Capture of Fort Macon, N. C.

DISPATCH FROM GEN. BURNSIDE. FOUR HUNDRED PRISONERS TAKEN. Union Loss One Killed and Eleven Wounded.

Fortress MONROE, May 2. DEAR SIR: Capt. Worden, of the navy, with dispatches from from Gen. Burnside, has just arrived.

He reports that Fort Macon was taken after eleven hours bombardment. 400 prisoners were taken. Col. White, late of the Ordnance Department, United States army, commanded Fort Macon.

The loss on our side, one killed and eleven wounded. (Signed) JOHN E. WOOL, Major General.

From Huntsville, Alabama.

CAPTURE OF CANNON AND AMMUNITION. THE REBELS RETREAT IN GREAT CONFUSION. HUNTSVILLE, May 1. Hon. EDWIN M. STANTON, Secretary of War: Early yesterday morning my troops crossed from the island to the main shore and captured two six-pounder cannon and their ammunition. The inhabitants report the enemy to have retreated in great confusion. (Signed) O. M. MITCHELL, Brigadier General.

FROM YORKTOWN.

THE REBELS BEING REINFORCED. NASTY RETREAT OF THE REBEL VESSELS. AN ARTILLERY FIGHT. Arrival of Deserters from the Rebels. Gens. Jackson and Magruder Makes Speeches to their Troops. They Declare if they are Defeated the Cause of the Southern Confederacy is Lost. They are Determined to Rest their Cause in this, their Last Battle.

YORKTOWN, May 1. On Tuesday a steamboat was seen with a load of troops at Yorktown. They probably came from West Point, thirty miles above, indicating that the enemy are being reinforced, instead of preparing to evacuate.

Battery No. 1, at the mouth of Wormley creek, and commanding the rebel water batteries at Yorktown and Gloucester, opened yesterday afternoon on the enemy's shipping, at a range of about two miles. The first shot, which was followed in rapid succession by others, caused the rebel vessels to beat a hasty retreat out of range. No damage was supposed to be sustained by the vessels, as the range had not been obtained. The guns were then directed towards the works at Yorktown and Gloucester with view of getting a reply. They were not long kept waiting, when a large pivot gun stationed on the heights of Yorktown sent a messenger which caused every one to jump for the trenches. The firing was now kept up quite briskly for two hours from both sides, with no damage so far as we were concerned, although some of their shells came too close to make it pleasant. The accuracy of our gunners, considering this was the first attempt with the new siege pieces, was acknowledged by competent judges to be most admirable.

Some of our shells were seen to explode directly over the enemy's parapets, which a moment before were lined with men. About sixty shots were fired from our one or two hundred pounder parrot guns during the afternoon. What damage the enemy sustained is not known.

The rebels opened on our parallels, where the workmen were employed at about dusk, throwing shells at intervals during the night. No one was hurt.

Private Charles Young, company A, 28th Pennsylvania regiment, was severely wounded in the knee last night while on picket.

Heavy April showers still continue to visit us daily, retarding in considerable degree our military operations.

Two deserters, belonging to a Mississippi battalion, commanded by Colonel Taylor, camped near Yorktown, deserted last night while on picket duty. They are both Northern men, but can give little or no information.

General Johnson and Magruder made speeches last week to all their troops, calling on them to use every exertion to defeat the northern invaders, and stating that they should never surrender as long as there was a man left, and that if they were defeated at Yorktown, the cause of the Southern Confederacy was gone, as they were determined to risk their cause in this, their last battle.

Sergeant Plummer, of the Fourth United States Infantry, formerly Second Lieutenant in the English army, and who distinguished himself in the Crimea, for which he had medals, died yesterday from a wound received while on duty in the trenches on Monday night last.

Considerable alarm is felt by our surgeons as to the curability of wounds here, owing to the peculiarity of the climate. In view of this fact arrangements are being made to send north all those who may be wounded as soon as possible.

XXXVIIIth Congress--First Session

WASHINGTON, May 2. SENATE.

Mr. HARRIS (Iowa) presented petitions in favor of emancipation also, a large number of petitions in favor of a ship canal from Lake Michigan to the Mississippi river.

Mr. NASH (Oregon) offered a resolution that the Secretary of War be requested to report the present condition of the military asylum, the amount of funds received, and the annual expense of supporting the inmates. Adopted.

