HARRISBURG, PA.

Saturday Morning, May 24, 1862.

OMISSION.—In our account of the funeral obsequies of Gen. Wm. H. Keim, at Reading last Wednesday, and published in yesterday's TELEGRAPH, we inadvertently omitted the name of Mr. Geo. W. McCalla as one of the pall bearers from this city who officiated on that occasion.

PROMOTION.—We are glad to learn that Geo. F. Ross, formerly of Middletown, and brother of Mr. Ross, of the firm of Gross & Co., druggists of this city, has been appointed Aid de Camp to Col. Crocker, acting Brigadier General, of the 6th Division, Iowa volunteers. Mr. Ross is a brave and intelligent young man, and will fill any office he may be promoted to with credit to himself and the army.

BEAUTIFUL.—The country at this time presents a really beautiful appearance. The fruit trees are in full blossom, and the woodland dressed in a beautiful emerald green, presents to the eye of the beholder a scene of magnificent splendor. All nature seems to be laughing and clapping her hands with joy in anticipation of the bountiful harvests she will soon present to earth's creation for her subsistence. The music of the rippling stream as it winds its way through the green valley and down the rugged mountain side, thrills the heart of the listener with rapturous delight. Well may the poet, whilst admiring the beauties of spring, sigh thus: "I would not die in Spring time."

THE APPEAL FROM FORTRESS MONROE.—The urgent appeal from Fortress Monroe, published in our telegraphic columns yesterday morning, signed by Mrs. John Harris, asking for supplies of butter and eggs, sponges, oiled silk, rags, bandages, lint and dried fruit, is likely to meet with a favorable and a speedy response from this city. We understand that Mr. W. S. Shaffer, wall paper store, Market street, has consented to permit his establishment to be used as a depository for all contributions of this character from our citizens, and in connection with several other responsible men, will also undertake their prompt transportation to Fortress Monroe. We further learn that a committee of gentlemen will wait on the citizens of Harrisburg this and next week, and personally solicit contributions of articles enumerated in Mrs. Harris's urgent appeal. We bespeak for this committee a favorable reception.

MIDDLETOWN AFFAIRS.—The public schools of the borough closed last week—a few of the teachers, however, are making up lost time. The High School, taught by Mr. T. C. Search, closed yesterday evening.

An Amberg's Menagerie is to make its entrance into Middletown on Thursday, June 5th, headed by Otto Horn's Cornet Band, in an elegant "golden" chariot, followed by the elephants "Hannibal" and "Columbus," and a long train of wagons containing the animals, birds, &c. The scholars connected with the public schools of Messrs. T. C. Search and V. B. Boone, held a picnic in Whitman's woods, near town, on Saturday. The day was delightful, and the scholars all appeared to enjoy themselves in their various plays and rambling through that beautiful grove.

The Middle Ward school, taught by Miss Kate Etter, had a picnic on Friday, at which the scholars enjoyed themselves very much, and returned to their homes, apparently greatly benefited by the day's recreation.

THE FLOWERS are now coming into full bloom and fragrance, and every one who loves them is seen with a bouquet brilliant with varied hues. The wild flowers especially claim our attention; they are nature's own. Unassisted by the hot-bed cultivation of exotics, the hardy little plants have borne up against the cold and severe weather, and are now wreathing the rugged faces of the rocks with garlands of bright-colored blossoms, or sprinkling the meadows with a shower of golden-bued "butter-cups." The highly cultivated plant may perhaps, to the eyes of some, present greater beauty but it has not the same claim upon us as the hardy little wildflower, which alone and unaided, independently fights its way through difficulties, and finally looks upward with its bright eyes, to the power which gave it life. So with their human prototypes—that one who has bravely fought against difficulty, bearing his burden alone, and come out victorious, has, like the flower, more claim to our sympathy than one who has risen by the use of artificial advantages.

AN IMPROVER.—The York Republican notices the appearance in that ancient borough of an individual dressed in uniform who is soliciting aid to enable him to reach his home, somewhere in Maryland. He represents himself as having belonged to the 101st Ohio regiment, and said that he was in the battles of Bull Run, Fort Donelson, and Pittsburg Landing, and had been sent home on a furlough given him on account of sickness. The same individual was in this city last week, and is evidently an impostor, as there is no such regiment in the service as the Ohio 101st, and his uniform was partly that of the Infantry and partly of the artillery service. He was accompanied by a negro, and both were intoxicated. A sick and suffering soldier is truly a worthy object of sympathy, and too much cannot be done in aid of such, but he who would attempt to ape such a character as a "dodger" to obtain charity, deserves to be whipped at a cart's tail through every hamlet in the land. Persons should exercise some judgment in bestowing aid upon those claiming to be unfortunate warriors. It is a popular "catch" just now, and will doubtless be improved by those who gain a living by the exercise of their "wits."

