PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL. FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS.

MAY 19, 1860,—Ellen S., set. 28, single, never was very group. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rheuma-MAY 19, 1860,—Ellem S., set. 28, single, never was very strong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rheumatism, from which she was confined to her bed for two weeks and subsequenty from a relapse fer four more. She has been well since then till last Satur day, while engaged in house cleaning, she took cold, had pain in her back, felt cold, hot had so decided chill. Two days later her ankles began so swell, which was followed by swelling of the knee joints and of the hands. She has now dull pain in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is most so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumatism, or, as it is now fashionably called, rheumatic fever. It is a well remarked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from time to time call your attention to the various symptonis which present themselves. My chief object in bringing her before you now, is to call attention to a remedy which has recently been recommended in the treatment of rheumatism. Im an propylamine. Dr. Awenarius, of St. Petersburg, recommends it in the highest terms, having derived great cenefit from its use in 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and I propose therefore to give it another trial I must confess I am always moredulous as to the worth of new remedies, which are vanned as specifies; but this comes to us recommended so highly, that we are bound to give it a trial.

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER!

May 23, 1860.—I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I prescribed Propylamine, and was then laboring under an attack of acute rheumatism. She has meadily taken it in doses of three grains every two hours (insermitting it at night.) The day after you saw her, I found her much more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a wesk or more, judging from her other attack. (The patient now walked into the room.) The improvement has steadily progressed, and you cannot fail to notice a marked change in the appearance of her joints, which are new nearly all of their natural size.—Thur far our experiment would have seemed very successful; but, gentlemen, we must wait a little while before we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be the result.

sunering from a nonin reumanism, and it outsides her as that time with an acute attack supervening upon ber chronic affection. The wrists and knuckles were much swollen and tesse. She took the chloride of Propyla-mine in three grain doses every two bours, and you will perceive that the sweiting of the joints has much dimin-taked.

THREE DAYS LATER!!

THREE DAYS LATER!!

MAY 26, 1860.—This is the case of acute rheumatism treated with propylamine, the first of those to which I called your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains thrice daily. In this case is has seemed to be followed by very estisfactory rests. The second case to which your attention was called at our last lecture, has also continued to do welr! I will now bring before you a very characteristic case of acute rheumatism, and if the result be satfactory, I think, as good jurymen, we snall justly render our verdict in favor of propylamin

He is a seaman, set. 26, who was admitted a few days ago. Has has coasional rheumatic pains, but not so as to keep his bed, until eight days ago. The pains began in his right knee, subsequently affected the left knee, and later, the joints of the upper extremities. These joints are all swollen, tense and tender. His tongue is furred his skin, at present dry, though there has been much sweating. His pulse is full and strong, and about 90.—He has now used propylamine for twenty-four hours.

This genuleman is what may be called a strictly typical case of acute rheumatism. There was exposure to cold and wet, and this exposure is followed by a feeling of coldness, severe articular pain, beginning, as it usually does, in the lower joints. There is fever and the profuse swesting, so generally attendant on acute rheumatism.

I did not bring this patient before you with the intention of giving you a lecture en all the points connected with rheumatism, but to again give a trial to the new remedy we are testing, and to exhibit to you this typical case, as I have called it, than which there co uld not be a fairer opportunity for testing the medicine in question. We are, therefore, avoiding the use of all other medicines, even anodynes, that ther may be no misgivings as to which was the efficient remedy. You shall see the case of a future clinic.

THE RESULT.

A FAVORABLE VERDIOT.

Junu9, 1860.—The next of our convalescents is the June 9, 1860.—The next of our convalencement is the case of acute rheumatism before you at our clinic of May 26th, which I then called a typical case, and which it was remarked was a fair opportunity for testing the worth of our new remedy. It was therefore steadily given in three grain doses every two hours for four days. The patient has got along very nicely, and is now able to: alk about, as you see. I do not hesitate to say that I have nevos seen as severe a case of acute rheumatism so soon restored to health as this man has been, and without being prepared to decide positive by as to the value of the remedy we have used, I feel bound to state that in the cases in which we have tried the Chloride of Propylamino, the patients have recaused their health Propylamino, the patients have regained their health much earlier than under the treatment ordinarily pursued. I wish gentlemen, you would yourselves try it, and report the results.

For a full report of which the above is a condensed extract, see the Philadelphia Medical and Surgical Reporter. It is the report after a fair trial by the best med ical authority in this country, and makes it unnecessary and rejoicing patients.
