PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL. FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS.]

[FROM OFFICIAL REPORTS.]

MAY 19, 1860,—Elles S., st. 28, single, never was very strong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rheumatism, from which she was confined to her bed for two weeks and subsequenty from a relapse fer four more. She has been well since then till last Satur day, while engaged in house deaning, she took cold, had pain in her back, felt cold, hot had no decided chill. Two days later her ankles began so swell, which was followed by swelling of the knee joints and of the hands. She has now dull pain in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is most so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumatism, or askit is now fashionably called rheumatic fever. It is a well-remarked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from time to time call your attention to the various symptoms which her secently been recommended in the treatment of rheumatism. In sean propylamins. Dr. Awenarius, of St. Petersburg, recommends it in the highest torms, having derived great benefit from its use in 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and I propose therefore to give it another trial. I must confess I am always incredulous as to the worth of new remedies, which are vaunted as a specifics; but this comes to us recommended so highly, that we are bound to give it a trial.

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER! May 23, 1860.—I will now exhibit to you the patient for MAY 23, 1860.—I will now exhibit to you the patient for ing under an attack of soute rheumatism. She has steadily taken it in doses of three grains every two hours (intermitting it at hight.) The day after you saw her, I could her much more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a week or more, judging from her other attack. (The patient now walked into the room.) The improvement has steadily progressed, and you cannot fail to notice a marked change in the appearance of her joints, which are new nearly all of their natural size.—Thus far our experiment would have seemed vary successful; but, gentiemen, we must wait a little while before we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be the result.

Here is another patient who was placed on the use o

THREE DAYS LATER!!

THREE DAYS LATER !!

May 26, 1860.—This is the case of acute rheumatism treated with propylamine, the first of those to which i called your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains thrice daily. In this case it has seemed to be followed by very satisfactory resetts. The second case to which your attention was called at our last lecture, has also continued to do weir. I will now bring before you a very characteristic case of acute rheumatism, and if the result be satfactory, I think, as good jurymen, we small justly render our verdict in favor of propylamin.

He is a seaman, sat. 26, who was admitted a few days ago. Has had occasional rheumatic pams, but not so as to keep his bed, until eight days ago. The pains began in his right knoe, subsequently affected the left knee, and later, the points of the upper extremities. Those joints are all swollen, tense and tender. His tongue is furred; his skin, at present dry, though there has been much sweating. His pulse is full and strong, and about 90.—He has now used propylamine for twenty-four hours.

This genuloman is what may be called a strictly typical case of acute rheumatism. There was exposure to cold and wet, and this exposure is followed by a feeling of coldness, swere articular pain, beginning, as it usually dees, in the lower joints. There is forer and the profuse sweating, so generally attendant on acute rheumatism. I did not bring this patient of softer you with the intention of giving you a locture on all the point congected with rheumatism, but to again give a trial to the new remedy we are testing, and to exhibit to you the top the profuse and the profuse and the softing you a locture or all the point congected with rheumatism, but to again give a trial to the new remedy we are testing, and to exhibit to you the top the medicines, even and lynes, that there may be no misgiving as to which was the deficient remedy. You shall see the case of a future clinio.

THE RESULT.

A FAVORABLE VERDICT.

June 9, 1860.—The next of our convalescents is the case of acuter-beumatism before you at our clinic of May 26th, which I then called a typical case, and which it was remarked was a fair opportunity for testing the worth of our new remedy. It was therefore steadily given in three grain doses every two hours for four days. The patient has got along very nicely, and is now able to walk about, as you see. I do not hesitate to say that I have nevea seen as severe a case of scute rheumatism so soop restored to health as this man has been, and without being prepared to decide positive by as to the value of the remedy we have used, I feel bound to state that in the cases in which we have tried the Chierde o Propylamine, the patents have regained their health Propylamine, the padents have regained their health much earlier than under the treatment ordinarily pursued. I wish gentlemen, you would yourselves try it, and report the results.

For a full report of which the above is a condensed extract, see the Philadelphia Medical and Surgical Re norier. It is the report after a fair trial by the best med ical authority in this country, and makes it unnecessary to give numerous certificates from astonished docte
