PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL. [FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS.]

[FROM OFFICIAL ROSPITAL REPORTS.]

LAIN 19, 1860,—Ellem S., set. 28, single, never was very strong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rheuma-kinn, from which she was confined to her bed for two weeks and subsequent, y from a relapse far four more. She has been weil since then till last Satur day, while engaged in house cleaning, she took cold, had pain in her back, felt cold, hot had so dedded chill. Two days later her ankles began so swell, which was followed by swelling of the knee joints and of the hands. She has now dull pain in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red and painul; both hands are affected, but the right is most so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumakism, or, as it is new fashionably called, rheumatic lever. It is a well romarked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from time to time call your attention to the various symptoms which present themselves. My chief object in bringing her before you now, is to call attention to a remedy which has recently been recommended in the treatment of rheumatism. Im an propytionize. Dr. Awenaricis, of St. Feiersburg, recommended in the in 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and I propose therefore to give it another trial. I must confess I am always incredulous as to the worth of new remedies, which are vaunted as specifies; but this comes to us recommended so highly, that we are bound to give it a trial.

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER!

EMAY 23, 1860.—I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I prescribed Propylamine, and was then laboring under an attack of acute rheumatism. She has steadily taken it in doses of three grains every two hours (intermiting it at night.) The day after you saw her, I found her nuch more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a week or sore, judging from her other stacks. (The patient now walked into the room.) The improvement has steadily progressed, and you canast fail to notice a marked change in the appearance of her joints, which are now nearly all of their natural size.—Thus far our experiment would have seemed very successful; but, gentlemen, we must wait a little while before we can give a declued opinion as to what is to be the result.

Here is another patient who was placed on the use of the same medicine on Sunday last; she has long been suffering from o bronic rheumatism, and I found her at that time with an acute attack supervening upon her chronic affection. The wrist; and kauckies were much swollen and terse. She took the chloride of Propyismine in three grain do-se every two hours, and you will perceive that the swelling of the joints has much diminished.

THREE DAYS LATER!!

THREE DAYS LATER!!

MAY 26, 1860.—This is the case of acute rheumatism treated with propylamine, the first of those to which I called your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains thrice daily. In this case it has seemed to be followed by very satisfactory reachs. The second case to which your attention was called at our last facture, has also continued to do well. I will now bring before you a very characteristic case of acute rheumatism, and if the result be safactory, I think, as good jurymen, we small justly render our verdict in invor of propylamin.

He is a seaman, set. 26, who was admitted a few days ago. Has had occasional rheumatic pausa, but not so as to keep his bed, until eagle they ago. The pause began in his right knee, subsequently affected the left knee, and later, the joints of the upper extremittes. These joints are all swellen, tense and tender. His bugue is furred; his skin, at present dry, though there has been much sweating. His pulse is full and strong, and about 90.—He has now used propylamine for twenty-four hours.

This gentleman is what may be called a strictly typical case of soute rheumatism. There was exposure to cold and wift, and this exposure is followed by a feeling of coldness, severe articular pain, beginning, as if usually does, in the lower joints. There is fever and the profines sweating, so generally attendant on a cute rhoumatism.

I tild not bring this patient before you with the intention of giving you a lecture on all the points connected with rheumatism, but to again give a trist to the new remedy we are testing, and to exhibit to you this typical case, as I have called it, than which there could not be a fairer opportunity for testing the medicine in question. We are, therefore, avoiding the use of all other medicines, even analynes, that there may be no mingivings as to which was the efficient remedy. You shall see the case of a future clinic.

THE RESULT.

A FAVORABLE VERDICT.

Jump, 1860.—The next of our convalescents is the case of acute rheumatism before you at our clinic of May 26th, which I then called a typical case, and which it was remarked was a fair opportunity for testing the worth of our new remedy. It was therefore steadily given in three grain doses every two hours for four days. The patient has got along very meely, and is now able to walk about, as you see. I do not hestate to any that I have neves seen as severe a case of acute rheumatism so soon restored to health as this man has been, and without being propared to decide positive by as to the value of the remedy we have used. I feel bound to state that in the cases in which we have tried the Chloride o Propylamine, the patients have regained their health much caller than under the treatment ordinarily pursued. I wish gantiemen, you would yourselves try it, and report the results.

For a full report of which the above is a condensed extract, see the Philadelphia Medical and Surgical Reporter. It is the report after a fair trial by the best medical authority in this country, and makes it unnecessary to live numerous certificates from astoniahed doctors and rejoicing patients.

During that time I have been under the treatment of ten of the best Doctors in Harrisburg, Baltimore and Cumberland county; but all could note flect a cure. A little over a year past, going into my blacksmith shop after dark, I hurt my right leg also, below the time. Itspread all tround the leg, and became a running sore. Several Doctors told me I must have my leg taken off, mortification having taken place. Fortunately 1 got a bottle of your Golden Electric til for my child's sore mouth. It cured so soon that I thought I would try it on my legs. I have been using it about six weeks, and my legs are now healed up—sound and well.
