Daily Celegraph

BARRISBURG. PA. Tuesday Afternoon, May 6, 1862.

In our REPORT of the proceedings of the Cameron Banquet, under the sub-head of "The Banquet Hall," reference is made to "William" when it should have been David Hutchinson. David has been connected with the Jones' House for several years, and certainly no man has labored more assiduously for an employer than he has for Col Coverly. To his industry he adds a courtesy and a kindness becoming his position, and always calculated to win and retain friends.

A Positive Nuisance.-Our attention has been called to a serious nuisance which has been suffered to exist for some time on the public ground, a short distance north of the State arsenal, in the shape of a large pile of manure. from which the most nauseous odor is constantly exhaled, to the great disgust of promenaders and residents in that vicinity. They call the pile of filth a "compost," and say that it is intended to be applied as a fertilizing agent over the grounds next fall. This is all very well; but we submit that the "compost" ought to be prepared in some more suitable locality, where it will not be offensive to our citizens

SPARE THE BIRDS.—We have noticed several boys lately going out on fine days into the woods and meadows, with their guns, "with dire intent to slay" apparently, and no doubt actually. Now, if we had any secesh (kuown to be such in our vicinity) this practice would not be at all reprehensible; but as we have none who are bold enough to avow themselves, we do not see the necessity for guns, especially when some portions of our county have been so renowned for "peace meetings," and of weapons except whisky bottles - which last, we are sorry to say, are still doing their deadly work among us. But to return to our subject: Boys, we do hope you didn't go out to shoot the poor little blue birds, that are not fit to eat-nor to send the murderous shot through the vitals of little robin red-breast, whose beautiful song awakes you in the morning. Spare the birds—the robins, the larks and the blue birds—their intrinsic value is nothing—but we wouldn't give the morning song of either of them for all the bird pot pies ever made. You may shoot bull frogs, who poke their ugly anouts out of the edges of ponds, and sing "more rum," like human imbibers, never getting enough, but let the birds alone. It is not only a sign of viciousness to wantonly kill the birds we have mentioned, but the law inflicts a penalty for so doing, and some of you before you know what you are about, may find yourselves in trouble for setting the law at defiance.

It seems so cruel, so unnatural to destroy these poor little creatures, whose beauty delights the eye, and whose morning song falls so musically upon the ear. Spare the birds, that has the air of being inhabited is preferable boys; we are sure you will, and we hope that some "children of a larger growth," who ought to have better sense, but haven't, will follow your example and let them alone.

THE COUNTY RELIEF FUND.—We trust that the county commissioners will loose no time in se- us. We like to watch the little children go in curing sufficient funds to renew the payment of and out the door, to play, or to school. We the small weekly allowances to the families of like to see a white-robed baby dancing up and not be needed, it could be applied for other ning, or any of these cheerful, impromptu of the absence of their husbands, fathers and neighborhood to those who live for comfort, brothers in the army. It is due to them as a instead of show. Sad. indeed, some morning. upon as a burthen by those who are called upon the shutters closed, and know that death's to meet it. This relief is not a charity, but a agent, while it spared our threshold, has crossmen who are on the battle field. What is a small additional tax compared with the hardship, the suffering, and the privations, which many of our men are undergoing? The hospitals, the grave-covered battle fields, and the wailing of widows and orphans, should be a sufficient answer to the money-grubs who croak about not being able to pay the additional tax. There are men in the country-men of wealth, too-who would never pay a dollar to the war, unless it were squeezed out of them by taxation, while the noble and generous have subscribed upon all occasions.

What was the inducement held out to volunteers by those who could not, (or did not,) go to the war? "Go! Never mind your families! We'll take care of them!" This was the promise made by the people, and the faith of every county in the State stands pledged for Cemetery, within the limits of Philadelphia. the support of those families. The honor of the Commonwealth is also at stake in this matter, having given full power to every county to levy and collect a tax for this purpose .--These pledges so made by the people, were repeated by Governor Curtin to every regiment before they departed from their homes. They were encouraged to march forth, by the assurance that the Government and people in whose behalf they battled, would never desert | wish before marriage, that it would be inexpethe families made helpless and orphaned by the dient at that late day to remove his remains. absence of their natural protectors. These pledges have been thus far redeemed by Dau- where they were, in the family burial lot .phin county, and it behooves her representa- She denied, moreover, having promised to detives at this juncture not to listen to the nonsense about the inability of the people to pay a the wife. small additional tax for such a purpose.

A good deal has been said about persons getting relief who did not need it, and others suffering who would not apply. That some unserving, and it is the business of the Relief-Committee to see that they pay nothing to those who are not entitled to it. On the other hand, those who will not avail themselves of the fund, have themselves to blame-but we apprehend this class is comparatively small. There are hundreds who need and deserve assistance, and for the wants of these immediate supplies.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS.-Maj. Gen. Siegel of the U.S. Army, passed through here at noon to-day, via the Pennsylvania and Northern Central railroads for Washington City. The distinguished here attracted much attention.

