Forever float that standard sheet! Where breathes the foe but falls before us, With Freedom's soil beneath our feet, And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us.

HARRISBURG, PA.

Wednesday Morning, June 11, 1862.

Congress is a very important part of the government, and some of the shrewdest members of the Senate and House consider it to be exceedingly unwise for it to adjourn during the continuation of the present war, except for a short recess.

A GREAT NUMBER OF OFFICERS and soldiers are absent, upon pretence of being sick, from their regiments, idling away their time in northern towns and cities.

The above is a Washington telegraphic dispatch. No doubt there are many soldiers and officers among those now at home who are incapacitated by sickness, but a great many more are now able and ought to be with their regiments.

DR. X. BLAIR, former member of the Legislature from Huntingdon county, is spoken of as a candidate for Congress from the district of which that county forms a portion.

THE AMERICAN RAILWAY REVIEW is very anxious for a cheaper and more direct route from New York to Washington, than that which is afforded by the Camden and Amboy road, via Philadelphia and Wilmington to Baltimore and thence to the federal capital.

THE HOSPITALS heretofore in charge of Surg. Gen. Smith, and which were devoted exclusively to the care of sick and wounded Pennsylvanians, have been, by order of Gen. Curtin, turned over to the control and direction of the Surgeon General of the United States Army.

A DISLOYAL DEMAGOGUE is thus described by the sturdy senator from Ohio, Ben Wade, who says that the danger to our institutions is not so great from traitors in the field, with arms in their hands, as it is from the nimble-tongued, slippery hypocrites who go forth apologizing, and countering every energetic measure of the administration as tyrannical and wrong, and endeavoring to deceive the people and stir them up to hostility against this wise, this just, this most moderate administration.

THE BALTIMORE AND OHIO RAILROAD is now open from Baltimore direct to Wheeling, and the road is once more in good running order, but how long it will continue in that condition, remains for the government to decide.

COTTON BURNING SPITE. We have all heard of the Dutchman out west who had been swindled by the illegal issues of a wild cat bank, and who obtained his revenge by indignantly destroying the worthless notes that had been imposed upon him, before the eyes of the swindlers.

THE APOLOGISTS FOR DEATRONS, who are constantly inveighing against what they term the fanaticism of abolitionism, will find little consolation in the information brought to this country by Mr. Thurlow Weed, who has been in Europe for several months, acting in the capacity of an accredited agent of this government.

Thus it will be seen that while such men as Davis, Toombs, Slidell, Breckinridge and their followers, were concocting treason, and while Buchanan and his thieving cabinet were robbing forts and arsenals, the men sent abroad to watch the interests of the government, were actually engaged in plans for its overthrow and destruction.
