PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL. [FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITALL REPORTS.]

MAY 19, 1860.—Ellea S., ist. 28, single, never was very strong. I we years ago she had an attack of soute rheumatism, from which she was confined to her bed for two weeks and subsequent y from a relapse ter four more. She has been well stoce then till last Satur day, while engaged in house cleaning, she took celle, had pain in her back, felt cold, hot had so deeded chill. Two days later her ankles began so well, which was followed by swelling of the knee, joints and of the hands. She has now dult pale in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red agig paintui; both hanus are afte ted, but the right is most so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumatism, or, as it is now fashionably called, rheumatic levet. It is a well remarked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from time to time call your attention to the various purposes which present themselves. My chief object in bringing her before you now, is to call attention to a remedy which has recently been recommended in the treatment of rheumatism. Im an propylandine. Dr. Awenarius, of St. Peiersburg, recommended in the highest terms, having derives great cenefit from its use in 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journists, and I propose therefore to give it another trial. I must confess I am always incredutous as to the worth of pety renedies, which are vanned as specifies; but this comes to us recommended so highly, that we are bound to give it a trial.

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER!

MAY 22, 1860.—I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I prescribed Propyramine, and was then laboring under an attack of acute rheumatism. She has steadily taken it in does of three grains every two hours (intermitting it at night.) The day after you saw her, I found her much more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a week or spore, judging from her other staked. (The patient now walked into the room.) The improvement has steadily progressed, and you canaut fail to notice a marked change in the appearance of her joints, which are now nearly all of their natural size.—Thus far, our experiment would have seemed very successful; but, gentlemen, we must wait a little while before we can give a declued opinion as to what is to be the result.

the result.

Here is another patient who was placed on the use of the same medicine on Sunday last; she has long been suffering from a pronie rheumatiam, and I found her at that time with an acute attack supervening upon her become difficulties. time time with an acute attack supervening upon her chroate affection. The wrists and knuckles were much swollen and teide. Site took the chloride of Propylamine in three grain dodes every two hours, and you will perceive that the swolling of the joints has much diminished.

THREE DAYS LATER!!

THREE DAYS LATER!

MAY 26, 1860.—This is the case of scute rheumatism treased with propyismine, the first of those to which I called your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is how taking three grains thrice daily. In this case it has seemed to be tollowed by very satisfactory results. The second case to which your attention was called at our last fecture, has also continued to do weld. I will now bring before you a very characteristic case of acute rheumatism, and if the result be satisfactory, I think, as good jurymen, my duality in the court verdict in favor of propyiamin.

He is a seaman, sat. 26, who was admitted a few days ago. Has had occasional rheumatic pains, but not so as to keep his bed, until cight days ago. The pains organ in his right kide, subsequently affected the left kines, and lains, ting ignified, the lappor extremities. These joints are all swollen, lense and tender. His tongue is furred; his skin, at present dry, though there has been much sweating. His pulse is full and strong, and about 90.—He has now used propyismine for twenty-four hours. This gentligman is what may be called a strictly typical case of soute rheumatism. There was exposure to cold and wet, and this exposure is followed by a feeling of coldness, severe articular pain, beginning, as it usually does, in the lower joints. There is fever and the profuse sweating, so generally attiendant on acute rheumatism. I did not bring the patient before you wish the intention of giving you slecture on all the points connected with rheumatism, but to again give a trial to the new soundy we are bashing, and to exhibit to you this typical case, all have called it, than which there ou old not pre-firm receiped ruley for identify the medicing in question. We are a thought profuse, inter there may be an ingiving as to which was ton efficient remedy. You child the content of the other medicines, even and you, in the three may be a the other medicines.

- THE RESULT.

A FAVORABLE VERDICT.

Jump 9, 1860.—The next of our convalescents is the case of after-rhoundrism before you at our clinic of May 36th, which i then called a typical case, and which it was remarked was a fair opportunity for tosting the worth of our convenedy. It was therefore, steadily given in three grain doses every two hours for four days. The patient-has got along very nucly, and is now sole to walk about, as you see. I do not nestate to say that I have never sever a case of acute rine natism to so soor restored to health as this man has been, and without being prepared to dende possitive of such that is the cases in which we have tried the Chloride o Propylamics, the patients a very regained their health much earlier than under the treatment ordinarily pursued. I wish gentienten, you would yourselves try if, and report the require.

For a full report of which the above is a condensed extract, see the Philadelphia Medical and Surgical Reporter. It is the report after a fair trial by the best medical authority in this country, and makes it unnecessary to give numerous certificates from astonished doctors end rejoicing patients.
