THE ABMIES BELOW RICHMOND.

The utmost quiet continues on the lines in the vicinity of Richmond, and there is no prob-ability that the first anniversary of the battle of Manassas will be celebrated by another at tempt of the Great Army to capture the "rebel Capital." The exchange of prisoners is progressing as rapidly as circumstances will allow: a large number of the Yankee sick and wounded having been sent to City Point on Saturday, and others will be sent off by different routes. A numerous fleet of Federal war vessels, gunboats and transports lays between Berkeley and Westover, and McClellan has probably been already reinforced by a large portion of Burnside's command: A soldier arrived in Richmond on Saturday evening with a finger shot off, and reported that he had been wounded by a Varilear richest stationed across the ed by a Yankes picket stationed across the Pamunkey river, while he was near the White House, on this side.

According to his account, the enemy's pickels extend through the lower end of King Wil-liam county to the river, but we have good man who reached here two days ago from West Point reports everything quiet in that neighborhood. There are few if any, Federal soldiers about there, and but one gunboat has been seen since the great battles, when the whole fleet put down the York in great haste and confusion.

The sailing vessels, schooners, &c., which have been laying up the James river for some time near James Island have, within a few days, dropped down the river and anchored in the Roads just above Fortress Monroe.

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMER ADELAIDE and confusion.

Matters have been perfectly quiet in King and Queen since the affair at Walkertown, and the inhabitants generally believe that, the Yankees are so busily employed in their pre-parations elsewhere that they have not lelsure to pay their respects to their late enter-tainers.

Tht First Regiment Virginia Volunteers has, it is stated, been disbanded. It has been one of the bravest and most useful in the army.
When disbanded it had hardly over fifty men, the remnant of four battles:

Guarding of Rebel Property Prohibited

The Soldiers to Battle Against the Rebels, not to Protect their Property,

> GENERAL ORDERS NO. 18. HEAD QUARTERS, ARMY OF VIRGINIA,

Washington, July 25. Hereafter no guards will be placed over private houses or private property whatever.— Commanding officers are re-possible for the conduct of the troops under their command, and the articles of war and regulations of the army provide ample means for restraining them to the full extent required for discipline and efficiency. Soldiers were called into the field to do battle against the enemy, and it is not expected that their force and energy shall be wasted in protecting private property of those most hostile to the Government. serving in this army shall be hereafter employ-
