PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL.

[From Official Hospital Reports.]

May 19, 1860,—Elies S., st. 28, single, never was very strong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rheumatism, from which she was confined to her bed for two weeks and subsequently from a relapse for four more. She has been well since then till last Satur day, while engaged in house cleaning, she took cold, had pain in her back, felt cold, hot had no dedded chill. Two days later her ankies began so swell, which was followed by swelling of the knee joints and of the hands. She has now dull pain in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is most so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumatism, or, as it is now fashlonably called, rheumatic fever. It is a well remarked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from time to time call your attention to the various symptoms which present themselves. My chief object in bringing her before you now, is to call attention to a remedy which has recently been recommended in the treatment of resumatism. I mean propylemete. Dr. Awenarius, of St. Fetersburg, recommends it in the highest terms, having derived great benefit from its use in 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and I propose therefore to give it another trial. I must confees I am always incredulous as to the worth of new remedies, which are vaunted as specifies; but this comes to us recommended so highly, that we are bound to give it a trial. [FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS.]

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER!

MAY 23, 1860.—I will now exhibit to you the patient for MAY 23, 1860.—I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I prescribed Propylamine, and was then laboring under an attack of acute rheumatum. She has steadily taken it in doses of three grains every two hours (intermitting it at night.) The day after you saw her, I found her much more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a week or more, judging from her other attack. (The patient now walked into the room.) The improvement has steadily progressed, and you cannot fall to notice a marked change in the appearance of her joints, which are new nearly all of their natural size.—Thur far our experiment would have seemed very successful; but, gentlemen, we must wait a little while before we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be the result.

the result.

Here is another patient who was placed on the use of Lis same medicine on Sunday last; she has long been suffering from a bronie rheamatism, and I found her at that time with an acute attack supervening upon her chronic affection. The wrists and knuckles were much swellen and tense. She took the chloride of Propylamine in three grain doses every two hours, and you will perceive that the swelling of the joints has much diminished.

THREE DAYS LATER!!

THREE DAYS LATER!!

May 26, 1860.—This is the case of acute rheumatism treated with propylamine, the first of those to which I called your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains thrice daily. In this case it has seemed to be followed by very callifactory restits. The second case to which your attention was called at our last lecture, has also continued to do well! I will now bring before you a very characteristic case of scute rheumatism, and if the result be satfactory, I think, as good jurymen, we shall justly render our verdict in favor of propylamin.

He is a seaman, sat. 28, who was admitted a few days ago. Has had ocassional rheumatic pains, but not so as to keep his bed, until eight days ago. The pains began in his right knee, subsequently affected the left knee, and later, the joints of the upper extremities. These joints are all swollen, tense and tander. His tongue is furred; his skin, at present dry, though there has been much sweating. His pulse is full and strong, and about 90.—He has now used propylamine for twenty-four hours. This gentleman is what may be called a strictly typical case of soute rheumatism. There was exposure to cold and wet, and this exposure is followed by a feeling of coldness, severe articular pain, beginning, as it usually does, in the lower joints. There is fever and the profuse sweating, so generally attendant on soute rheumatism. I did net bring this patient before your with the intention of giving you a lecture en all the points connected with rheumatism, but to again give a trial to the new remedy we are testing, and to exhibit to you this typical case, as I have called it, than which there on uld onto be a fairer opportunity for testing the medicine in question. We are, therefore, avoiding the use of all other medicines, even anodynes, that there may be no misgiving as to which was the efficient remedy. You shall see the case of a future clinic.

THE RESULT.

A FAVORABLE VERDICT.
