THE ROPE FERRY connecting Independence Island with the upper end of this city is now in excellent condition, and boats are almost constantly making the passage between those two points.

SHE PLEADS HER OWN CASE.—Speaking of the suit now pending in the Supreme Court, of Harriet W. Shannon, for a divorce, the Boston Herald says: "Mrs. Shannon appears without counsel and conducts her own case, a course not often taken in the upper courts, by either male or female."

THE EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.—The Annual Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Diocese of Pennsylvania, met at St. Andrew's Church, Philadelphia, on Tuesday afternoon, and the Episcopal minister of this city is in attendance.

THE COLDER FENCIBLES, as we learn from a correspondent, are now encamped near Baltimore, in Camp McKim. Captain Detweiler writes that his men are all in excellent health, and their discipline and cheerfulness never so strong and devoted.

MAIL FACILITIES.—It is not generally known among our citizens that we have a direct mail communication with New York city, through in six hours, via the Lebanon Valley railroad. The mail leaves New York at 8 o'clock, A. M., and arrives here at 1.10, P. M.

THE GOVERNMENT ADVERTISERS FOR HORSES, as will be seen by the notice in another column, this afternoon. These horses are all to be of the very best breeds, perfect in wind and limb, and thus affording our horse breeders and dealers a fine opportunity to get rid of their superior stock.

COL. KNIPS, of the 46th Pennsylvania Volunteers, arrived in this city yesterday from Hagerstown. He was in the retreat of General Banks, and bears some of the severe fruits of that fearful struggle, as he was wounded in his shoulder and leg. We have not personally seen Col. Knips, and we therefore only give this meagre notice of his arrival and condition.

COL. WYNKOOP, of the 7th Pennsylvania Cavalry, attached to Brig. Gen. Nagley's brigade, was in this city yesterday, en route for his regiment in Tennessee. Col. Wynkoop reports the men in his command as in good condition, although they had been suffering severely during the winter from long exposure to rough weather, while vigorous duties of a constantly changing service had its effects upon the health of many of the men.

SOMETHING SENSIBLE ABOUT BABIES.—A majority of babies, says Mrs. Swishelm, (and on this subject we can vouch for her being good authority) are to their mothers what a doll is to a little girl—something to dress, a means of displaying odds of finery, and exhibiting one's tastes. If infants were treated on the same principle that a good farmer treats a lamb, geese, chickens, pigs, &c., viz.—well fed and kept warm, they would live and grow just as well-cared for geese live and grow, and we never knew such a one to die.

MR. GEORGE BERGNER Esq. Dear Sir:—Allow me to recommend ARCHIBALD WELING, of Middletown, as a suitable candidate for Congress from this district. I have known Mr. Weling for many years; he is a Republican by principle, of decided opinions, industrious habits, and indefatigable energy, a good debater, and just the man to represent the capital of the old Keystone State at Washington. We could rely on him as a faithful and able representative, who would always be at his post to guard the interests of the district and Nation. In our township, his vote would be almost unanimous.

It will Cure you, save Long Suffering, Alleviate Pain and Inflammation, and will restore you to HEALTH AND PURITY.

From the Ninety-third Pennsylvania Regiment. Correspondence of the Telegraph. CAMP OF THE CHICKAHOMINI RIVER, VA., Fourteen Miles from the City of Richmond, May 23d, 1862.

FRIENDS EDITOR:—With your permission, and that of my army limits, I will try and give you a few inkings of our travels since we left our last little ground. I suppose that you have heard, as well as received the official report of the battle of Williamsburg, and of course commented upon it ere this, but allow me the privilege of giving you a few facts, that is not, as yet, given the full satisfaction as well as the credit due Pennsylvania's brave sons, that participated in that great battle.
