Medical ELIXIR PROPYLAMINE, THE NEW REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM. A NEW REMEDY, FOR ACUTE RHEUMATISM, CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, RHEUMATISM OF EVERY KIND, HOW STUBBORN, HOW LONG STANDING, PROPYLAMINE WILL CONQUER IT, IT WILL DO AGAIN.

THE BEST TESTIMONY, BEST MEDICAL AUTHORITY.

PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL. (FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS.)

MAY 19, 1860.—Elias S., 28, single, never was very strong. Two years ago he had an attack of acute rheumatism, from which he was confined to his bed for two weeks and subsequently from a relapse for four more. She has been well since then till last Saturday, while engaged in house cleaning, she took cold, had pain in her back, felt cold, but had no decided chill. Two days later her ankles began to swell, which was followed by swelling of the knee joints and of the hands. She has now dull pain in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is most so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumatism, or as it is now fashionably called, rheumatic fever. It is a well remarked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from time to time call your attention to the various symptoms which present themselves. My chief object in bringing her before you now, is to call attention to a remedy which has recently been recommended in the treatment of rheumatism. I need not refer to the Aescularius of St. Petersburg, recommends it in the highest terms, having derived great benefit from its use in 250 cases which came under his care. The following is a summary of the testimonials respecting it which have appeared in our journals, and I propose therefore to give it another trial. I must confess I am always incredulous as to the worth of new remedies, which are vaunted as specific, but this one we can give a decided opinion as to what it is to be the result.

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER!

MAY 23, 1860.—I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I prescribed Propylamine, and who is the laborer steadily taken in doses of three grains every two hours (intermitting it at night). The day after you saw her, I found her much more comfortable, better able to get up, and to be for a week or more, judging from her other attacks. (The patient now walked into the room.) The improvement has steadily progressed, and you cannot fail to notice a marked change in the appearance of her joints, which are now nearly all of their natural size.—Thus far our experiment would have seemed very successful; but, gentlemen, we must wait a little longer, but we can give a decided opinion as to what it is to be the result.

THREE DAYS LATER!!

MAY 26, 1860.—This is the case of acute rheumatism treated with propylamine, the first of those to which I called your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains three daily. In this case it has seemed to be followed by very satisfactory results. The second one to which your attention was called at our last lecture, has also continued to do well. I will now bring before you a very characteristic case of acute rheumatism, and if the result be satisfactory, I think, as good jurymen, we shall justly render our verdict in favor of propylamine.

THE RESULT.

A FAVORABLE VERDICT.

JUNE 9, 1860.—The next of our conversations is the case of acute rheumatism before you at our clinic of May 26th, which I then called a typical case, and which it was remarked was a fair opportunity for testing the worth of our new remedy. It was therefore steadily given in three grain doses every two hours for four days. The patient has done very nicely, and is now able to walk about, as you see. I do not hesitate to say that I have never seen so severe a case of acute rheumatism so soon restored to health as this man has been, and without being prepared to decide positive as to the value of the remedy, but I feel bound to state to you that in the cases in which we have tried the Chloride of Propylamine, the patients have regained their health much earlier than under the treatment ordinarily pursued. I wish gentlemen, you would yourselves try it, and report the result.

For a full report of which the above is a condensed extract, see the Philadelphia Medical and Surgical Reporter.

It is the report after a fair trial by the best medical authority in this country, and makes it unnecessary to give numerous citations from astonished doctors and rejoicing patients.

A SPEEDY CURE, WHENEVER TRIED, WHENEVER TRIED.

WHAT IT HAS DONE, IT WILL DO AGAIN.

Bullock & Greenhaw, a firm well known to most medical men, by whom the Elixir Propylamine has been introduced, have sold to us the exclusive right to manufacture it according to the original recipe, and we have made arrangements of such magnitude as to enable us to scatter it broadcast amongst suffering humanity.

A WORD TO DOCTORS.

If you prefer to use the same remedy in another form we invite your attention to the