Mr. GRIMES (Iowa) introduced a bill to limit the appointment of Major Generals and Brigadier Generals in the volunteer army. He said that several ineffectual attempts had been made to limit these appointments in some way or at least prevent their continued increase. He thought it was time that some limit was put to the number of the Generals. We have now nearly three hundred brigadiers. The French army has only 160, yet the number in our army is constantly increasing, and appointments are being constantly made, not one of men who have distinguished themselves in battle, or have shown any particular military capacity, but were political favorites. The bill proposes to limit the number of Major Generals to 20 and Brigadiers to 200. It was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. WILSON (Mass.), from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported back the bill to facilitate the discharge of enlisted men for physical disability.

Mr. WADSWORTH presented petitions in favor of emancipation.

Mr. HAYS (N. H.) offered a resolution directing the naval committee to inquire into the expediency of providing for appointments to the Marine Corps, the same as to the Naval Academy. Adopted.

Mr. SUMNER (Mass.) gave notice that he should introduce a bill to abolish the coastwise traffic in slaves, and to prevent the transportation of slaves through the United States.

On motion of Mr. WADSWORTH the Homestead bill was taken up. Amendments were adopted excluding any person who has been in arms against the United States, or given aid and comfort to its enemies, from the benefits of the bill.

Mr. CARROLL (Va.) offered a substitute for the whole bill, providing that all commissioned and non-commissioned officers who have performed service in this war, or any war with foreign nations, and all militia volunteers and State troops of any State or Territory who have performed military service in aid of the federal government, or in defence of said State or Territory against the armed forces of the rebellious States, and all commissioned and non-commissioned officers of the navy who have performed a similar service, shall be entitled in lieu of the one hundred dollars bounty, to enter one hundred and sixty acres of unappropriated public lands, at $1.25 per acre, or eighty acres, at $2.50 per acre. It was opposed to any squandering of the public lands, especially at the present time.

On motion of Mr. POMEROY, the bill was postponed till Monday.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. Mr. WASHINGTON (Ill.) from the Committee on Commerce, reported a bill granting power to the Secretary of the Treasury to dispose of those conferred by the bill of the 13th of July last, providing for the collection of duties on imports and for other purposes. He caused to be read a letter from the Secretary urging the immediate passage of the bill, the same being important to the public interests in view of the fact of our occupation of New Orleans.

The bill was passed. It provides that if any vessel or other vehicle shall be refused a clearance or permit by the Secretary of the Treasury or by his order, and shall proceed to any foreign or domestic port, it shall be forfeited to the United States. When clearance or permit shall be granted, bonds may be required, the penalty equal to the value of the vessel and cargo for any adherence to the conditions annexed, the cargo shall be delivered at the port of destination, and no part thereof used to give aid and comfort to any part of the country in insurrection against the United States. The secretary is further empowered to prohibit the importation of goods, wares and merchandise into any part of the United States over any railroad or turnpike, whenever there is satisfactory reason to believe that the goods are for the use of the insurgents, or may fall into their possession.

The Secretary is authorized to make such general or special regulations as may be passed to carry into effect the purpose of this act. If these rules are violated, or an attempt is made to violate them, the goods shall be forfeited to the United States. The penalties may be negotiated in accordance with the 8th and 9th sections of the act of July last, to which the bill is supplementary; all penalties and forfeitures to be disposed of as required by act of March, 1862, regarding the duties on imports and tonnage.

Mr. STEVENS (Pa.), from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported a bill making appropriations for the support of the army for the year ending with June, 1863.

The House took up and finally discussed the bill granting pensions.

Mr. GOODWIN (Me.) said it had been carefully prepared and unanimously reported from the Committee on Invalid Pensions after being submitted to the Commissioners of Pensions.

The bill provides pensions on account of all persons, whether regular or volunteers engaged in the military or naval service, who have been disabled or wounded since the fourth of March, 1861, and who may hereafter be disabled or wounded while in the service of the United States and in line of duty. The consideration of the subject was postponed until Tuesday next.

MESSRS. MORRILL, BIDDLE and VOORHEES, the first named having rose to personal explanation, made remarks exculpating General Smith from the charge of drunkenness.

Mr. RICHARDSON thought all these things ought to be left to the military authorities. If the riot act was read dispersing Congress, the army would get along much better. [Laughter.]

Mr. FISHER vindicated Delaware from the remarks of Senator Saulsbury.
