OFFICIAL REPORT.

HEADQUARTERS 1st RIFLES, P. R. V. C., BATTLEFIELD ON GAINE'S HILL, 12 M. June 27. Brig. Gen. John F. REYNOLDS, Com. 1st. Brig.

GENERAL :- I have the honor to report that yesterday, at 1 o'clock P. M., while my Regi' ment (six companies) was doing picket duty on the extreme right of our lines, two companies occupying the railroad and Meadow Bridges over the Chickahomony, one company on the lett of the bridge, and the remaining three in reserve, I was ordered to take my reserve com-panies to the assistance of the cavalry, who were falling back before a force of the enemy, already advanced to Atley's Station. I moved rapidly forward, posted Captain Wistard's com-pany at the Junction of the three roads leading to Meadow Bridge, Grenshaw's Bridge and Atley's Station; deployed Captain Irvin's company across Grenshaw's road, three hundred yards in advance, and moved Captain Jeuett's company forward toward Atley's to act as skirmishers for the cavalry, beyond the road leading off to Shady Grove Church. A cayalry picket in front of Captain Irvin's company covered Grenshaw's Bridge. At this time the cavalry officers estimated the enemy's force in the direction of Atley's at one battalion of in-tantry, and a squadron of cavalry. Captain Jeuette had scarcely deployed, when the ene-my's infantry appeared in his front in heavy force. He opened fire at short range, and with great effect. The enemy hatted in confusion;

when tuey had re-formed he gave them a sec-ond yolley. At this moment I heard that my companies guarding the Meadow and Railroad Bridges had been withdrawn, by order of Col Simmons, commanding the grand guard, and the enemy had immediately crossed. I immedutely sounded the recall, and directing Cap tain Jeuett to move rapidly to the rear, I rode back to the Junction, where I found Captain Wister already engaged with the enemy's troops, approaching from Meadow Bridge. His determined front, and steady fire checked their dvance, but they were gathering heavier force o the front, and soon forced him to retire. His route to Mechanicsville was already inter upted and he fell back to the North, contesting every inch of the ground. I went back to meet Captain Jenett's command, turned him off to the left and with a small rear guard of cavalry, made a wide detour to the North, with the desperate hope of outling our way to Gaug.

Captain Irvin had been advised by the same messenger who brought me news of the enemy's flank movements, to retire to a safer position, but declined to do so without orders. When I sent him orders it was already to late, and he was entirely surrounded. I heard some firing in his direction, but have not been able to learn whether any of his men were killed or wounded-none of them returned to Camp. with the companies I succeeded, after a long, fatiguing march through woods and dead, of which there are many from yellow swamps, part of the way under fire, in making my way to the ford in the swamp above my own camp. The three companies which had been recalled from picket had already come to the secont were taken and destroyed. Twen-

Our French Generals have been published in the doubt the enemy's loss was much greater than ours, as our fire was mainly directed upon their masses. My men came in very much exhaustmasses. My men came in very much exhausted, but when the enemy appeared in our front we occupied our rifle pits and opened a very steady fire upon them. The engagement commenced at half-past four, P. For four hours the enemy made the most desperate effort to force their passage.

Regiment after regiment were thrown forward for that purpose; but as often they metted away. The two sections of Caotain Cooper's battery (B) P. R. They drew the fire of the my's batteries but the earthworks and rifle pits gave great protection to the gunners and riflemen. The causalties of the day were comparatively slight. Of my command two men were killed, two officers and sixteen men wounded. The enemy's losses on our front must have been immense. Together with the 5th regiment on our left and the 1st and 2nd on our right; we had detested and repuised four or five brigades of the enemy. But for the unfinching gallant ranged for a general exchange of proof those regiments, our position gould not have been held, for the enemy could have struggled across above and below both fords and The financial measures reported from Com-turned both our flanks. As to my own regiment, you were kind enough to express your own satisfaction with its conduct, and I can add nothing to such commendation. At night tall the enemy withdraw, Col. McQuade, of the lath New York, reported to me near the close of the action with orders to relieve my men in the rifle-pits, but I declined to be relieved except as to picket duty. My men slept in the pits at night without covering, having lost all their baggage at the advanced picket station.

At caybreak, on the morning of the 27th I was informed that the army would retire at once to the new line on Gaines' Hill and directed to hold with my Regiment and Battery the position I then held, until that movement could be affected. I extended the sharp-however, as their ammunition and my own lasted, we were enabled to hold the enemy in check. A little after 6 o'clock, A. M., we were ordered to retire as best we might, to the main body three miles distant.

After leaving our entrenchments we were After leaving our entrenchments we were still obliged to go more than a half a mile before escaping the range of the same batteries which annoyed us all the morning. The movement was necessarily hurried—the enemy having outflanked us and pressing closely upon our rear. Tposted Captain Holland with his company about three hundred yards from the ford, directing him to obstruct the road and cover the retreat of our main body, and ordered Captain Wister to destroy the bridge at the Mill Hospital. These were difficult and hazardous duties, but were performed with the coolness of veterans, and probably saved us from entire destruction. Our loss in this morn ing's fight and retreat was more than half what remained from the previous days work. We could not bring off our dead or wounded, and every man who gave out in the double-quick was necessarily left to be captured. My men were terribly exhausted—several having fainted in the heat of the sun while forming this line of battle. I have here six officers and one hundred and twenty five men. Owing to our exposed positions, our loss in prisoners will be largely out of proportion to the killed