SPRING BONNETS .- The new style of ladies' head gear should be called the "battery bonnet." The six large artificial blush roses which frown so imposingly from beneath the inner edge, over the forehead, look like a mortar battery—a perfect rebel killer.

PARIS LETTERS describe the freshest "stunning" costume of the Empress as of white tulle simmed and clouded with diamonds half way up the skirt; a waist of sky-blue velvet, blue velvet bows on the shoulders, ornamented with agraiffes of diamonds; a necklace of diamonds on blue velvet; a coiffure of blue velvet, with with a diamond comb. Altogether, the effect is described as dazzling, and we can readily believe the statement. Eugenie seems to know only two things-how to be good and how to silk at $1, worth $1 25; black silk 32 inches dispose of dry-goods and diamonds.

Wearers of long beards may take warnng by a late accident at the Holyoke Machine Works, Massachusetts, that the indulgence in such a luxury may sometimes expose them to serious danger. Charles Buttrick, an employee there, had a very long and luxurious beard, and while grinding spindles for spinning-frames, few days ago, had the beard caught by a wiftly revolving spindle, and his instant death was only prevented by the whole mass coming out by the roots! Poor Buttrick, he may "tarry at Jericho" a long while before his beard grows again!

FIRE LAST NIGHT .- About 12 o'clock last night, flames were discovered, issuing from a two-story frame building in Broad street, Sixth ward, occupied as a school house. The alarm was quickly given, but owing to the lateness of SOUTH. the hour and distance, it was some time before course have an utter aversion to all deadly the fire apparatus of the city were brought to the ground, and still longer before they could be of any service, owing to the scarcity of water, the nearest fire plug being several hundred yards distant. Under these circumstances, the fire spread with alarming rapidity, and the EAST. building was soon enveloped in flames. When water was secured, the fireman went to work with a will and made short work of the flames. not, however, until the building was burned almost to a shell.

The building was erected by Wm.K. Verbeke, Esq., when he laid out that portion of the city, but was recently sold by him with the lot, upon which it was situated for, the sum of $1,200 to Mrs. Mary Bricker, who intended shortly to have the structure converted into two dwelling houses. She is secured by insurance. 'The fire was evidently the work of an incendiary.

ONE'S PLEASURE, after all, is much affected by the quality of our's neighbors, even though one may not be on speaking terms with them. A pleasant bright face at a window is surely better than a discontented, cross one; and a house to closed shutters and unsocial blinds, excluding every ray of sunlight and sympathy. We like to see the glancing, cheerful lights through the windows of a cold night, or watch them, as evening deepens, gradually creeping from the parlor to the upper stories of the houses near volunteers who may be in need of assistance. - down at the window in its mother's arms, or If the war should cease, and the money should the father reading his newspaper there at eve- SCHUYLKILL AND SUSQUEHANNA BAILpurposes. > THE RIGHTS OF INTERMENT. -- An opinion was delivered by Judge Read, of Philadelphia, on the 21st inst., upon a case of unusual novelty. Col. Francis M. Wynkoop, of Pottsville, who had served with distinction in the Pennsylvania regiments during the Mexican war, accidentally shot himself in September, 1857, and was buried that same week at Pottsville by his mother. who resided there, according to his express wish before marriage. It seems, however, that after his marriage, he desired his wife, in case of his decesse, to bury him in Mount Laurel

His wife, at 1 is death, understanding that his burial at Pottsville would be but a temporary matter, agreed to his interment there, intending subsequently to remove the body to Laurel Hill, near her place of residence, where she could frequently visit the grave.

On desiring to do so, permission was refused by the mother of the deceased, who argued that he was buried according to his expressed and that their proper locality was precisely liver up the body when required, as asserted by

A suit ensued in the Court of Common Pleas of Schuylkill county. Much sympathy was expressed for the widow of deceased, whose grief had been lasting and profound, and a deworthy applicants are supplied, is no argument cision was given in her favor. The mother, against fur ishing relief to those who are de- however, considering that the claim of the wife terminated with death, was persistent in retaining the body of her son, and carried the case to the Supreme Coutt, where Judge Read decided in her favor, as mother and next of kin. especially as the deceased was buried in conseconsecrated ground, with the ceremonies of the church, and with the honors of war. The matter is thus settled. The case was knotty, and provision should be made, as they are now much difference of opinion, and much argusuffering from a stoppage of their customary ment, both in and out of court, have long taken place upon it.

ICE CREAM .- Mrs. Sarah Davis, at her old stand in Walnut street, next door to Dr. Fager's, will serve up, this evening, a fine quality of ice cream, and invites her old friends
