THREE DAYS LATER !! May 20, 1860.—This is the case of acute rheumatian treated with propylamine, the first of those to which 1 mailed your attention at our last clinic. She is still very consofrable, and is now taking three grains thrice daily. In this case it has seemed to be followed by very sat-isfactory reachs. The second case to which your atten-tion was called at our last lecture, has also continued to do welf I will now bring before you a vory obtarcter-istic case of acute rheumatism, and if the result be sat-factory, I think, as good jurymea, we shall justly render our verdicit in favor of propylamin He is a seaman, set. 96, who was admitted a few days ato the had consideration in the upper extremities. These foints are all swollen, tense and tender. His tongue is furred ; his skin, at present dry, though there has been much sweating. His pulse is full and strong, and about 90.— He has now used propylamines for twenty-four bours. This gentleman is what may be called a strictly typical case of acute rheumating pain, as it usually done, in the lower joints. There was exposure to cold and wet, and this exposure is followed by a faciling of oldness, severe articular pain, beginning, as it usually does, in the lower joints. There was exposure to cold with rheomatism, but to again give a trial to the itypical case, as I have called it, than which there co uit not be a fairer opportunity for there in the inten-tion of giving you a locture on all the points connected with rheomatism, but to again give a trial to the itypical case, as I have called it, than which there co uit hot be a fairer opportunity for testing the medicine in question.
