the national jurisdiction. It is probably one of the dormant powers of the Union, to expel a State, for sufficient cause in confirmed misconduct and vicious practice, but beyond all doubt, it is optional with the Union to keep a State out, which has voluntarily gone out. Undoubtedly, the Union owes certain indefeasible du ties of protection to such citizens of withdrawing States as remain loyal, but it depends up in circumstances whether these duties can be best performed by compelling, or permitting, the return of such States into the Union, or by enforcing the national jurisdiction over the territory of such States in some other way. It may happen that to recognize the actual governments of withdrawing States, may be the very course to subject the loyal minority of their inhabitants to the tyranny from which they ought to be relieved. In the present matter in hand, the true view is, that all the States which have passed ordinances of secession are now out of the Union, and are to be re-admitted, not as a matter of right, but at such time and under such circumstances and conditions as may be judged best by the nation. Exceptions may, perhaps, be made of Virginia and Tennessee, in both of which, important territorial divisions have remained steadily loyal. Nothing is more absurd than the idea that the object of this bloody and exhausting war is and power in the Union the old aristocracy of FROM FORTRESS MONROE. to restore to their former political weight South Carolina, of that little nest of repudiating swindlers, heretofore fraulently dignified as ARRIVAL OF FOUR HUNDRED the State of Florida. The war has no such preposterous object as that. It is to preserve our territory intact within its essential bounds. The Effect of the Fall of Fort ries, and to vindicate the vital fact that this is really a nation, and not a mere league of thirtyfour sovereignties. We are fighting to maintain our own rightful authority over the territory of South Carolina and Florida, and not to The River Navigable for the enable the rebels ascendant there to send new Yulees and Mallorys into the Senate to plunder us, or new Hammonds to beard and insult us ORGANIZATION OF THE REBEL CONGRESS. in our own Capitol. We are fighting, in short, to establish the rights, not of rebels, but of the SAVANNAH TO BE CAPTURED THIS nation. It is, of course, the expectation and hope that ultimately the condition of affairs may be such as to render it safe to re-admit into the Union all the States which have left it. But great social and political changes must be made in some of them, before this expectation can be realized.

In the meantime, the monstrous heresy that the Union exists to-day as it did in 1860, contrary as it is both to notorious facts and to rational legal views, should not be tolerated for a moment. It takes two to make a bargain, and any agreement we may hereafter make with South Carolina and Florida, (we speak of them by way of illustration,) is a bargain de novo, they having themselves nullified the old one. In treating with them, of course we must consider our duties to their loyal inhabitants, few at best, but not on that account the less entitled to protection. How it may be next week, or next year, no man can forsee, but to-day the ers made their appearance on the William Allivery worst way to protect them. would be to son, which it seemed had also anchored for the very worst way to protect them, would be to re-invest the bloody and desperate factions which rule them with the powers and attributes of State sovereignty.

LOYALTY IN THE SOUTH.

Lieutenant Phelps, who commanded the gunboat expedition sent up the Tennessee river, after the capture of Fort Henry, has made an official eport. While the value of the prizes captured and enemy's property destroyed proves to be much greater than the telegraph asserted, the surprising stories of Union men discovered in Mississippi, Alabama and Southwestern Tennessee, are more than confirmed. Lieutenant Phelps states that "everywhere" in the region he traversed "most affecting instances greeted | Thirteen thousand Federal troops are at Fort us almost hourly. Men. women and children several times gathered in crowds of hundreds, shouted their welcome, and hailed their national flag with an enthusiasm there was no mistaking; it was genuine and heartfelt. Those people braved everything to go to the river-bank where a sight of their flag might once more be enjoyed, and they have experienced, as they related, every possible form of persecution. Tears flowed freely down the cheeks of men as well as of women."

In Tennessee, he remarks, the people dared brawler and huge brag of the rebels. A year to express their loyalty, unfearing; but in ago we heard much of him. On six several Mississippi and Alabama what they said was

"'If we dared express ourselves freely, you Bring us a small organized force, with arms and ammunition for us, and we can maintain our position and put down rebellion in our midst.' It is strange to read of an oppression scarcely equalled in Naples under Bomba, or in Austria, and to know that free Americans have been subjected to this, have submitted to it, are yet submitting to it, on American soil. These revelstions of the shameful secrets of the rebel tyranny make us blush for the name (f American, which these slave driving aristocrats have disgraced—they make more sacredly binding on us the redemption of our countrymen from these unscrupulous tyrants, who have forfeited all claim to consideration as American citizens.

Concerning the blockade of the southern ports, an officer of our fleet writes that only three steamers have got out of Charleston in ninety days, and only two out of Savannah In the rigid blockade of the French ports by Great Britain, during the last great European war, there was nothing that was as complete and effective as is our present blockade. Our blockade against vessels going in is equally effective, which is proved by the exorbitant prices for all foreign commodities throughout the southern states.

IT IS STATED that the sound of the canonading have been terrific as far away as Richmond.

FORTRESS MONBON, Feb. 20. Notice having been received by General Wool that some four hundred exchanged prisoners would be sent down the James river yesterday, the George Washington and Express left at about noon for the appointed meeting place. The rebel boat was appointed to meet us at three o'clock, but at that time she was not in sight, and after that a heavy fog shut down. making it impossible to move in any direction. The two boats were fastened together, and having dropped anchor, waited for the rebel boats to appear.

The feg did not lift till late in the evening, when the wind blew so fresh that the hoats dragged their unchors, and had to be separated.

Five times within the last ten years the House has passed a bill similar to this, and by seventy-three votes, when parties were nearly balanced on every other question. Bills too of a like character had passed the Senate. He answered the objections that the public lands should be retained as a source of revenue and repeated that they had already in the report of the commissioner of public lands and argued in favor of giving homesteads to actual settlers. By the settlement of the public domain the ability to pay internal taxes will be increased, and in addition to the other im portant benefits which must certainly result, speculators should no longer be permited to intervene between the Government and actual tillers of the soil—those who have flocked to the standard of the country, are deserving of more substantial rewards than tears for the dead and thanks to the living. He earnestly appealed to the House to pass the bill, and thus conse-crate the public land for homes to actual settlers who, prosperous in life, may be the better enabled to develop a higher, better and nobler civilization. There were no further proceedings on the above subject.

Mr. KNAPP offered a resolution that the House, entertaining the deepest sentiments of condolence with the President in his present affi ction in the death of a son, do now a Mr. Ro-cor Conklin, (N.
