Thursday Morning, May 15, 1862.

HON. THOS. E. COCHRAN.

A few days ago the Breckenridge organ on the corner of the alley, made one of its peculiar assaults on Auditor General Cochran, without any previous provocation by that gentleman, and for no other purpose than the mere gratifi cation of the envy and hatred which its conductors entertain for virtues which they cannot to Congress that they might establish a policy equal or emulate. We considered, at the time, that the attack in question would be answered by the Lancaster Union, and therefore we made no reply to the Patriot in defence of the Auditor General. The following from the Lancaster Union, we imagine, will not fail to touch the 1860, and the rejoicings by which it was celetaciturn deacon and his mysterious "& Co." It brated, the instant a Congress should be asis a rebuke as deserved as it is withering, and is in the following language:

The Harrisburg Patriot and Union-a misnomer, for it is not patriotic in its purposes, and thought, in our simplicity, that every Republiits whole work now is to excite dissension among the people, in the interest of the rebels embodying that principle in his pecket, ready and their sympathizers-flew into a furious for presentation-that the most aptly drawn passion with "Auditor General Cochran," on would be selected and put through both Houses Thursday last, and set to railing and scolding of Congress with as flutle delay as might be like a very drab. The occession of, or provo- consistent with the forms of legislation. The cation to this foul breaking out at the pen by people had already decided the matter, the the miscalled organ of the Breckenridge faction, was a statement made in the last Union, that the Harrisburg paper was "owned principally by one Haldeman." 'This it denies-says that Yet this duty has been put aside till now, as if it has reason to believe that "Mr. Auditor General was fully aware" of the fact that "Haldeman does not own a dollar in the establishment." and with characteristic black- and decisive majority, will not be delayed beguardism, asserts that "when he penned the yond the ordinary time of legislation in the above article he wrote a premeditated and deliberate talschood." It is perhaps sufficient to say in new hope in the hearts of the north, that the reply to this insulting language," which does government is not only disposed to crush renot rise to the dignity of offensiveness because bellion, but it is determined to provide against of the lowness and infamy of its source, that its recurrence. This is simple, plain and pacific, while the terms of the conflict, were ready also to go down. This the bill are fully expressed in its title. It is was the spirit in which men invested their fortunes in this contest, and therefore the attacks not proposed to abolish slavery. It is not planned to carry off the property of the chivalrous of certain politicians and presses on the war debt, with the direct purpose of counseling reslave holder. It simply provides that the virgin soil of this nation shall not be polluted pudiation, is as contemptible as their former by slavery. Yet, as a principle it goes further actions were mean and dastardly. expressed by and confined among a cartain class of its present session what it should have done of politicians. They must watch the men who in the first week. The people elected a Repubare now attempting the re-organisation of the lican President and sent Republican members Democratic party, as one of the objects of that re-organization is to repudiate the war: debt, on the basis of Republican principles, the mest and thus force the north into a bankriptoy important of which was an assertion of the which southern treason and dough-face comuniversal freedom of man in the territories.plicity with rebellion could not produce. This One might well have expected that, after so scheme is now one of the morsels which the great a triumph as we gained in the autumn of locofoco press and semi-locofoco traitors in Congress are busily digesting, so that we may look for the announcement any day that Consembled under the new order of things, that gress or the President had no authority receive à solonni legislative expression. We in the first place to make war for the suppression of the rebellion, and consequently no right to contract debts in furtherance of such can member would go to Congress, with a bill a purpose. It will require no more boldness to make such a plea and assume this position, than it did to declare the war a measure of opercion, and afterwards persistently maintain that there was no authority in the Constitution to confiscate the property of rebels. One argument follows another ; one pretext springs people had settled the question ; all that the from another in this entire business, and the government had to do was to register the deman or men who contend that the property of cision of the people with a respectful expedition. rebels cannot be confiscated, or that this war is an act of aggression or coercion, are equally prepared at any time to assert that the entire way We trust that this bill, having passed the debt should be repudiated. The traitors who House of Representatives by such a handsome sought the erection of a Southern Confed eracy will never be able to liquidate the debta they contracted. Even the states which nego Senate. Its passage in the House has infused tiated loans for that purpose will fail, to discharge their obligations, so that as repudiation follows rebellion in the south, and bankruptcy attends the career of both, the Democratic press and leaders of the loyal states will once more bind the south to their allegiance, by making repudiation a policy of their party. The

At the present term of the United States party that has advocated slavery for fifty years, Oircuit Court for the southern district of Ohio, and on all occasions made that institution supercede all other interests, will not shrink from motion of his counsel, Geo. AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

It was claimed and was held by the court Harrisburg, as he never wastes his time in that the provision being adopted from the English statute, 25, Edward III., the construction Having thus, for ulterior purposes, gratui- given by English courts must govern the construction of ours.

> The court (Justice Swayne, recently appoint ed to the Supreme bench) sustained the motion quashing the indictment, but also intimated war against the United States." The court said :

"The authorities which establish the construction contended for by the defendant's ute of adhering and giving aid and comfort to of this city. The ground of rejection was, that gents and rebels, make the offender guilty of the inote was pronounced to be "miniliated." gents and rebels, make the offender guilty of the crime of levying war against the govern-ment, and liable to be punished under the other provision of the statute for that offence." . (3

Bl Com., 62.) The defect, therefore, appears to be a technical one in framing the indictment, the statute being sufficient to reach the case. Several other similar indictments pending in that District are disposed of. The parties, bowev r, are still liable to indictment under the first clause of the section cited.
