An Interesting Incident .- A released prisonerwho gives his experience in Secessia to the Rochester Express, relates this incident: Of the six or seven cars which started from Manassas, there were but two remaining when we reached the rebel capital, Richmond. We arrived there about nine o'clock in the evening. After the cars had halted, I heard a low voice at my window, which was partly raised. It was quite dark, and I could not distinguish the speaker, who was an Irish woman.

"Whist," said she, "are you hungry?"

I replied that I was not, but that some of the boys probably were. "Wait till I go to the house," she continued—and a moment afterwards I heard her again at the window. She handed me a loaf of bread, some meat and about a dozen baker's cakes, saying, "that was all I had in the house, but I had a shillin' and I bought the cakes wid it; and if I had more you should have it and are made very full and gored, and have a welcome! Take it and God bless ye.' I thanked her and said, "you are very kind to enemies."

"Whist," said she, "and ain't I from New York meself?" This was the first Union demonstration that I witnessed in Old Virginia. I thanked God for the consolation which the reflection afforded me, as for the third night I lay sleeplessly in the cars, my clothing still saturated, and my

NEW PETTICOATS. -- A novelty in petticoats has recently been adopted among fashionables. For all but dress, the white petticoat has been discarded for one of alapaca; and they have a great advantage over the linen or cotton ones, inasmuch as they are lighter and do not lose their stiffness. Of course, if the dress be grenadine, barege or other clear texture, the broad black ribbon or velvet above the hem; sometimes there is a trimming of gathered tibbon put on the vandykes. The dresses are invariably canght up at the sides to show this under petticoat. When it is not necessary to metch the tint of the dress, a stone color is the best shade to wear.
