PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL.

[FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS.]

MAY 19, 1860,—Ellen S., æt. 28, single, never was very strong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rheumatism, from which she was confined to her bed for two weeks and subsequenty from a relapse for four more. She has been well since then till last fatur day, while engaged in house cleaning, she took cold, had pain in her back, felt cold, hot had no decided chill. Two days later her ankies began so swell, which was followed by swelling of the knee joints and of the hands. She has now dull pain in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is most so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumatism, or, as it is now fashionably called, rheumatic fever. It is a well remarked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from time to time call your attention to the various symptoms which present themselves. My chief object in bringing her before you now, is to call attention to a remedy which has recently been recommended in the freatment of rheumatism. I mean propylamine. Dr. Awenarius, of St. Peteraburg, recommends it in the highest terms, having derived great benefit from its use in 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our ingrubs. and I propose therefore to give it another [FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS.] mendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and I propose therefore to give it another trial. I must confess I am always incredulous as to the worth of new remedies, which are vaunted as specifies; but this comes to us recommended so highly, that we are bound to give it a trial.

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER!

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER!

May 23, 1860,—I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I prescribed Propylamine, and was a then laboring under an attack of acute rheumatum. She has ateadily taken it in doses of three grains every two hours (intermitting it at night.) The day after you saw her, I lound her much more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a week or more, judging from her other attack. (The patient now walked into the room.) The improvement has steadily progressed, and you cannot fail to notice a warked change in the appearance of her joints, which are new nearly all of their natural size,—Thue far our experiment would have seemed very successful; but, gentlemen, we must wait a little while before we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be the result.

Here is another patient who was placed on the use-of __le same medicine on Sunday last; she has long been suffering from c bronic rheumatism, and I found her at that time with an acute attack supervening upon her chronic affection. The wrists and knuckles were much swollen and tense. She took the chloride of Propylamine in three grain doses every two hours, and you will perceive that the swelling of the joints has much diminabled.

THREE DAYS LATER!!

THREE DAYS LATER!!

May 26, 1860.—This is the case of acute rheumatism treated with propylamine, the first of those to which I called your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is now tking three grains thrice daily. In this case it has seemed to be followed by very satisfactory resaits. The second c.se to which your attention was called at our inst tecture, has also continued to do well. I will now bring before you a very characteristic case of acute rheumatism, and if the result be satisatory, I think, as good jurymen, we shall justly reuder our verdict in favor of propylamin. He is a semman, sat. 28, who was admitted a few days ago. Has had occasional rheumatic pains, but not so us to keep his bed, until cight days ago. The pains began in his right knee, subsequently affected the left knee, and later, the joints of the upper extremities. These joints are all swollen, tense and tender. His tongue is furred; his skin, at present dry, though there has been much assenting. His pulse in time of heave the control when the order of the control of the proper of the control of the proper of the pains of the same time. His pulse is formed and heave to are all swollen, tense and tender. His tongue is furred; his skin, at present dry, though there has been much sweating. His pulse is full and strong, and about 90.—He has now used propylamine for twenty-four hours.

This gentlema is what may be called a strictly typical case of acute rheumatism. There was exposure to cold and wet, and this exposure is followed by a feeling of coldness, severe articular pain, beginning, as it usually does, in the lower joints. There is fever and the profuse sweating, so generally attiendant on acute rheumatism.

I did not bring this patient before you with the intention of giving you a lecture on all the points connected with rheumatism, but to axing give a trial to the new remedy we are testing, and to exhibit to you this typical case, as I have called it, than which there could not be a fairer opportunity for testing the medicine in question. We are, therefore, avoiding the use of all other medicines, even anolynes, that there may be no misgivings as to which was the efficient remedy. You shall see the case of a future clinic.

THE RESULT. A FAVORABLE VERDICT.

JUNE 9, 1860.—The next of our convalescents is case of acuter houmatism before you at our clinic of May 38th, which I then called a typical case, and which it was remarked was a fair opportunity for testing the worth of our new remedy. It was therefore steadily given in three grain doses every two hours for four days. The patient has got along very nicely, and is now able to given in three grain doese every two hours for four days. The patient has got along very dicely, and is now able to walk about, as you see. I do not hesitate to say that I have neve seen as severe a case of noute rheumatism so soon restored to health as this man has been, and without being prepared to decide positive by as to the value of the refuedy we have used, I feel bound to state that in the cases in which we have tried the Chloride of Propylamine, the pations have regained their health much carlier than under the treatment ordinarily pursued. I wish gentlemen, you would yourselves try it, and report the results.

for a full report of which the above is a con extract, see the Philadelphia Melical and Surgical Reporter. It is the report after a fair trial by the best medical authority in this country, and makes it unnecessary to give numerous certificates from astonished doctor and rejoicing patients.