MORE LUXURIES.—The opening of the blockade to Norfolk, as before stated, has already begun to present in the markets luxuries which can only be obtained in that region at this time of the year. Soft crabs and sheepshead fish have made their appearance—two of the greatest luxuries obtainable from the waters of the Chesapeake—and there is every indication that the quantities will be abundant, especially of the first named article, as the shores of the Patapsco will soon contribute to the supply.

INDEPENDENCE ISLAND.—We understand that this popular place of summer resort has been leased for the season by Mr. George B. Cole, of the Sixth ward, who has taken up his quarters on the island, and arranged matters and things there in an admirable manner for the accommodation of the public, who, during the approaching "heated term," desire to while away a few hours in pleasant recreation, in the cool shade of that beautiful locality. The island can be reached by the rope ferry, recently established at the foot of Broad street.

THE DAUPHIN JOURNAL, copies the communication which lately appeared in the TELEGRAPH announcing Col. F. K. Boas as a candidate for Congress, and then declares that from its knowledge of the Colonel it does not think a more suitable or competent person could be selected for the position of Representative, because he is just such a man as is needed in these times. The interests of Col. Boas's constituents, in case of his election, would be promptly cared for, and his constituents themselves would be proud of the representation of such a man as Col. Frederick K. Boas. The Journal is right.

MAYING.—We have, on several occasions, during the past two weeks, noticed the "little folks" attached to our public schools, wending their way to the country, with light hearts and smiling faces to indulge in the pleasant and ever-welcome custom of "Maying." Our teachers have merited the praise of the community at large, by introducing these pleasure excursions into our schools, which we hope never to see abolished. It not only gives rest to the many little minds, which are often severely taxed; but by this liberal system, it encourages the teachers in their endeavors to "teach the young idea how to shoot."

DEATH OF REV. JOHN ULRICH.—We regret to chronicle the death of the Rev. John Ulrich, a minister of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, who after a lingering illness, departed this life on Friday morning last, in the 68th year of his age. The deceased was born in Anville, Lebanon county, Pa. About the year 1848 he emigrated to Carlisle, and was chosen pastor of the English Lutheran Church, where he labored for the period of eight years. From Carlisle he went to Petersburg, Adams county, where he was for thirteen years the pastor of the Lutheran Church in that place. From thence he went to Shippensburg, in Cumberland county, where he remained four years, when he again returned to Carlisle and took up his permanent residence. Since then he was the pastor of the Sulphur Spring charge, where he diligently labored until relieved by death. He was at one time president of the Lutheran Synod, where his wise counsels and firm decisions, while he occupied the chair, had won for him an undying reputation among his brother ministers. By his death the community has lost a good citizen—the wife a dutiful husband—the orphan a kind parent—and the church a beloved pastor. On Sunday afternoon his body was taken into the Lutheran church, (Rev. Jacob Fry, pastor,) when Professor Schmucker, President of the Theological College at Gettysburg, delivered an appropriate sermon from the following text: "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth, and their works do follow them.—Rev. 14—13."

At the conclusion of Professor Schmucker's sermon, the Rev. Jacob Fry delivered a short eulogy on the life and character of the deceased, after which his remains were followed to the grave by the clergy of the town, the mourning relatives, and a large number of friends, when the last ceremony was performed by committing the body to the tomb.

MARTIN HOOKER, Sr., who died at his home, at Hookersville, this county, on the 25th ult., was born near Ephrata, Lancaster county, October 21st, 1788, and at the time of his death, was consequently 98 years, 6 months and 4 days old.

When quite young he moved to this (now Dauphin but then Lancaster) county, and located himself where the city of Harrisburg stands, which was about the second year after the town was laid out by Gen. Harris. At that time, all the ground on which the city now stands, was farmed. People came and erected houses there, not unfrequently building in the grain fields, and everything about the town was then one life of activity. The deceased and his brother, put up the first brick house in Harrisburg, probably about the year 1790 or 1795. He was an active and enterprising man, being characteristic of the industrious Pennsylvania Germans. In the earlier years of his life, he carried on mechanism; since then he was engaged in farming at Hookersville, this county. Father Hooker was one of the few who witnessed the commencement of the fardish rebellion, and who knew personally of the turmoils and trials of the Revolutionary War.

