FIGURES AGAINST ASSERTIONS. It has become fashionable with a certain class of politicians of late to claim, first, that the north originated the causes of this war, and, second, that the men composing our armies were mainly the adherents of the Democratic party. These assertions are made now, when the brilliant results of the struggle are about to crown the government with glory. When rebellion was organised, and when our flag was of Harrisburg, and on the former expedition to Yorktown: Sisters Monica, Mount Carmel, Philomene, Mary, and Carmillus. Hospital steward — Wm. GEN. FREMONT'S HEADQUARTERS, Mount Jackson, June 6.

The further pursuit of Jackson has been impossible to-day, owing to the sudden rise of the Shenandoah river. A pontoon bridge, replacing the bridge burnt by the rebels, was completed, and part of Fremont's force crossed this morning. It rained hard all night and day, and the river began to rise very rapidly and swelled twelve feet in four hours, bringing down great quantities of drift wood and timber, which finally parted the bridge in the middle. The material was all saved, and no accidents occurred.

Four hundred prisoners have been taken.

From Front Royal.

Naw York, June 6. A special despatch dated Front Royal, June 6, says: Capt. Sanderson, chief commissary, has taken possession of all the flour mills in the valley, together with the grain and flour John W. McCune, private, Co. E, 105th on hand. Safeguards have been granted by the commanding general to all the families who request them, without respect to their loyalty or disloyalty; and any soldier who vio-lates them, will do so under the penalty of being immediately shot. The weather is still unsettled, and the roads almost impassable. Both branches of the Shenandoah are still raing.
