PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL. FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS.

[FROM CYPICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS.]

MAY 19, 1860,—Riles R., sal. 28, single, never was very strong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rheumatum, from which she was corffined to her bed for two weeks and subsequenty from a relapse fer four more. She has been well ance then till last Satur day, while engaged in bouse cleaning, she took cold, had pain in her back, felt cold, bot had ao dediced chill. Two days later her ankles began so swell, which was followed by swelling of the kness joints and of the hands. She has now dult pain in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right worst so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumatism, org. It is now fashionably called, rheumatic fever. It is a 'ill remarked typical case. We will carefully watch they, and from time to time call your attention to the variety mytoms which present themselves. My chief object ringing her before you now, is to call attention to a dy which has recently been recommended in the timent of rheumatism. Im nan propylanisms. Dr. enarius, of St. Petersburg, recommended in the best terins, having derived great benefit from its use 150 cases which came under his care. Various commitatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in r journals, and I propose therefore to give it another al. I must confless I am always uncredulous as to the rith of new remedies, which are vaunted as specifies; it this comes to us recommended so highly, that we bound to give it a trial.

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER! SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER!

MAY 23, 1860.—I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I prescribed Propylamine, and was then laboring under an attack of acute rheumatism. She has attendily taken it in doses of three grains every two hours (intermitting it at night.) The day after you saw her, I found her much more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a week or more) judging from her other attack. (The patient now walked into the room.) The improvement has steadily progressed, and you cannot fall to notice a marked change in the appearance of her joints, which are new nearly all of their natural size.—Thug far our experiment would have seemed very successful; but, gentlemen, we must wait a little white before we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be the result.

the result.

Here is another patient who was placed on the use of alseams medicine on Sunday last; she has long been suffering from a hronic rhoumatism, and I found her at that time with an acute attack supervening apon her chronic affection. The wrists and knuckles were much awollen and touge. She took the chloride of Propylamine in three grain does every two hours, and you will perceive that the swelling of the joints has much dimintahed.

THREE DAYS LATER!!

THREE DAYS LATER!!

May 28, 1860.—This is the case of acute rheumatism treated with propylamine, the first of those to which I called your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains thrice daily. In this case it has seemed to be followed by very satisfactory results. The second case to which your attention was called at our last lecture, has also continued to do weir I will now bring before you a very characteristic case of acute rheumatism, and if the result be satfactory, I think, as good jurymen, we shall justly render our verdict in favor of propylamin

He is a samma; sat, 26, who was admitted a few days ago. Hat ad ocasional rheumstic pains; but not so as to keep his bed, until eight days ago. The pains began in his right knee, subsequently affected the left knee, and later, the joints of the upper extremities. These joints are all swellen, tenso and tender. His tongue is furred his skin, as present dry, though there has been much sweating. Her jurns is foll and strong, and about 90.—He has now used propylamine for twenty-four hours. This gentleman is what may be called a strictly typical case of acute rheumatism. There was exposure to cold and wet, and this exposure is followed by a feeling of coldness, severe articular pain, beginning, as it usually does, in the lower joints. There is lever and the profuse sweating, so generally attendant on acute rheumatism. I did not bring this patient before you with the intention of giving you a lecture en all the points connected with rheumatism, but to again give a trial to the new remedy we are testing, and to exhibit to you this typical case, as I have called it, than which there ou uld not be a fairer opportunity for tosting the medicine in question. We are, therefore, avoiding the use of all other medicines, even anodynes, that there may be no miggiving as to wilch was the efficient remedy. You shall see the case of a future clinic. shall see the case of a future clinic.

THE RESULT.

A FAVORABLE VERDICT.

JUNES, 1860.—The next of our convalencents is the case of acute rheumatism before you at our clinic of May 26th, which I then called a typical case, and which it was remarked was a fair opportunity for testing the worth of our new remedy. It was therefore steadily given in three grain doese every two hours for four days. The patient has got along very nicely, and is now able to eals about, as you see. I do not hesitate to say that I have never seed as severe a case of acute rheumatism so soon restored to health as this man has been, and without being prepared to decide positive by as to the value of the remody we have used, feel bound to state that in the cases in which we have tried the Chloride o Propylamine, the patients in two regained their health much carlier than under the treatment ordinarily pursued. I wish gentlemen, you would yourselves try it, and report the results.

For a full report of which the above is a condense extract, see the Philadelphia Medical and Surgical Reporter. It is the report after a fair trial by the best med ical authority in this country, and makes it unnecessary to give numerous certificates from assonished doctors