He was the husband of two wives, the first one died about twelve years after his marriage, with whom he had six children. The second one survives him, having been married fifty-three years, and is the mother of nine children. Fourteen of his children are living. His offspring, at the time of his death, numbered one hundred and twenty. His remains were interred in the Lutheran grave yard, Hummelstown, on the 27th ult., accompanied by a large concourse of people, the funeral being attended by one hundred and eighty vehicles, besides numerous pedestrians, being the largest number of people ever assembled on such an occasion in Hummelstown. His funeral sermon was preached by the Rev. Huber, pastor of the Lutheran Church, with which denomination the deceased had connected himself when quite young. He enjoyed good health up to the time of his death, being ill only fifteen minutes before he died. It may indeed be said of him that he was a public benefactor, a kind husband and father. Peace to his ashes.

ANOTHER LARGE SALE OF FLOWERS will take place this (Saturday) morning at the lower market house. See advertisement.

HELP FOR THE SICK AND WOUNDED.—A gentleman from the city of Baltimore calls our special attention to the wants of the sick and wounded in the different military hospitals. While a great many calls are made for delicacies, this gentleman informs that they are not near as much in want of food as they are of hospital shirts. Many of the wounded arrive in that city before the least attention has been paid to their wounds, and the first thing they want is clean clothes. Hospital shirts are much needed now, and we hope our ladies will assist them without delay. Cannot every family furnish one shirt?

A LADY'S PARTITION HEADED.—We are glad to observe that our notice of the lady's communication to us a few days since, respecting the disagreeable condition of the square contiguous to the lower Market house, arising from the rough manner in which it was macadamized, has been heeded by the proper authorities, and the nuisance abated by the application of a quantity of clay and coal ashes, which has had the effect to fill up the interstices between the angular stones, and make a comparatively level surface. The same improvement ought to be made in the square adjoining the upper market house.

MUDDY WATER.—Our city hydrant water, just now, is in an exceedingly muddy condition, and people generally, who have any regard for their health, have discarded its use and gone back to the "sparkling and bright" element from the good old fashioned pumps. There is really no reason why this muddy condition of the water should be of such constant recurrence, and we are surprised that those having control of the matter, have not long since given orders that would effectually prevent such a state of affairs.—The remedy is simply to instruct the engineer at the water house to stop the pumps when the river is in a muddy condition. This plan was frequently adopted several years ago, while the old pumping apparatus was still in use, and as no serious results ever attended such intermissions, there certainly can be no danger in pursuing such a course with the new and powerful machinery now in use at the water house. It is seldom that the water in the river retains its muddiness longer than two or three days, and we opine that under ordinary circumstances, a full reservoir of water would more than meet the demand of our citizens for that short period.

NEW PLAN FOR RAISING SUPPLIES FOR THE SOLDIERS' HOSPITALS.—A Continental Tea Party.—The recent call of Mrs. John Harris, at Fortress Monroe, upon the people of the North for supplies of butter and eggs, and hospital supplies, and the almost constant demand of these latter by our armies in the West, has suggested to a correspondent who seems desirous to assist the movement now on foot in this city, to respond to these calls, a plan of raising money for this object, which was recently adopted, for a similar purpose, in Newark, Ohio, with great success, and which proved a source of much amusement and gratification to all participants. The affair at Newark was called "the Continental Tea Party." He suggests that to carry out this novel plan Brant's Hall, or the chamber of the House of Representatives be procured, and the body of the hall cleared of all seats, so that visitors can have the largest freedom in promenading and seeing their friends and acquaintances as they come in. Let all the ladies and gentlemen who come to the entertainment, or as many as choose to do so, clothe themselves in the most ancient, antique dresses they can procure—those of revolutionary origin to be preferred—every lady and gentleman to exercise their own discretion and judgment in regard to assuming any particular character and style of dress—the greater variety in costume the greater the amusement and gratification of those participating in the entertainment. Let a few tables well furnished with a suitable variety of refreshments be placed in different parts of the hall, the articles to be sold for the benefit of the common fund. Let all be admitted by tickets, which would be sold at the usual places a day or two prior to the entertainment. Our correspondent hopes that some of our young men will take hold of and carry out properly something of this kind. If they do, he has no doubt many will go away from the Hall and say, "I have not laughed so much for years as I have done tonight."

LOOKING INTO THE FUTURE.—In conversation with a distinguished gentleman from one of the New England States, he gave as his opinion that, upon the termination of the war, his impressions founded upon the best information at his command, that the advance on cotton goods must exceed any thing that we have experienced. Yet it would be well, then, (as the termination of the war is now a foregone thing,) not only to read the advertisements of Ulrich & Bowman, but call at their cheap dry goods house, corner of Front and Market streets, and purchase.
