PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL. [FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORCE.]

FRANKOLLIVALIDATIONAL TABLE

[FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORES.]

MAY 19, 1860.—Elien S., st. 28, single, never was very strong. Two years ago abe had an attack of acute rheumatism, from which she was confined to her bed for two weeks and subsequently from a relapse fer four more. She has been well since then till last Batur day, while engaged in house cleaning, she took cold, had pain in her back, felt cold, hot had no decided chill. Two days later her ankies began so swell, which was followed by swelling of the knee joints and of the hands. She has now dull pain in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red and painful; foth hands are affected, but the right is most so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumalism, or, as it is now fashionably called, rheumatic fever. It is a weil remarked typical case. We will carefully watch the see, and from time to time call your attention to the various symptoms which present themselves. My chief object in bringing her before you now, is to call attention to a remedy which has recently been 1 ecommended in the treatment of rheumatism. I mean propylemine. Dr. Awenarius, of St. Fetersburg, recommends it in the highest torms, having derived great beadelt from its use in 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and I propose therefore to give it another trial. I must confess I am always incredulous as to the worth of new remedies, which are vaunted as specifies; but this comes to us recommended so highly, that we are bound to give it a trial.

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER!

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER!

MAY 28, 1860.—I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I prescribed Propylamine, and was then laboring under an attack of acute rheumatigm. She has steadily taken it in dose of three grains every two hours (intermitting it at night.) The day after you saw her, I found her much more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a week or more, justing from her other sitaox. (The patient new walked into the room.) The improvement has stoadily progressed, and you cannot fall to notice a marked change in the appearance of her joints, which are new nearly all of their natural size.—Thus far our experiment would have seemed very successful; but, gentiemen, we must wait a little while before we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be the result.

fore we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be the result.

Here is another patient who was placed on the use of the same medicine on Sunday last; she has long been suffering from a bronic rheumatism, and I found her at that time with an acute attack supervening upon her chroalc affection. The wrists and knuckies were much swollen and teuse. She took the otheride of Propylamine in three grain doses every two hours, and you will perceive that the swelling of the joints has much diminshed.

THREE DAYS LATER!!

THREE DAYS LATER!!

MAY 26, 1860.—This is the case of acute rheumatism treated with propylamine, the first of those to which I called your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains thrice daily. In this case it has seemed to be followed by very satisfactory results. The second case to which your attention was called at our last lecture, has also continued to do weir I will now bring before you a very characteristic case of acute rheumatism, and if the result to sat factory, I think, as good jurymen, we shall justly render our yerdet in favor of propylamin

He is a seaman, set 28, who was admitted a few days ago. Has had ocansional rheumatic pains, but not so as to keep his bed, until eight days ago. The pains began in his right knee, subsequently affected the left knee, and later, the joints of the upper extremities. These joints are all swollen, tense and tender. His tongue is furred; his skin, at present dry, though there has been much sweating. His pulse is full and strong, and about 90.—He has now used propylamine for twenty-four hours. This gentleman is what may be called a strictly typical case of soute rheumatism. There was exposure to cold and wet, and this exposure is followed by a feeling of coldness, severe articular pain, beginning, as it usually does, in the lower joints. There is lever and the profuse sweating, so generally attendant on acute rheumatism. I did not bring this patient before you with the 1 utention of giving-you a lecture on all the points connected with rheumatism, but to again give a trial to the new remedy we are teating, and to exhibit to you this typical case, as I have called it, than which there co add not be a fairer opportunity for testing the medicine in question. We are, therefore, avoiding the use of all other medicines, over anodynee, that there may be no misgivings as to whelsters the efficient remedy. You shall see the case of a future clinic.

THE RESULT.

A FAVORABLE VERDICT.

Jone 9, 1860.—The next of our convalescents is the case of acute rheumatism before you at our clink of May 26th, which I then called a typical case, and which It was remarked was a fair opportunity for testing the worth of our new remedy. It was therefore steadily given in three grain doses every two hours for four days. The patient has got along very two hours for four days. The patient has got along very two hours for four days. So soon restored to health as this man has been, and without being prepared to decide positive by as to the value of the remody we have used. I feel hound to state that in the cases in which we have tried the Chioride o Propylamine, the patients there are regained their health much earlier than under the treatment ordinarily pursued. I wish gentlemen, you would yourselves try it, and report the results.

For a full report of which the above is a condense extract, see the Philadelphia Medical and Surgical Reporter. It is the report after a fair trial by the best med ical authority in this country, and makes it unnecessary to give numerous certificates from astonished docto and rejoicing patients.
