FROM THE 55th PENNSYLVANIA REGIMENT,

CAMP DICK WHITE, EDISTO ISLAND, S. C., Monday, March, 10th, 1862. Two weeks ago to-day, we received marching orders at Hilton Head, and on the following morning, embarked at Sabrook's landing on the U.S. transport steamship Cahawba, from whence we sailed to Bort Royal harbor and awaited further orders. Our destination was the complete and Charleston Railroad in thought to be Savannah, for the next day after anchoring, we observed the whole naval fleet steam out to sea in that direction. But we were disappointed. After being kept more than a week lying in the stream, orders came to sail; and on the following morning found ourselves off the month of the Edisto riv-case. As we entered the river, they greeted us with cheers. The steam sloop of war, Crusader, is stationed in Edisto river, and cruises from its mouth to the head of navigation as a guard boat, the rebels holding possession above this Island.

Before our arrival the only troops stationed here, were the N. Y. 47th, Col. Moore, and al-though their proximity to a strong rebel force was rather close, they have not been molested to any extent. Our arrival cheered the New Yorkers very much. We have pitched our tents about half a mile to the rear of the landtents about hair a mile to the rear of the landing, upon a beautiful location, with cypress and live oak groves on all sides of us, and excellent water just at our doors. Within a mile or two are a number of the most splendid residences. I have yet seen in the South. The nabobs of these sea islands, comprise some of the wealthiest men of the South, and the grandeur and luxulance in which that lived contract striking. ience in which they lived, contrasts strikingly with the squalid abodes and abject appearance of the slaves. Every plantation has been abandoned by the whites, who took with them all by them or their slaves, before our arrival, but what personal property is left, is being gathered up by the government agents, to be disposed of in some way—but how I am unable to conjecture.

For some time peak the saway agents and saway agents are desired as the saway are desired as the saway agents are desired as the saway agents are desired as the saway are desire

For some time past the rebels have employed persons to come here and carry off their property, such as horses, cattle and slaves, which depredations were generally performed in the night. A report was made to the headquarters of the matter and detachments were accordingly sent out, to try and contract the decredant ingly sent out to try and capture the depreda-tors. One of the parties was successful and captured two Irishmen named McGrath (brothers) who were recognized by the contrabands as re-gular. "nigger stealers." An intelligent slave informed me that he knew them well; they were owners of a sloop that formerly traded with the planters here, and for some time back they had been in the habit of coming to the island and taking the slaves off by force. At one of kidnappers. The party will be conveyed from here to more secure quarters, where they won't have an opportunity to play their nefari ous business for some time to come. The day of our arrival here, a party of con-trabands, in attempting to make their escape to the main land, were fired into by the rebel pickets and two of them instantly killed, and two severely weunded. A boat from the Cru-sader put off to their assistance, and came up just in time to prevent the capture of the whole party. The wounded negroes were brought to to our hospital; one received a Minie ball in his thigh, which shattered the bone to such an extent as to render amoutation necessary. The operation was skillfully performed by our surgeon, Dr. David Merrit. The severity of surgeon, Dr. David merrit. Ine severity of the wound and the length of time elapsed before surgical aid could be rendered, prostrated the system so much that a few hours after the ope-ration, the patient died. The other, who was set verely wounded in the shoulder, is now doing very well under the doctor's care Joseph McKinley, who formerly worked in the cotton mill in your city, died at Hilton Head about three weaks ago, of brain fever.— When the war broke out young McKinley join ed Captain Sipes' company in the three months' service, and afterwards joined Colonel Guss' 97th regiment, from Chester County.

I would like to give you some war news, but that article is a very scarce commodity here. We are stationed a little nearer Charleston than the rebals seem to relish; at least that is the impression the contrabands tell us they have of affairs. Every day upon the return of the Crusader from up the river, boat loads of caped on dark and stormy nights. 'chattels' are placed ashore here in the hands of the provost marshal. They are all separately questioned as to who their owners were, where they resided, the force of the enemy opposite us, etc., which answers are recorded in a book and the contrabands sent to "Botany Bay," the settlement referred to at the mouth of the Edisto river.

disagreeable, and the day after our arrival we had quite a snow storm. The health of the regiment is remarkably good. Capt. Water-bury's men seem delighted with their new quarters, and are in excellent spirits. The little in convenience of hard bread and salt pork, which were the principal articles upon our bill of fare for a few days after our arrival, has given way to fresh fish, oysters, sweet potatoes and corn
